U.S. FLYERS RIP TOKYO, KOBE AIR FIELDS AT WILL

Hiding Enemy Fails to Put Up Fight

GUAM, July 11 [Wednesday]—(AP)—The Japanese air force refused to put up anything resembling a real fight over Tokyo Tuesday as more than 1,000 carrier planes of the massive United States 3d fleet destroyed or damaged 152 enemy planes on the ground and shot down two snoopers near the fleet, fragmentary reports disclosed today.

Adm. Nimitz announced that the fleet planes won complete mastery of the skies over Tokyo. By noon Tuesday, seven hours after the attacks opened, he said, there had been no determined enemy resistance in the air.

Whether Adm. Halsey's world's largest task force remained in the area today for another strike at Tokyo's 70 to 80 air fields was not made clear. Preliminary accounts of the results of the carrier attacks indicated that the enemy air force was in hiding, driven there by a week of raids by Iwo based army Mustangs. Scores of Mustangs yesterday destroyed or damaged 19 enemy planes at Honshu's port city of Kobe while the carrier Hellcats, Helldivers, and Avengers roamed the Kanto plains around Tokyo. Only one of the 19 was bagged in the air.

Opposition Is Weak

The opposition to Vice Adm. John S. McCain's carrier raiders was so weak during the first hours that undoubtedly they returned in repeated strikes to search for camouflaged aircraft and hiding places. What they found remains to be told.

Even with the 19 Mustang victims added, for a total Tuesday preliminary bag of 173 aircraft, the biggest question was: Where is the Japanese air force?

A naval spokesman in Washington, D. C., described the fleet hitting Japan as the "greatest mobile striking force" of history and said the attack followed the usual pattern of softening up the Japanese as a prelude to further blows.

A Tokyo radio commentator observed that such a previous carrier strike last February was followed by the invasion of Iwo Island.

While the carrier planes looked around for Tokyo's defenders after destroying 72 and damaging 80 grounded planes, the Mustangs over Kobe had to turn to enemy shipping in the inland sea to keep occupied. They sank three vessels and damaged 22.

Blast 41 Ships

Attacks by other allied aircraft ranging from the far Southwest Pacific to Japan brought the total of enemy ships sunk or damaged to 41. Fleet aircraft sank three and damaged three; Southwest Pacific airmen destroyed four and damaged six.

Preceding Tuesday's overwhelming carrier assault, Adm. Nimitz reported, Liberators and army Thunderbolts from Okinawa struck Omura air field on Kyushu Monday and returned to Kikai Island, in the northern Ryukyus, Tuesday. Search planes sank three small enemy vessels and damaged three others in far-ranging attacks off southern Korea Monday, and fleet Liberators

Grew Brushes Off Japanese Peace Feelers

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Japan's vague peace feelers were brushed aside today by Acting State Secretary Grew with a sharp reminder that the United States is interested only in the enemy's unconditional surrender.

Grew told of four specific indirect approaches on behalf of the Japanese but said that the United States government never has received a real peace offer from the Japanese government, official or unofficial.

The Japanese, Grew said in a statement, are using peace feelers as the Germans did, to stir up trouble in the allied countries and particularly to try to arouse debate on the terms to be applied to Japan.

Grew spoke strongly on the subject. Instead of releasing his statement thru the regular state department press officer he himself visited the newsroom where a score of reporters were gathered. He said there had been a lot of rumors about alleged peace offers from the Japanese and he wanted to clear the air.

Tells of 4 Feelers

The four "alleged peace feelers" which Grew related were these:

1. Persons described in reports to the state department as "leading Japanese industrialists" were represented as wanting to know the best possible conditions of a compromise peace.

2. A neutral diplomat in Tokyo said he had been told by a private Japanese citizen that Japan could not accept unconditional surrender because it would mean loss of face.

3. A Japanese diplomat in a neutral country intimated to an American citizen thru a German newspaper man that the United States, because of its "real" interests in the far east, should abandon unconditional surrender for a negotiated peace.

4. A person [unidentified] approached an American diplomatic mission in a neutral country with the claim that he was authorized [it was not stated by whom] to enlist a neutral government in persuading the allies to drop unconditional surrender and propose peace terms.

Hope to Divide Allies

"It should be borne in mind in this connection," Grew said, "that the Japanese, like the Germans before them, rely principally upon the hope that they may be able to divide the allies and to produce division of opinion within the allied countries.

"To that end it would be to their interest, as they see their interest, to initiate a public discussion of the terms to be applied to Japan. This they have already attempted to do on several occasions thru radio Tokyo."

Grew said the Japanese would be especially anxious to use peace feelers now that "their military position is deteriorating and the condition of their civilian population becomes more critical."

Report Berlin Bankers Arrested by Russians

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—Walter Nadolny, director of the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft [Berlin trading company], today said that all directors of Berlin's major banks had been under Russian arrest for the last nine weeks. Nadolny said he alone had been released after five days arrest because he could speak Russian and because his brother, Rudolf, had been well liked in Russia as the German ambassador.

PERMANENT GUEST?

Hold Woman as Kidnaped Baby Is Found

Marion, O., July 10 [Special].—Baby Jean Eileen Creviston, stolen from her City hospital crib Sunday night, was returned unharmed to her mother by police today following the arrest of a 20 year old married woman and her confession she took the child in a plan to simulate motherhood.

The woman arrested is Mrs. Phyllis Lanman, who has been married for a year and who is childless. She told police she prematurely lost her baby three months ago but concealed this fact from her husband, Estel Eugene Lanman, district superintendent for a candy vending machine company. When she reached her home Sunday night with the Creviston baby she called a doctor and told him the child was hers and that she had given birth to it unattended.

Mrs. Lanman was in custody several hours before she made her confession. During this period she insisted the baby was hers. Identity of the baby was established by a comparison of footprint records.

Long Term Possible

Police Chief William E. Marks said a charge of carrying away a child under 12 years old has been placed against Mrs. Lanman and that she faces a penalty of imprisonment from one to 20 years.

The Creviston baby was born at City hospital a week ago and is the daughter of Tech. Sgt. and Mrs. John L. Creviston. The father is an aerial gunner now stationed at Lockbourne army air base, near Columbus, and the mother, 24, is the daughter of Roscoe D. Meager, former safety director of Marion.

Mrs. Creviston, who left the hospital yesterday and is at her father's home, exclaimed, "O, my baby," when the child was restored to her.

Mrs. Lanman said she visited the hospital Sunday night with the intention of looking at the babies in the nursery and familiarizing herself with the hospital. She had planned to steal a baby eventually, she said, but not that night.

Flees Unnoticed

She reached the nursery on the second floor, she said, and discovered it unattended. She snatched one of the babies and carried it down a stairway and out a side door without being observed. She took a taxi and rode to within three blocks of her home.

She stopped at a neighbor's and asked permission to change the baby's diaper. She left the diaper behind and this was identified yesterday as City hospital property. The doctor she summoned was suspicious of her story that the baby was hers and called police.

BUM STEER ON HORSE BLAMED IN SLAYING OF 2 RACE TIPSTERS

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 [Special]—A horse that didn't come in was blamed by police today for the fatal shooting of two race tipsters in downtown Los Angeles yesterday, followed by the suicide of their slayer, Joe Newman, 70, described as an "incurable" race horse bettor.

Those killed were Dave Caplan, 44, known as "Longshot Dave Brennan," publisher of a turf publication, and Roy Walker, 67, who lived at a Pasadena hotel. Walked died instantly and Caplan died today at Glendale sanitarium, 12 hours after the shooting.

A note on Newman's body said, "I have good reason for doing this to dirty rats. The money they beat me out of will never do them any good." Newman sent $5 to the chief of police with a note asking that a friend be notified of his death.

Reconstructing the tragedy, police said their only theory was that Newman had sought revenge for bad tips on horses. A daughter of Newman told police he had lost at least $20,000 betting on horses on which he thought he had sure fire tips. His wife left him, he said, when he dropped $10,000 on one race.

RAILROADS CUT SLEEPING CARS BY ODT ORDER

Two of the major railroads operating out of Chicago yesterday announced the discontinuance of sleeping car service within a radius of 450 miles of Chicago, effective next Sunday noon, by order of the office of defense transportation. The purpose is to provide more sleeping car space for redeployed forces.

The Pennsylvania railroad sleeping car service will be halted between Chicago and Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Springfield, and Dayton, all in Ohio, and Indianapolis, Ind.; Louisville, Ky., and Detroit, Mich.

The New York Central railroad will discontinue sleeping car service between Chicago and Detroit and other Michigan points, including Bay City, Saginaw, and Grand Rapids; Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, and Cincinnati, all in Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind., and Harrisburg and other southern Illinois points.

This Thief's Conscience Has a Big Load to Carry

Theft of a concrete mixer weighing 3,500 pounds and valued at more than $1,300, from in front of 308 N. Halsted st., was reported to police yesterday by the owner, Anthony Ilice, of 2216 N. Laramie av., a contractor.

Cloud Hovers Over Nubbins on Happy Day

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 10 (AP)—Forrest [Nubbins] Hoffman, the little lad whose fight for life touched the hearts of the nation last fall, spent the eve of his fourth birthday tonight trying to promote a cake for tomorrow's celebration.

Mother, Mrs. Marshall Hoffman, says there will be no cake because "Nubbins" shouldn't eat pastry, but the boy was enjoying the wishful thinking, anyway.

"If I get a cake," he advised, "I'm going to eat it all myself."

When it appeared that "Nubbins" would not live to enjoy last Christmas, thousands of wellwishers over the country showered him with early presents and the delightful day was moved up to Nov. 19.

Operation Saves Him

But an operation for a bladder ailment saved him and today "Nubbins," not strong but happy and high-spirited, was looking forward to his birthday with even more pleasure than the wonderful Christmas party his friends gave him last year.

Mrs. Hoffman prepared a message of thanks today for all those who had taken an interest in the lad.

"I have answered personally more than 2,000 of your 50,000 letters asking about 'Nubbins,'" she wrote. "I sincerely hope this will make up for most that I haven't answered.

"'Nubbins' isn't strong like other children. When they play, he sits and watches them and laughs with them, because he tires quickly. But nothing in the neighborhood ever happens without him knowing about it and telling me. He's my little walking newspaper.

Impossible Gifts

"What 'Nubbins' wants and always has wanted even when he was sick in the hospital in Denver, we still can't give him on his birthday or any other time.

"'Nubbins' has always asked us for a brother to fight with and a little sister to love.

"His left kidney—his only one—hasn't improved much. By the first of September we'll know how long he'll be with us. We're enjoying every moment now.

"Thank you for your thoughts of us. And 'Nubbins' thanks you for the many birthday cards he is receiving."

U.S.S. AUGUSTA SPEEDS TRUMAN TO BIG 3 TALKS

Last Lap to Berlin Will Be by Air

ABOARD CRUISER AUGUSTA IN MID-ATLANTIC WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, July 10 (AP)—President Truman sped thru placid mid-Atlantic waters today en route to Potsdam for a "Big Three" meeting he hopes may speed victory over Japan as well as chart the course for permanent European peace.

The battle tested Augusta is carrying the President to the sessions with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin—talks which may help shape the course of history for generations.

2 Cruisers in Force

The Augusta is part of a two cruiser task force under the command of Rear Adm. Allan R. McCann. Capt. James H. Foskett commands the Augusta. The second warship, the light cruiser Philadelphia, is commanded by Capt. Robert L. Boller.

[The Augusta, a heavy cruiser, was the scene of the historic meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in the Atlantic in August, 1941, at which they drew up the series of memoranda known as the Atlantic Charter.]

Aides in Party

The Presidential party, which includes Secretary of State Byrnes and Fleet Admiral Leahy, the President's chief of staff, will fly from the port of debarkation to the Berlin area. Mr. Truman will use the big C-54 luxury liner in which he traveled to the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

The party also numbers Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan and Capt. James K. Vardaman, the President's military and naval aides; Press Secy. Charles G. Ross; H. Freeman Matthews, director of the state department's office of European affairs; Charles E. Bohlen, the department's Russian expert; Benjamin V. Cohen of Byrnes' staff, and Capt. Alphonse McMahon, a naval surgeon assigned to attend the health of the party.

In Germany, Mr. Truman will be joined by Joseph E. Davies, special Presidential emissary, and officials of the war, navy, and state departments.

It was understood that the conferences also would be attended by Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, and Adm. King, chief of naval operations, and possibly Gen. Arnold, chief of the army air forces.

Groundwork for Treaty

Primarily, the Big Three meeting will concern the laying of the groundwork for the peace treaty with Germany, including settlement of boundary, reparations, occupational, rehabilitation, and other questions.

All plans for the conference are

BIDDLES ARE UPSET WHEN ABE BITLE TAKES THEIR NAME

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10 [Special]—Despite the objections of some of the Biddles, Abraham Bitle, a Russian born bartender, and his wife, Celie, today became, with the approval of Common Pleas Court Judge Eugene Alessandroni, Abraham and Celie Biddle.

In applying for permission to change their name, the Bitles said they were constantly embarrassed because Bitle was so frequently misspelled and mispronounced. Among those who opposed the petition was Maj. Charles J. Biddle, attorney and World War I. aviator, who charged the Bitles probably wanted to adopt a new name "which they feel may bring to them some social standing."

Marvin Brenner, counsel for the Bitles, countered both of Maj. Biddle's arguments by pointing out that in the local city directory there are 175 Biddles, including bankers, brokers, lawyers, chauffeurs, laborers, and junk dealers.

Reds Decide to Let Yanks Use Danube

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 10—An agreement regarding future joint control of Austria has been reached by the United States, Britain, Russia, and France, it was revealed in diplomatic circles here tonight.

An allied commission for Austria, consisting of representatives of the four powers, probably will be set up in Vienna next month, it was stated.

The agreement was achieved, diplomatic observers disclosed, after the Russians acceded to two requests from the western allies. First, the Russians are said to have granted permission to the Americans to use the Danube, which flows thru the Russian zone, for the transport of supplies to Vienna.

Second, the soviets agreed that each power should have the exclusive use of one air field in the vicinity of Vienna. Previously the Russians planned to retain control of the air fields which are situated on the outskirts of the Austrian capital.

Free Elections

The four powers also reached an agreement in principle on the policy to be followed by the allied commission in Vienna, British diplomatic observers reported.

This policy, it is said, is:

1. To set up an administration for the joint government of Austria by the four powers.

2. To establish Austria officially as independent from Germany, which would involve formal recognition by the four powers.

3. To arrange for free elections as soon as possible.

So far the western powers have refused to recognize Dr. Karl Renner's government, set up by the Russians, but hopes were expressed that a provisional government may be established that will be acceptable to all the occupying powers.

Set Up Not Decided

Whether this will involve the broadening of Renner's administration and possibly dropping Renner himself or making a clean sweep to set up a completely new government is not yet decided.

Meanwhile, it was reported here that John G. Erhardt, former consul general in London, will be political adviser to Gen. Clark, American military representative on the allied commission for Austria.

Erhardt was political adviser to Clark on Austrian affairs when the latter commanded the United States forces in the Mediterranean.

NIAGARA RAPIDS RIDE IN BARREL FINANCIAL FLOP

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 10 [Special]—The seven mile barrel ride that William [Red] Hill, 32, took Sunday thru the Niagara rapids and whirlpool was a financial flop, Hill admitted today.

Totaling the receipts of a collection taken by his assistants from the crowd, estimated at 150,000 persons, which watched the progress of his barrel, Hill said the "take" amounted to $301.04.

Hill said he still hoped to raise enough money for some kind of memorial to his father, the late William Hill Sr., who took a barrel ride in 1931, with similar unsatisfactory financial results.

Hill said he and his barrel are going on an exhibition tour beginning next week.

NATION NEARLY DOUBLES QUOTA IN BOND DRIVE

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Final figures in the 7th war loan showed tonight that America piled up the all-time record of 26 billion, 313 million dollars, nearly double the 14 billion dollar quota.

Treasury Secretary Morganthau announced the final results in what he called his "valedictory" speech. He resigned last Thursday, but will not leave the cabinet until President Truman returns from Europe.

The E bond goal of 4 billion dollars was narrowly missed, sales totalling 3 billion, 976 million. This was above any other drive. The previous E bond record was 3 billion 187 million dollars in the 4th war loan early in 1944.

Sales to individuals were 8 billion, 681 million dollars, compared with a quota of 7 billion.

BACKERS ADMIT CHARTER RULES CURB CONGRESS

Power Over Use of Troops Curtailed

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10—Senators were told today they will violate the spirit of the new international charter if they insist that congress keep the power to send American fighting men to war.

Sen. Millikin

This argument came at a hearing by the senate foreign relations committee.

Russian born Leo Pasvolsky of the state department has for two days been explaining the charter to the committee and other senators under the approving eyes of Sen. Connally [D., Tex.], committee chairman and member of the American delegation that helped write the charter.

Millikin Raises Question

Everything has been harmonious. Foreign diplomats have been flitting in and out and the senators have been calling Pasvolsky "doctor" in deference to his academic degree. Internationalist senators have been offering "the doctor" helpful hints when he neglected some of their favorite points of the charter.

But Sen. Millikin [R., Colo.] arose today to remind his colleagues that the United States is a "have" country, as he put it, dealing with nations he termed "have nots." The great hearing room, packed with spectators, turned chilly. Connally's spectacles almost fell off the end of his nose.

Millikin asked about the charter provision that the new global league's security council must be supplied with troops. He questioned that the American representative on the council is the proper authority to say they shall be sent to war.

Defeats Charter Aims

"If the United States should reserve the right for congress to decide in each case," he inquired, "to send armed forces, would this be a violation of the charter?"

"If the council were not in a position to know it could call on any part of the forces when necessary," Pasvolsky replied, "the purpose of the whole charter would be defeated."

Millikin then suggested that the senate reserve authority to call on American forces for the President or congress, but Connally and Minority Leader White [R., Me.] said this would violate the spirit of the charter.

Vandenberg Defends It

Rising suddenly in the midst of the discussion, Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], another of the charter authors, shouted:

"If we required the consent of congress for every use of armed forces we would violate the charter and the Constitution of the United States. Under the Constitution, the President has the right to use armed forces in certain cases, and this has been done 72 times in 150 years.

"He is permitted to use the armed forces externally in national defense, but congress is required to act when the situation approaches war. The President has the right to use armed forces to prevent war."

Settling back into his chair, Vandenberg explained:

"I beg your pardon for this explosion. But I feel rather deeply about this."

Only Seeks Information

Millikin explained he was only trying to find out when the matter should be brought before the senate. If the senate does not reserve the power over American forces in ratifying the charter, he argued, it will be accused of bad faith in doing so later, when the international agreements as to the makeup of the forces to be supplied the global organization are being considered.

"You have a perfect right to offer reservations which would nullify the charter," Connally answered. "But I think the proper time is when the treaties come before the senate for supplying armed forces."

Sen. Burton [R., O.] asked if it could be said that seven nations can order 50 nations to war under the provision that a majority of seven on the security council can authorize force against an aggressor.

"That might be literally true," responded Vandenberg. "But it is likewise true that seven nations can order 50 to maintain peace—an entirely different thing."

Sponsors Uneasy

Explaining that he was seeking information, Millikin then asked other questions that made sponsors of the charter writhe.

"Is it your suggestion that we abandon the Monroe doctrine?" he inquired.

"No, sir," said Pasvolsky.

Millikin asked if there were a charter prohibition against foreign propaganda in this hemisphere, propaganda that might threaten the overthrow of government. Pasvolsky said the international organization could consider the propaganda if it became a threat to peace.

"If we reached the conclusion that an attempt was being made to enforce foreign systems in this hemisphere," Millikin went on, "could we act independently?"

Questions Welfare Plans

"We could initiate action," Pasvolsky answered.

"And it would be considered a violation of the charter," said Millikin.

Millikin inquired closely into the international organization's plans for global social welfare work, suggesting the possibility that they might result in interference with domestic religions, labor and racial problems, and with tariff rates.

"We are a 'have' nation in a world of 'have not' nations," Millikin said. "Might we not find many recommendations [by the organization's economic and social council] against us that would cause ill will? Are you not providing means by which complaints may be focused against us?"

Discuss Trusteeships

Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.], the only survivor of the foreign relations committee that considered the old league of nations, spoke freely on the trusteeship plan for non self governing peoples. He pleaded for outright possession of the territories taken from the enemy "by the blood of our men."

Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.], White and Millikin took part in discussion of the omission of any provision for the United States to withdraw under the charter. White said:

"The charter has no time limit, no provision for withdrawal and no provision for denunciation [formal abrogation]. Isn't this unusual?"

When senators were questioning the new league's power to change onerous agreements that may be made in the peace treaty, Barkley gave this illustration of discontent arising from peace treaties:

Hungarians planted flowers in Budapest after the Versailles treaty, with different colors in the form of a map showing the territory that had been taken from them and that they had retained. They carefully cultivated the flowers, and gathered about them each Sunday to utter bitter vows to regain their lost land.

Connally Is Critical

Senators who worry about sending men to war got a sharp comment from Connally when Sen. Thomas [D., Utah] inquired about what he termed the "harsh and hard" provisions under which the charter can be amended.

"We took the view," said Connally, "that the senate would very reluctantly ratify a charter that bound us to take on additional powers when the amending countries might not share the responsibilities.

"We expected to hear the eloquent voices of senators raised in protest to sending our boys to war, and this, and that, and t'other."

BRIDGETENDERS SAVE MAN IN RIVER

FIND WAR PLANT UNDER BERLIN'S OLYMPIC SITE

Labyrinth of Chambers Beneath Stadium

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—The Nazis had a $5,000,000 radar plant under the Berlin temple of sportsmanship, site of the 1936 Olympic games, it was disclosed today.

The factory, operated with great secrecy for the air force, manufactured equipment to detect any plane leaving England for the continent.

There is no factory there now—only a labyrinth of almost empty underground chambers under the shell scarred concrete apron at the south side of the great stadium.

British occupation forces now occupy the entire 325 acre park site on the western fringe of Berlin.

Russians Take Machinery

German caretakers who remained said the nazi machinery was removed by soviet authorities before the British arrived. British officers indicated they were not surprised that the Russians took away the radar equipment. The British followed the same policy regarding secret German plants in northwestern Germany. Americans combed the Zeiss optical works at Jena before evacuating it for the Russian occupation.

The sports temple radar plant was operated by the Blaupunkt company, a subsidiary of the Bausch works.

On the north side of the stadium, the British also found underground chambers used as storerooms for aircraft parts. Some parts were left behind by the Russians.

The Berlin Olympic village, it appeared, was a big cog in the nazi war machine, altho it was never made a priority target by allied air forces. About 30 bombs fell in the area during the war, but they had been aimed at other objectives.

Concrete 6 Feet Thick

At least six feet of concrete protected the top story of the underground tunnels where the various war activities were carried on.

The Berlin radio maintained an emergency transmitter and a studio underground in the landscaped Olympic village that Adolf Hitler built to house the world's greatest athletes.

British intelligence officers appear convinced the Olympic village was designed from the outset with a view to conversion to war use. Its underground communications were more elaborate, they say, than were required by athletes moving from their quarters to the field and back again.

NAZI GETS 10 YRS. FOR CUTTING OFF WOMEN'S HAIR

FLENSBURG, Germany, July 10 [Reuters]—For shaving the heads of two German women who gave information to the British military authorities, 22 year old Nazi Lt. Hans Pingel today was sentenced by a military court here to 10 years' imprisonment.

Pingel, it was stated, headed a gang of German toughs in Flensburg on May 24. The two German women, Frau Kischke and Frau Schipke, were walking along the street when Pingel ordered three Nazi ruffians to cut the women's hair.

"The women were seized and pulled along the street by the hair. Their heads were shaved and hair stuffed down their mouths. The gang then set about beating the two women who resisted and managed to escape," the prosecutor said.

MRS. RUTH PASTERNAK

Mrs. Ruth Pasternak, 40, of 5006 N. Central Park av., yesterday obtained an injunction from Judge John M. Tuohy in Superior court restraining her husband, Edward, 46, owner of the Paramount Garment company, from disposing of $250,000 in assets.

Mrs. Pasternak had filed suit for separate maintenance thru her attorney, Sol R. Friedman. The bill alleges that Pasternak is enamored of one Miss I. W. of New York and that Pasternak and Miss I. W. exchange gifts and have rendezvous in New York.

They are at present sojourning in Miami Beach, Fla., Friedman told the court. He said he went to Miami Beach after Mrs. Pasternak learned the two were to meet there and saw them playing gin rummy and eating watermelon on the beach. Friedman was accompanied to Florida by detectives, he said.

U-BOAT MISSING 2 MONTHS GIVES UP IN ARGENTINA

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, July 10 (AP)—A 700-ton German U-boat commanded by Otto Wermoutt and carrying a complement of 54 men surrendered to Argentine naval authorities at this submarine base today. All were placed in custody. Authorities closed the port area to the public.

Mar del Plata [arrow] where U-boat surrendered

[Where the U-boat has been since Germany surrendered two months ago was not immediately explained. Allied radios flashed orders on May 8 to all German craft to head for the nearest allied ports. About six U-boats did not comply and the navy recently reported they were believed sunk.]

TURK FOREIGN CHIEF STOPS FOR LONDON PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 10—Hasan Saka, Turkish foreign minister, arrived in London today en route home from the San Francisco conference. British diplomatic circles said that he is making the visit on his own initiative and hopes to see Foreign Minister Eden and other ministers to discuss pending negotiations for a new treaty of friendship between Turkey and Russia. Saka is said to feel that the British ministers should be fully informed on the Turkish viewpoint before the Big Three meeting.

Relief to Europe Must Be Cut, Lehman Says

ROME, July 10 (AP)—Herbert Lehman, head of UNRRA, said today the organization would have to reduce its relief program in Europe during July and August "and perhaps in the following months" because of the world shortage of supplies.

described as tentative, including reports of a visit to London. Even the mode of the President's return to the United States is yet to be determined.

The President left Washington last Friday night by train, sailing the next day from the army port of embarkation dock, Newport News, Va., on a journey which may cover in excess of 10,000 miles by the time he returns to the White House.

Starting with his arrival at Newport News, when he left his train for the admiral's cabin on the ship, the President has been up and about every day no later than 6 a. m.

He spends several hours each day with Byrnes and other members of his staff, going over conference papers and reports from the Pacific battle fronts.

The chief executive is in constant radio communication with the White House by high speed transmitters.

The President spent most of Saturday on deck, chatting with Byrnes, reporters, and others in his party about architecture.

Sunday he attended a general Protestant service in his shirt sleeves, sitting with the sailors.

Visits Sick Bay

Bright and early Monday, the President led correspondents on a strenuous tour of inspection, ascending and descending ladders with an agility which belied his 61 years.

The President went from the hot boiler room level to the highest control towers. He made a thoro job of it.

The President looked over the giant engines, the kitchen facilities, living quarters of officers and crew, and the air conditioned sick bay, where he chatted with ailing seamen.

"I hope you get better," he told one youth. "It looks to me as if you are getting pretty good care."

Vigil in Potsdam

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—Elite guardsmen of the United States, Britain, and Russia kept vigilant watch on every street and pathway in the Potsdam district today as the hour drew nearer for the historic Big Three parley.

Churchill Leaves Saturday

PARIS, July 10 [Reuters]—The newspaper France Soir reported today that Prime Minister Churchill, who is on holiday at the Chateau Bordaberry near Hendaye on the Spanish border, will leave Saturday for Potsdam.

Visitors on the beach at Saint Jean de Luz caught a glimpse of Churchill, in an enormous broad brimmed hat under a beige colored sun shade given him in Cairo, painting a picture of the bay.

[Official quarters in London today denied that there was any question of the prime minister having a meeting with Gen. Francisco Franco, who was reported to have reached Hendaye.]

BLAME GERMAN FOOD LACK ON DEPOPULATION

LONDON, July 10 [Reuters]—Depopulation of the east German countryside and lack of agricultural implements were shown to be the reasons for the food shortage in the German capital, according to broadcasts from Berlin.

The Berlin city administration announced last night "there is no accommodation, food or work in Berlin for people expelled from the eastern districts. All vehicles moving towards the city will be stopped on the roads. The provincial governments of Brandenburg, Saxony and Mecklenburg are trying to house expelled persons from districts east of the Neisse and Oder in rural districts and direct them to harvesting work."

At the same time, the Berlin metal workers union issued an urgent appeal to its members to produce and repair farming tools wherever possible.

FINDS TRIBUNE OFFICE SHINGLE SAFE IN REICH

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, July 10—Allied correspondents stationed in Berlin before the war, have spent much time since their return trying to find former offices, equipment, and staffs.

Today I finally discovered THE TRIBUNE'S shingle shining on the door of a small farmhouse in a village southeast of Berlin, near the Mittenwalde. Beside the sign was a Russian translation warning one and all that American property on the premises should not be touched.

Part of the files and typewriters were destroyed during the bombings and fires in Berlin but The Tribune's reference library survived and was in relatively good condition. Even parts of THE TRIBUNE'S tiny Fiat car, which was damaged shortly before Hitler declared war on the United States, were resting in the farm's garage.

All Except 4,666 Moved from Camp at Dachau

DACHAU, Germany, July 7 [Delayed]—(AP)—The American commander in charge of "cleaning up" the notorious nazi concentration camp in Dachau said today the army had done a "magnificent job," having distributed all except 4,666 of the 38,000 plague ridden and starved prisoners found here only 60 days ago. Colonel Paul A. Roy, the camp commander, said Dachau's remaining population will be sent to homes as soon as possible.

ROTATE BERLIN COMMAND; SOLVE FOOD PROBLEM

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—The United States, Britain and Russia today set up a four-power "kommandature [command post]" for a rotating military government of Berlin, and solved the problem of feeding the German capital's 3,000,000 civilians. France was invited to share in the running of Berlin.

The deadlock over Berlin's food and fuel supplies was broken by high allied military chiefs, who assured that Anglo-American troops would assume immediate and full control of their occupation zones. The way was paved for harmonious opening of the Big Three meeting.

Agreement among the three major allies was reached in a conference of Soviet Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov and Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks, American and British representatives in the allied control commission for Germany.

Beaming over the outcome of the conference, Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, American military commandant of Berlin, announced details of the solution of the food problem and of the plan to rule Berlin.

All to Supply Food

Berlin's food, it was decided, will be supplied from "contributions from all allied occupation zones in Germany," and Zhukov, Clay and Weeks took steps to solve the coal problem along the same lines.

The three military chiefs decided that the "kommandature" should comprise four military commandants, each of whom will serve as chief commandant in rotation.

Each American, British, Russian and French commander will head Berlin's military administration for 15 days, rotating as long as the city is occupied.

The first meeting of the "kommandature" will be held tomorrow. Soviet Col. Gen. Gorbatov will be first chief.

Ready to Take Control

It was presumed that American and British transport systems would bring considerable stocks of both food and fuel into their Berlin sectors from the western occupation zones. The Anglo-American demand previously had been that all Berlin should be supplied from its soviet-held hinterland.

American military government detachments which have been waiting in six of Berlin's boroughs since July 5 for the Russian commanders to leave were expected to start exercising control within 24 hours.

British detachments were alerted to be ready to go into their six boroughs tomorrow.

FURLOUGH FOR YANK FATHER OF STRICKEN BABY STILL WAITS

Greenwich, Conn., July 10 [Special]—Mrs. Virginia Booth Gibson, 19, today said she is still hoping her husband, Corp. Albert Gibson, 23, a military policeman stationed near Berlin, will be brought home by the army in time to see their baby, 9 months old, before its expected death.

The baby, Albert Jr., is in the Columbia-Presbyterian medical center suffering from a pancreatic disorder and a lung ailment. When admitted to the hospital June 6, physicians said he had only six weeks to live.

The Red Cross in Greenwich has transmitted to the war department Mrs. Gibson's request for an emergency furlough.

Resentful Greenwich citizens today were contrasting Mrs. Gibson's case with that of Mrs. Imogene Stevens of nearby New Canaan, whose husband, Maj. George Rasley Stevens, 3d, was brought back to the United States from Germany 13 days after Mrs. Stevens shot and killed a 19 year old submarine sailor.

OWI HEAD TRIES TO APPEASE ARID PRAIRIE STATES

Davis Offers Apology for Magazine Insult

BY ROBERT YOUNG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10—Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, today took personal charge of the agency's attempts to calm a storm of civic wrath and congressional denunciation which arose when an OWI publication described the rich prairie states as an arid, unproductive region, with almost no industry. The publication, America Illustrated, is a picture magazine distributed in Russia to help the Russians understand the United States.

Davis hastily dispatched letters of apology to the Omaha, Neb., and Wichita, Kas., chambers of commerce. These organizations had filed heated protests with the OWI and demanded that the magazine's misstatements be corrected.

The states described in the article are Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Montana, Colorado, and Utah.

Davis Pleads Haste

Davis explained in his letters to the Omaha and Wichita chambers of commerce, that the article, entitled "Profile of America," was an attempt to show the Russians "the diversity and variety of the American scene." He contended that for the most part the article was fair in its description of the various regions of the country.

"However, in the haste to get the first issue of this magazine out at the end of the last year," Davis wrote, "material on the prairie and mountain states was inadvertently drawn from outdated sources and presented an unfair and inaccurate picture because it did not take account of the development of war industries and war time agriculture in your great section of the country. The OWI regrets it particularly when such an error seems to reflect upon an area which has been of such war time service."

Author's Name Undisclosed.

Neither Davis nor other OWI officials had an explanation as to why even "outdated" sources would have overlooked the historical importance and scope of agriculture and industry in the prairie and mountain states. The identity of the author likewise was not disclosed.

William White, director of the Russian publications division of the OWI, last night admitted the magazine was a "hurry up" job and that a "bad blunder" had been made.

It was learned from reliable sources in the OWI that the article probably had been lifted bodily from an eastern magazine. The unofficial OWI belief was that the description of the western states had been written by a New Yorker with little knowledge of the region west of the Hudson.

Davis told the Omaha and Wichita chambers of commerce the OWI was "anxious to correct any false impression that may have been created." He said that if the OWI were supplied with material on the war achievements of Nebraska and Kansas, it would be incorporated in a forthcoming issue of the magazine distributed in Russia. He wrote that copies of a picture map of the United States showing middle western and western agricultural resources and industry will be distributed in foreign schools.

Other Protests Expected

An OWI official said that so far, formal protests have been received only from Kansas and Nebraska, but that he expected the other states to complain either thru civic organizations or their congressional delegations.

"I'm afraid this is only the beginning," he added ruefully.

In New York, where the magazine is printed, Leo J. Margolin, chief of the OWI public relations division there, said he had been told that the article was at least five years old. Margolin, who formerly worked for the newspaper PM, known as the uptown edition of the Communist Daily Worker, said material for America Illustrated is obtained from magazines, feature stories in newspapers, and original OWI material.

Margolin said he did not know the source of the information in the article which stirred the prairie states. OWI officials said they were unable to provide a copy of the magazine.

ALLIED CONTROL OF GERMANY FOR 15 YEARS URGED

Germany must be controled by the allies for 10 or 15 years, Quincy Wright, University of Chicago professor of international law, said yesterday in a lecture on organization of world security given at the 21st annual institute of the Norman Wait Harris Foundation.

He recommended five years of military occupancy followed by 10 years of preparing Germany for self-government. He warned against a temptation to become sympathetic with Germany and said the United States and Great Britain would be more likely to relax than Russia and France.

Arthur R. Burns, professor of economics at Columbia university, declared "the policy which should take precedence over all other considerations is that of disarming the enemy countries." Full disarmament of Germany by this method, he said, would require taking territories containing heavy industries from their German owners and moving out the population.

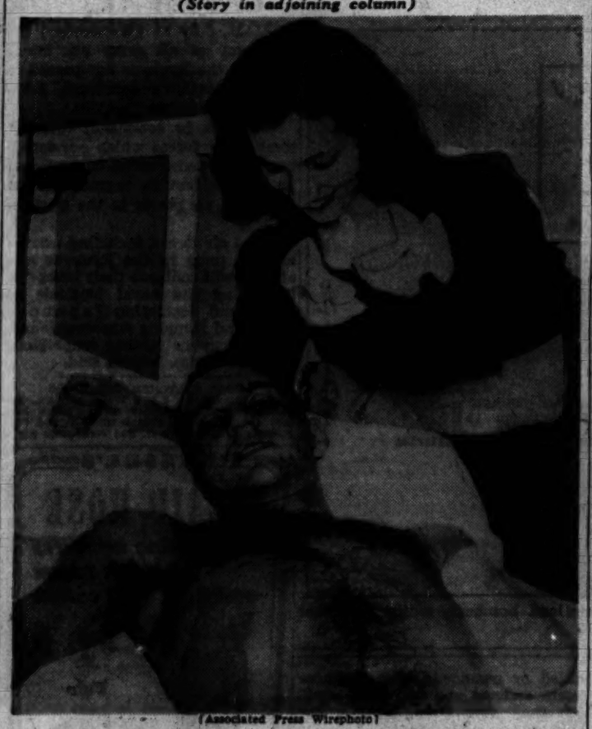
Soldier Loses Legs and Hands

(Story in adjoining column)



(Associated Press Wirephoto)

WIFE STANDS BY VET WHO LOST 2 ARMS, 2 LEGS

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Battle Creek, Mich., July 10—An attractive brunette with dark, sombre eyes, wavy hair and a southern accent stepped out of a hospital room, smiled, and said, "If they can take it, the least we can do is back them up."

Inside the room was her husband, Master Sgt. Frederic Hensel, 26, the first and so far the only battle casualty of this war who has lost parts of both arms and both legs.

Hensel arrived here at Percy Jones general hospital, one of the army's largest amputation centers, Sunday night. His wife, notified by the army, was waiting for him. Her first name is Jewel and she is 25. She had last seen her husband in March, 1944, when he left Camp Pickett, Va., for Pacific service.

Injured by Land Mine

A Japanese land mine on Okinawa was responsible for Hensel's injuries. He stepped on the mine June 2 and had both legs blown off above the knees and his left arm blown off above the elbow. His right forearm was mangled by the blast and physicians amputated it when he was en route to this country on a hospital ship.

But within a year, army physicians here said today, Hensel will be able to walk again and will have artificial arms which he can use. Miraculously, they said, he is in good condition physically, and will probably be able to start getting around in a wheel chair within two months.

"Nothing has changed for us very much," Mrs. Hensel said. "We had planned that after the war we would have a chicken farm and a garage, and we are still going to do just that."

Something to Live For

She said the accident has given her husband something he never had before—religion.

"He now feels he has something to live for," she said. "He is going to live and we are going to be very happy."

Hensel, still under opiates as a result of his injuries, nodded approval as his wife spoke of the chicken farm. He drawled good naturedly that "I'd make a good picture for propaganda against the next war."

Under the same roof as the hospital is a workshop where experts manufacture artificial limbs to measure. When Hensel's wounds are healed a set will be made for him. Mrs. Hensel will make her home in Battle Creek while he is convalescing and will be with him every day.

Married in 1942

Hensel is a native of Corbin, Ky., and has been in the army since he enlisted in 1937. He met his wife in Salem, Ind. They were married Aug. 12, 1942. In the Pacific he was with a tank battalion attached to the 77th infantry division and served on Guam, Ie, Leyte, and Okinawa.

Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Bastion, commanding officer at Percy Jones, said the only other quadruplicate amputee of this war was not a battle casualty but an army pilot who lost parts of all four extremities due to freezing after a plane crash in New England.

The general said there have been 12,500 amputees so far in this war and 5 per cent are "double amps." Six soldiers have lost three limbs each.

BRIDES PROTEST BUSTING UP OF PW MARRIAGES

Army Takes 3 Italian Husbands Away

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., July 10—Secret marriages of three San Francisco Bay area girls to Italian prisoners of war were disclosed here today when the brides protested the transfer of their husbands from a Camp Knight service unit back to a prisoner of war camp in Arizona.

The couples met and married under the noses of army officials of the Oakland port of embarkation and in violation of war department and Geneva convention regulations.

The young women, indignant at facing a long separation from their husbands, declared that there have been other secret marriages between American girls in this area and Italian prisoners.

Two of Brides Are Cousins

The brides, who are cousins, are Mrs. Norma Romeo Scorza, 23, and and Mrs. Virginia Panfili Mazzonchini, 21, both of San Francisco, and Mrs. Mildred Circo Bertolotti, 26, Antioch, Cal.

Army authorities who questioned the young women reported they were unable to identify any other women who had married prisoners of war here.

Records at the Antioch Methodist church showed that Mildred Circo was married to Giuseppe Bertolotti, 24, on June 3, while Norma Romeo became the wife of Maurizio Scorza, 22, and Virginia Panfili married Frederico Mazzonchini, 23, in a double ceremony on June 17.

Norma and Virginia, who are living with Norma's mother in San Francisco, said they "got the idea from Millie." Licenses were obtained at the county clerk's office in Martinez under a special arrangement prevailing there for the benefit of servicemen. The three couples also complied with California blood test laws.

Bound to Fall in Love

"I don't think its fair to separate us," Norma said bitterly. "If they don't want the boys to get married they shouldn't let them go out to dances and parties like they do. They're young and good looking and of course they fall in love. What should the army expect?"

Virginia agreed, adding: "Why, every boy in camp has a girl friend. I bet hundreds of them want to get married."

Army officials pointed out that all Italian prisoners would eventually be returned to Italy. The only chance the married Italian prisoners have of remaining in this country, as explained by Irving Wixson, director of the United States immigration service here, would be to prove the marriages were not made solely for the purpose of delaying deportation.

ALL BALIKPAPAN BAY AREA IN HANDS OF ALLIES: MAC ARTHUR

MANILA, July 11 [Wednesday—(AP)—Balikpapan's broad bay, an anchorage capable of handling unlimited shipping, is completely in the hands of allied forces, Gen. MacArthur reported today.

At the same time a headquarters spokesman disclosed the Aussies now hold all of the hotly contested Pandansari refinery area north of Balikpapan town.

The final link in a chain of amphibious hops around the perimeter of Borneo's biggest oil port came Sunday. Maj. Gen. Milford's Australians pushed in small boats from their west shore Cape Penadjam positions four miles farther north to Djinabora.

REPORT FRENCH NEGLECT CROPS, AWAIT U.S. AID

Black Market Thrives, Congressmen Say

Washington, D. C., July 10 [Special]—Farmers of France are producing only enough food for their own needs plus a little for the black market, with the French people generally settling back waiting for us to supply them with food for the winter.

This was the high point of a report brought to the special house food investigating committee today by an agricultural subcommittee just returned from six weeks of observation of food production in Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Sweden.

The subcommittee was headed by Rep. Cooley [D., N. C.]. Its other members were Representatives Grant [D., Ala.] and Earthman [D., Tenn.].

The committee reported an absence in France not only of production but of incentive to produce. They found the people in the cities unable to get food in, and said food for which transportation was found usually went into the black markets which were "everywhere."

Criticize Russia

The congressmen reported that Russia is using extra food in Germany as an instrument of propaganda against the United States and Great Britain and predicted that millions will die of hunger in certain parts of Europe this winter.

The congressmen asked that congress move to effect a centralized food distributional control system for those countries which this nation intends to aid. They suggested prompt unification of military and civilian authority, planning and direction and urged that the food committee expand the scope of its inquiry to include food production and shortages abroad.

Britain Progresses

The subcommittee said it found strict supervision and satisfying production in Britain and Germany. Thruout the United Kingdom, they said, they did not see an unfilled field and found herds in excellent condition. They said this program has increased food production from 35 per cent of pre-war needs to 70 per cent.

Intensive production is under way in Germany under orders of Gen. Eisenhower, but despite this, the outlook is dark as there probably will be a serious gap in food supplies. Warehouses stocked by the nazis are being drawn upon steadily, it was said, and will probably be depleted by August. Marooned and undistributable food supplies are spoiling, they said.

Denmark and Sweden are preparing to export food at the expense of strict rationing at home, they said. Belgium and Holland need reserve supplies.

REMEMBERED BIBLE TEXTS CHEER YANK ON RAFT IN PACIFIC

After a Japanese torpedo tore the center from an India-bound troop ship, Pvt. James H. Clark, 19, remembered Scripture as he fought his way from the lower decks into the water and onto a raft on which he floated for seven days with 16 other men.

Pvt. James H. Clark

Clark, who lives at 607 W. Maple st., Hinsdale, had been acting chaplain on the ship. "For a brief moment I felt panic sweep up and start to choke me," he wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Clark, in a letter received yesterday. "Then I relaxed—remembering God . . . and parts of the Scripture we used last week came back to me. 'Yea, tho I walk thru the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil.'"

Clark wrote from Perth, Australia, where he was taken by a rescue ship. He had lost 20 pounds from lack of food. He has been in the army a year. A brother, 1st Lt. Goodwin Jr., is in Germany with the 3d army.

FORMER ITALIAN ENVOY TO U. S. LOSES APPEAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, July 10—An Italian appeal court today denied the plea of former Senator Vittorio Rolandi Ricci, 86, Italian ambassador to Washington in 1922, to set aside his sentence of 15 years' imprisonment for high treason.

He negotiated settlement of the Italian debt to the United States. Ricci devoted himself to Mussolini's neo-fascist propaganda, writing many diatribes aimed at the newspaper Corriere della Sera, President Roosevelt, the allies, the Catholic church, the Italian king and the government under Ivanoe Bonomi.

[Ricci, upon his appointment as ambassador to the United States, visited Chicago in May, 1922, where he was feted by Chicagoans of Italian descent.]

GIs ASK: IS WAR PROLONGED BY JOBS SHORTAGE

Urge End of Useless Loss of Lives in Fight

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Six soldiers writing from Guam believe the government's fear of postwar unemployment may underlie its insistence on Japan's unconditional surrender.

In a letter to Sen. Capehart [R., Ind.] the service men stated that "we, like yourself, fail to see what is to be gained by insisting on an unconditional surrender, which must cost us more lives, blood, materials, and money. This at best can only be a hollow triumph."

The writers, who said their letter "reflects the sentiments of most men in uniform," asked:

"If, as recent reports have indicated, the Japs are now willing to give up all conquered territories, then what is left to fight for except actual military occupation of the Japanese home islands?

Doubt Value of Sacrifice

"What is that worth in terms of American lives and resources?"

The soldiers said it appeared to them that "the government's only basis for holding out for unconditional surrender is a stubborn reluctance to alter a policy once established, and perhaps fear as to its own inability to deal with the economic results of bringing America's young men back home again."

The letter which Capehart inserted in the Congressional Record, was signed by 1st Sgt. Richard H. Brazell, Staff Sgt. Emil G. Yircott, Sergeants John G. Giegold, Walter A. Gunnell, Woodrow A. Yecum, and Corp. Ural W. Tuttle. Their home addresses were not disclosed.

Hundreds of Letters

Capehart, who has urged that surrender terms be defined for Japan, said the letter was one of several hundred he has received supporting his position.

"No one hates the Japs more than I do," the senator said, "but how can any one object to trying to end the war on our own terms? Those terms must be tough, the equivalent of unconditional surrender. But if by defining them we can get a surrender now on the same basis and terms as two years from now, let's do it."

WITH THE 4TH ENGINEER SPECIAL BRIGADE, Luzon, July 10—Ask anybody in this brigade's boat maintenance company who is the most important man on the island and, to the last man, they will answer Ted Glitsky.

Who is this fabulous Ted Glitsky? Why, he's a mess sergeant.

Ted is a good mess sergeant. You can tell that by the round stomachs and the wide smiles of his men. There is a lot of talk among army bystanders about morale, but out here it's still true that the way to a man's heart is thru his stomach.

You can also tell he's a good mess sergeant by a glance at his kitchen and dining room. He built it over the concrete floor of what once was a building. The mess hall has a corrugated metal leakproof roof, and screened walls. Everything is painted white.

His kitchen has regulation army ranges, but what makes your eyes bulge is the big refrigerator, as big as those the stores use for milk and butter and eggs, and—wonder of wonders—an ice cream freezer and storage box.

Somehow the refrigerators and ice cream outfit escaped the fire and steel of the war and Glitsky's boys, among the first to enter the area put a guard around them, hunted out the owners and bought them, using cash which the GI's contributed from their own pockets without complaint.

"We could make quite a bit of money if we wanted to sell them," Glitsky says. "The other day an army corps outfit offered us $3,000 for the ice cream freezer."

The sergeant says his answer was "forceful and explicit," as only sergeants can make them.

Glitsky's company doesn't have to do the kitchen work. Filipinos do that, which makes KP duty not very distasteful.

He is careful in the choice of his cooks and he scours the area for vegetables to supplement the army issue food.

The sergeant is a humanitarian. As in all army messes, there is some food left over after each meal. According to regulation, this should be thrown into garbage cans. But Glitsky belongs to the school that believes it's criminal to throw food away when people are hungry. So, after each meal Filipino kids line up behind the kitchen door and Glitsky piles the remnants into the cans or cupped leaves or broken dishes they present.

"I come from Latrobe, Pa.," Glitsky says. "That's in the coal fields and I remember lots of us kids were hungry."

The sergeant is no respecter of meal hours. Unless you're on time many army messes won't feed you, but Glitsky's kitchen opens up whenever any of his boys come in from duty.

There's just one more thing about Glitsky. It's flowers. Every morning Filipinos bring him flowers, and, as particular as any woman preparing for a bridge luncheon, the big husky Glitsky arranges bouquets and puts them on each table.

154 JAP PLANES BLASTED BY NAVY IN TOKYO RAID

damaged two others off central Honshu. Fifth air force bombers struck heavily again Sunday at oil fields and airdromes of Formosa while Mitchell bombers and marine Corsairs attacked Tukuno air field on Amami Island Monday.

The fleet carrier raid came on the heels of some 550 Super Fortresses which dropped 3,500 tons of bombs on Sendai, Wakayama, Gifu, and Saka, all industrial centers, and on the Utsube oil refinery near Yokkaichi. One B-29 was lost but all its crewmen were rescued.

Complete Tactical Surprise

Nimitz emphasized that the raiding 3d fleet of Adm. Halsey, which included some of the biggest carriers and at least four battleships, had the advantage of "complete tactical surprise."

The carriers, protected by battleships, cruisers, and destroyers, steamed close to Japan's main island of Honshu, Associated Press Correspondent James Lindsley reported from one of the vessels.

He said the first planes took off from Vice Adm. McCain's carriers at 4 a. m.

Lt. Comdr. Cliff McDowell, of Turlock, Calif., one of the first aerial observers to return to McCain's flagship, said he saw no enemy fighters in the air.

"When we reached the target [an air field 20 miles northeast of Tokyo] smoke generators at each end of the field started rolling out smoke but an east wind spread it out too thin to be effective," he said.

Anti-Aircraft Fire Ineffective

Anti-aircraft began as soon as his Avenger torpedo plane got over the Japanese mainland. It was light, medium, and heavy but "ineffective," he said.

Group Comdr. W. A. Gerald of West Newton, Mass., led a section of planes over the target before McDowell's Avenger arrived.

None in Gerald's group was hit altho planes in other groups were hit, McDowell reported. He saw none of the United States planes shot out of the air.

About 50 to 65 planes were on the ground and they were strafed.

"The target was covered from end to end and many fires were started," reported McDowell. "Buildings were hit and fired and there wasn't much left of the place," he said.

'Lucky Cap' in Ring

ABOARD ADM. McCAIN'S FLAGSHIP OFF JAPAN, July 10 (AP)—Vice Adm. McCain's "lucky cap" was in the ring off Japan today.

What gives the admiral's headgear such an original touch are the band and visor. Both are regulation navy design. But sitting on top of, or around, the khaki colored crown, they give the effect of a man wearing two caps.

McCain has a special affection for his cap. In the first place, it was made by the wife of Comdr. W. S. Sampson of Los Angeles, great friends of the admiral. And it is a good luck cap.

"The only time it ever blew off a seaman scrambled and grabbed it just before it went over the side," side McCain. "And that day we shot down a kamikaze [Jap suicide plane] before he had a chance to hit us. That's a lucky cap."

A crash crew seaman on the flight deck looked up at the bridge a little later.

"Don't give me no helmet," he said. "All you need on this ship is a lucky cap like the old man's got!"

How American Bombs Have Blanketed Jap Homeland

AAF BOMB LOAD ON AXIS TOTALS 2 MILLION TONS

40,000 Enemy Planes Destroyed in War

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—The army air forces today figured their planes have hit the axis with 2 million tons of bombs since the war began. Those 2 million tons are 4 billion pounds.

Allowing 12 bombs to a truck, it would take a string of trucks standing bumper to bumper from Boston to San Francisco to carry them. There were some 10 million bombs in all, of varying size.

The 2 millionth ton was dropped yesterday by the Super Fortress "Goin' Jessie" in the five way attack on industrial cities of the Japanese home island of Honshu.

Crewmen of the plane included Sgt. John C. Goldman, Chicago, and Sgt. Robert Waldron, Traverse City, Mich.

Bombings Speeded Up

It took 34 months to drop the first million tons on axis targets. The second million was unloaded in nine months.

The tonnage of bombs dropped in June against Japanese targets by the A. A. F. was five times the 10,503 tons dropped on them in June, 1944. The Japanese homeland itself was hit by the 100,000th ton of bombs on July 4.

Some other A. A. F. figures:

A. A. F. bombers and fighters flew more than 2,300,000 sorties. This means that an average of about 1,800 aircraft have been put into the air each day since Pearl Harbor.

Destroy 40,000 Aircraft

The planes flew a total of more than 19,700,000 hours and used more than 3 billion 100 million gallons of gasoline.

A. A. F. planes have destroyed more than 40,000 enemy aircraft in all theaters and damaged at least 18,000 others. In the Japanese war alone, A. A. F. planes have sunk a total of more than 2,318,000 tons of shipping.

Separate totals are being built up by navy aviation.

CRUISER 'SUNK' THRICE AIDS IN OKINAWA FIGHT

GUAM, July 11 [Wednesday] (AP)—The famed heavy cruiser San Francisco participated in the invasion bombardment of Okinawa, United States Pacific fleet headquarters disclosed today, thus again giving the lie to enemy claims of having sunk her.

Okinawa was the 30th Japanese possession against which the guns of the 11 year old cruiser have thundered since Pearl Harbor, where she escaped the Japanese attack with only strafing damage. The Japanese claimed she was sunk then.

The Germans claimed to have sent her down off New Jersey in January, 1942. In November, 1942, the San Francisco took 45 hits in a terrific night battle off Guadalcanal and 189 of her personnel were killed or wounded. The Japanese again claimed she had been sunk, but they were wrong again. The ship has participated in 13 major operations and two surface battles.

DANES TO GIVE, NOT ACCEPT AID, HERSHOLT SAYS

New York, July 10 (AP)—Liberated Denmark will not seek aid from her allies—"neither cash, nor food, nor clothing"—after Sept. 30; instead, she will help to feed her neighbors.

Jean Hersholt, Danish-American screen and radio actor and president of America Denmark Relief, has so reported after a survey of his native country for the national war fund.

Tho self-sufficient in food, Denmark has pressing need for medicines, clothing, underwear, coal, raw materials for manufacturing and rolling stock, he said.

ARMY'S RYUKYUS AIR FORCE UNDER GEN. M'ARTHUR

GUAM, July 11 [Wednesday] (AP)—Control of all army air forces based in the Ryukyus has passed to Gen. MacArthur's command, Adm. Nimitz said today.

The shift in command, covering some army forces which previously have been under naval control, was made "incident to regrouping" of American air power in the western Pacific.

Naval air forces, including marine aircraft units in the Ryukyus and at Iwo, will continue their tasks "of tightening the naval blockade of Japan and destroying Japanese forces and shipping wherever found, preparatory to further amphibious assaults," Adm. Nimitz said.

TOKYO WRITER CHARGES JAPS BEING MISLED

San Francisco, Cal., July 10 (AP)—Soho Tokutomi, dean of Japan's newspaper writers, Friday criticized the government for not telling the people the truth about the loss of important Pacific islands, the Tokyo radio said.

Writing in the newspaper Mainichi he rebuked the policy "which since Guadalcanal has tended to dismiss the loss of strategic islands with superficial optimism."

Tokutomi accused the government of misleading the people when they were told the loss of Saipan need cause no anxiety. "Everybody now knows what the loss of Saipan meant to Japan," he said.

Domei news agency, in another report, minimized the importance of America's mounting air fury and said "mastery of the air is not an absolute factor."

BURGLARS GET $450 RING

Burglars yesterday broke into the home of Joseph Moll, 5859 N. Rockwell st., a butcher shop owner, and stole a diamond ring, valued at $450.

BRITISH YIELD BURMA OUTPOST AS JAPS ATTACK

ADVANCED HDQ., Southeast Asia Command, July 10 (AP)—Japanese troops, counter-attacking thru mud and water sometimes chest deep, have forced the British out of Nyaungkashe, an outpost on the lower Sittang river bend in Burma 70 miles northeast of Rangoon, the southeast Asia command announced today.

The enemy attack, heavily supported by artillery, apparently was intended to facilitate the retreat of thousands of Japanese eastward across the Sittang toward Thailand, British officers said.

British planes have taken heavy toll of enemy groups trying to cross the Sittang from western Burma. The main body of Japanese on the east side is striking out repeatedly in relief attacks. The British evacuated their troops and casualties from Nyaungkashe—25 miles northeast of Pegu—in "good order," Adm. Louis Mountbatten's bulletin said.

POLES TO EXPEL ALL GERMANS, PREMIER SAYS

WARSAW, Poland, July 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Edward D. Osubka-Morawski of the new Polish provisional government said in an interview last night that Poland will expel all Germans from her soil.

"We don't want them on our land," he said. "We aim to expel them all."

Osubka-Morawski also reviewed Poland's industrial, governmental and economic outlook for the future. He termed as basic tasks, "harvesting, repatriation and resettlement." He said he favored holding elections as soon as possible, but that they must be delayed until nearly 5,500,000 Poles abroad have had a chance to return home.

German Ships' Munitions Will Be Dropped in Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 10—Nine thousand tons of ammunition from the German cruisers Prinz Eugen and Nuernberg, stored in a fortress on the outskirts of Copenhagen, will be dropped next week in Danish waters outside of the fishing banks. The work will be carried out by German crews and ships.

French Fighter Plane Reported to Do 435 M.P.H.

PARIS, July 10 [Reuters]—A new French fighter plane flew 435 miles an hour in recent trial flights, the French air ministry said today. The plane, the VB-10, has a wing span of 51 feet and a length of 42 feet. It is powered by two 1,200 horse power engines.

BELIEVES INDIA TALK MAY GO ON WITHOUT JINNAH

Opposing Blocs Refuse to Meet Together

BY ALFRED WAGG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SIMLA, India, July 9 [Delayed]—The conferences here this week to grant India greater self government thru Indianization of the viceroy's council have made a slow start, with stalemates still the order of the day. It now appears that Viceroy Wavell and the Congress party may proceed without the approval of Mahomed Ali Jinnah, leader of the Moslem league, is an effort to reach a decision.

The bogey of the conference still is the pointblank refusal of the parties concerned to sit down at a table and work out their problems together, thus placing the duties of a messenger boy on the viceroy.

Jinnah Stands Firm

Jinnah leads a group which thruout the war and thru the August, 1942, riots remained pro-British, which even now supplies a majority of India's army and which is now being attacked by the Hindu press. Further in Jinnah's favor is the fact that he has some 90,000,000 followers who could be agitated into rioting against the British.

From Jinnah's headquarters comes the story that since Jinnah has corraled the Moslem league and has its continued support of a proposed Moslem state within India, he will not accept anything except equal representation in the federal cabinet equal to that of the Congress party representatives.

Gandhi Plays World Role

At the luxurious Congress headquarters Mohandas Gandhi is remaining aloof and playing an international role. In view of the many difficulties ahead, such as wheat shortages and other domestic problems in which the need of British help is foreseen, the Congress party seems ready to coöperate with Wavell. The party also deems it necessary that it be treated as an all-India instead of a Hindu party because it is an amalgamation of odd groups of dissidents in addition to the major Hindu party.

The cards will be on the table at a meeting Saturday. Should Wavell be forced to take no as an answer from Jinnah in the matter of coöperation, the viceroy has made it clear that he will at least appoint a new cabinet or council, ridding himself of present members.

U. S. 15TH ARMY HDQ. SHIP SUNK BY NAZIS; 13 LOST

PARIS, July 10 (AP)—The S. S. Empire Javelin, bringing the main body of United States 15th army headquarters to France, was sunk in the middle of the English channel last Dec. 28 by a German mine or torpedo, it was disclosed at supreme headquarters today.

The toll was 13 men missing and 28 injured out of 268 officers and 1,215 enlisted men aboard.

The ship was rocked by an explosion below the water line. The French frigate L'Escarmouche came alongside and in 45 minutes took off the personnel from the Empire Javelin. A short time later there was another explosion and the stricken ship sank within 10 minutes.

Six Chinese Sentenced for Role in Gold Scandal

CHUNGKING, China, July 10 (AP)—Six junior officials of the Central Trust, Chinese purchasing agency, were sentenced today for complicity in the "gold scandal," in which fortunes were made thru leakage of the government's intention to boost gold futures last March 28 from 20,000 to 35,000 Chinese dollars an ounce. The heaviest sentence was 17 years' imprisonment.

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Evelyn Green, 2026 Wilson av.]

THE QUESTION

WHERE ASKED

Merchandise Mart.

THE ANSWERS

Shirley Schaefer, private secretary, 3425 Monroe—I think it's just so much a habit with Chicago people that nothing any one could do would ever change it. Jaywalking and crossing the street against lights isn't fair and we shouldn't do it, but how are you going to stop every person who decides to cross when he isn't supposed to?

Howard Summerbell, painter, Milton, Wis.—Being a stranger in the city, I notice traffic more than people who live here. The people here mill across the streets like sheep—whether a light is green or red or whether it's a corner or the middle of a block. I've never seen anything quite like it in any large city.

Genevra Lorish, commercial artist, 1344 E. 48th st.—It's more or less up to the individual whether he wants to risk his life or not. But if a jaywalker should cause a car to swerve out of the way and crash into another vehicle I believe the pedestrian should be responsible for all damages caused. It isn't considerate to jaywalk.

Shirley Nilsson, salesgirl, 5315 Waveland av.—Last summer a friend and I were crossing the street against red light. She was knocked down by a car and her foot was broken. It might have been worse. It taught me a lesson. I'll never do it again. I think if policemen were a little more insulting it might cut down the practice.

Revelle Phillips, clerk-typist, 651 Groveland Park—Many times I've jaywalked and crossed against red lights. I've had a guilty conscience about it and I think if I were called down for it or fined a small amount the embarrassment involved would keep me from doing it again. Pedestrians certainly rule the streets here.

William Silverman, news stand proprietor, 1124 Wilson av.—I think that people who jaywalk are very foolish because if they walk in the middle of the street and cars are going in both directions there's likely to be a traffic accident. What if automobiles went thru the red lights just because they thought a car wasn't coming?

TELLS OF NAZI PLAN TO INVADE SWEDEN IN 1942

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 10 (AP) — Christian Guenther, foreign minister, said today that Hitler intended to invade Sweden in February, 1942, and concentrated troops in northern Germany for that purpose. He said warnings came from several sources and the Swedish military mobilized so quickly the Germans canceled their plans. The Swedish minister in Berlin informed the Nazis during the crisis that Sweden intended to remain neutral.

HANG 5 GERMAN WAR PRISONERS IN LEAVENWORTH

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., July 10 (AP)—Five former members of Marshal Rommel's famed Afrika Korps were hanged today on a temporary warehouse gallows at the United States disciplinary barracks, for the murder of a fellow prisoner. They were the first foreign prisoners of war ever executed in the United States.

Termed "fanatical nazis" by army authorities, the men were sentenced to death Jan. 25, 1944, by a general court martial at Camp Gruber, Okla. The Germans were charged with fatally beating a fellow countryman, Johannes Kunze, a war prisoner interned at the Tonkawa, Okla., branch compound.

Four Are Sergeants

Those executed were: Walter Beyer, 32, who held a rank equivalent to a first sergeant; Berthold Seidel, 30, a staff sergeant; Hans Demme, 23, sergeant; Hans Schomer, 27, sergeant, and Willi Scholz, 22, corporal.

Their own request, that they be allowed to go to the gallows in the uniform of their country, was granted. Their last meal consisted only of the regular rations.

Beyer, ranking member of the group, was the first to go to the gallows. Eight guards marched the German, who wore blue leggings and blue pants, a suntan uniform coat, and open necked shirt, into the warehouse where army engineers had constructed a trap door gallows in an elevator shaft.

He 'Can't See Why . . .'

Col. William S. Eley, commandant of the disciplinary barracks, read the execution order, relayed to the prisoner thru an interpreter. Asked if he had a last statement, Beyer replied:

"I can't see why this is being done to me."

As a black hood was placed over Beyer's head Maj. John Sagar, post chaplain, prayed. The trap was sprung at 12:06 a. m. [C. W. T.].

The other four prisoners followed at half hour intervals. The last one was Scholz. All five marched erect to the gallows.

Victim Called a Traitor

Seven newsmen were the only civilians present at the hangings. Military personnel who carried out the death sentence included 13 enlisted men, the chaplains, surgeon, four official witnesses, and the officers of Col. Eley's staff.

Kunze was killed Nov. 4, 1943, after another prisoner had found a memorandum, allegedly written by the slain man, which was considered traitorious by Beyer, a company leader among the prisoners in the compound.

Army authorities said Beyer suspected Kunze of being the author of the note and ordered all prisoners of his company to meet in the mess hall.

Beaten to Death

There he denounced Kunze who, army authorities said, shouted his innocence, but, they said, the prisoners attacked him with their fists and in the ensuing disorder struck the victim with a milk bottle and heavy clubs. Kunze managed to escape thru a door, but he was only able to stumble a short distance before falling dead.

The death sentences, imposed by the court martial, were reviewed by the judge advocate general and approved Oct. 5, 1944, by the late President Roosevelt.

The five men were tried under the articles of war and thruout the trial "pertinent" provisions of the Geneva convention were observed. The German government was notified in advance of the trial and was furnished a copy of the charges.

CHANGE VERSION OF MUSSOLINI EXECUTION TALE

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, July 10—Hitherto unknown particulars which change the story of Mussolini's death were published today by the Popolo Comasco, official organ of the Como liberty committee. Allegedly, the Duce was not shot by a firing squad but by Col. "Valerio," who was sent from Milan by the committee of national liberation of upper Italy.

Upon his arrival, the story says, Valerio read to the duce, who "was leaning against a wall," the text of his death sentence: "In the name of the Italian people, demanding vengeance, I am required to do justice." Then, the story goes on, he fired five pistol shots at Mussolini who was hit in the heart. The duce fell upon his knees with his head inclined to the right. Contrary to the original version, this execution took place in the presence of Mussolini's mistress, Clara Petacci, who, terrorized, put her hand to her heart as if to stop its pounding. Valerio then fired six bullets at her.

Before his execution, Mussolini clasped a portfolio in which he claimed were documents proving that he tried everything to keep Hitler from declaring war.

PLANE RESCUED GEN. YAMASHITA, FILIPINOS SAY

WITH U. S. FORCES ON NORTHERN LUZON, P. I., July 11 [Wednesday]—(AP)—The report that a lone Japanese airplane sneaked into northern Luzon and rescued the No. 1 Japanese in the islands—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita—from the jaws of a closing American trap is repeatedly encountered here. It is based on statements by Filipino guerrillas and civilians and American army officers themselves.

The story is that when Balete pass, entrance to the Cagayan valley, was taken and the key junction of Santa Fe fell 13 days later the way was open for a dash thru the broad valley and it became apparent the Japs had lost the battle of northern Luzon.

So, according to the story, a single Japanese plane flew into the Cagayan valley at night and landed on one of the few air strips still remaining in Japanese hands. Yamashita climbed aboard and sneaked off home.

Attack Beachheads

CHUNGKING, July 10 (AP) — Chinese troops have isolated Japanese held Kanhsien, a former American air base 200 miles north of Hong Kong. They also have hurled a strong flank attack against enemy beachheads on China's southeast "invasion" coast below Amoy, the Chinese high command said today.

Chinese army forces, which have liberated four American air bases and are threatening at least three others in south and south central China, neutralized Kanhsien after recapturing Tayu, 47 miles southwest, a bulletin said. Swaying battles raged within six miles of Kanhsien, the Chinese said.

Tayu, in the heart of the Chinese wolfram mining district in southwestern Kiangsi province, was reported stormed and reoccupied by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's men Saturday night.

STARTS INQUIRY INTO SENTENCING OF GIs TO DEATH

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Sen. McMahon [D., Conn.] said tonight he has intervened in the case of two army privates in China who wrote they were condemned to execution for the death of a Chinese woman after an altercation with villagers.

McMahon said he told Undersecretary of War Patterson about it after he learned of it June 14 and that Patterson had radioed to China for a complete report.

The soldiers are Pvt. John V. Brennan, West Hartford, Conn., and Pvt. James Cooper, Norwood, O.

Brennan's letter to an aunt, delivered to McMahon by the soldier's family priest, said the two were court martialed late in May and sentenced to be shot.

Brennan's letter, McMahon said, told of the soldiers mounting a water buffalo at a Chinese village, "intending to take a ride." The villagers ran after them and tried to pull them from the animal's back. The soldiers resisted. A 71 year old woman pulled Brennan off and he fell on her, McMahon continued. The woman died three hours later.

Two peasants testified the soldiers beat the people on the ground, the letter added, but this the soldiers denied.

It was assumed the death sentences have not been carried out since a review in Washington is customary.

JAP ADMIRAL WRITES LETTER TO ROOSEVELT

New York, July 10 (AP)—Japanese Rear Adm. Toshinosuke Ichimaru sat in a cave on Iwo during the closing days of the battle for the island last March and wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, the New York Herald Tribune said today in a copyrighted dispatch from Iwo.

The dispatch was written in April by Herald Tribune Correspondent Emmet Crozier and has just been released by navy censors. Crozier recently returned to New York.

The letter said in part:

"Tho you may use the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor as your primary material for propaganda, I believe you of all persons know that you left Nippon no other method in order to save herself from self-destruction . . ."

Monopolize World's Fruits

"Judging from your actions, the white races, especially you Anglo-Saxons, at the sacrifice of the colored races, are monopolizing the fruits of the world. In order to attain this end countless machinations were used to cajole the yellow races and to finally deprive them of any strength. Nippon, in retaliation to your imperialism, tried to free the oriental nations from your punitive bonds, only to be faced by your dogged opposition. You now consider our once friendly Nippon a harmful existence to your luscious plan, a bunch of barbarians that must be exterminated."

". . . Why is it that you, an already flourishing nation, nip in the bud the movement for the freedom of the suppressed nations of the east? . . . The existence of the East Asia co-prosperity sphere does not in any way encroach upon your safety as a nation. On the contrary, it will act as a pillar of world peace insuring the happiness of the world.

Goal Is Peace

"His imperial majesty's [Hirohito's] true aim is no other than the attainment of this everlasting peace . . .

". . . It is beyond my imagination how you can slander Hitler's program and at the same time coöperate with Stalin's soviet Russia, which has as its principal aim the socialization of the world at large. If only brute force decides the rulers of the world, fighting will everlastingly be repeated and never will the world know peace nor happiness . . .

"Upon the attainment of your barbaric world monopoly, never forget to retain in your mind the failure of your predecessor, President Wilson, at his heights."

Crozier said that after writing the letter the admiral committed suicide, but that his body had not been found at the time the dispatch was written on April 4.

POLISH SOCIALIST PARTY IN LONDON SPLITS OVER RULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 10—A split in the ranks of the Polish Socialist party in London, nominally led by Prime Minister Tomasz Arciszewski, was disclosed today in an announcement that many of its members had signed a declaration supporting the provisional government in Warsaw.

Fourteen of the 20 members of the Polish Socialist committee were included among the signatories of the declaration, which insists that the duty of all Poles in Britain is to go to Poland and forget the dissensions of recent years.

Wants Divorce

BARBARA HUTTON GRANT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 (AP)—Barbara Hutton Grant, dime store heiress, filed suit today for divorce from Actor Cary Grant, charging mental cruelty.

The couple married at Lake Arrowhead, Cal., in 1942 and separated, the complaint states, last Feb. 15. She charged the actor inflicted "grievous mental distress, suffering, and anguish" upon her without fault on her part.

They have no children. Mrs. Grant is the former wife of Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, former Danish count, and of Alexis M'Divani, Georgian prince.

YUGOSLAVS SAY 20,000 GREEKS FLEE TERRORISM

LONDON, July 11 [Wednesday]—(AP)—A Yugoslav Telegraph agency dispatch from Belgrade said today the Yugoslav ministry of information had issued a statement charging that more than "20,000" refugees from Greek terrorism have "sought protection" in Yugoslavia.

The dispatch said the statement was issued in reply to a denial by the Greek press undersecretary of charges by Marshal Tito of a reign of terror against Slavs in Greek territory.

"The statement reaffirms the fact," said the telegraph agency, "that groups of refugees from the part of Macedonia under Greek sovereignty are escaping daily across the frontier into Yugoslavia, many of them beaten up and all fleeing from an organized terror and leaving behind their devastated homes."

FRENCH LEFTISTS GAIN IN FIGHT FOR SINGLE CHAMBER

Final Decision Is Left to Referendum

BY ROBERT SAGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 10—The French provisional government's compromise plan for choosing a future constitution of France, altho final decisions will be left to the voters, is regarded as a clear cut victory for the left. The issue of a bicameral versus a unicameral legislature was left up to the voters in general elections slated for Oct. 14.

The decision taken at yesterday's six hour council differs from all others of the De Gaulle cabinet in that it is a bill, whereas previous decisions took the form of ordinance or decree. The bill, which will be submitted to the consultative assembly for its opinion, calls for general elections on Oct. 14 for a national constituent assembly.

Referendum an Issue

Altho the assembly will have certain legislative powers, its principal mission will be to draft a constitution which will be submitted to the vote of the country.

At the same time general elections are held on Oct. 14 the public will be called on to vote in a referendum on the unicameral issue. If the nation approves it, the chamber it elects will serve alone as a national constituent assembly and the 1875 constitution will be automatically scotched. If the outcome of the vote is negative, a two house system will be maintained.

Leftists for One Chamber

Since the first months of liberation the Communists, Socialists, and resistance movements [in nearly all of which the extreme left influence is predominant] have been insisting that the Fourth Republic must abolish the senate to make room for a single chamber. They have persisted in associating the bicameral system with the blunders, weaknesses, and structural defects of the pre-war Third Republic.

The fundamental reason for the left wing hostility to the upper house is that, in their view, the French senate always has been a reactionary body.

FRENCH GROUPS OF RESISTANCE OPEN 4 DAY MEET

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

PARIS, July 10—The 2,400 delegates to "states general of French renaissance" organized by the national council of resistance, today began a four day meeting which will climax on Bastille day, Saturday, with a parade thru the Place de la Concorde to the Bastille.

The Communists, who have been particularly active in organizing gatherings of other left wing groups, intend that this should be a popular demonstration crystallizing the resentment of most of the resistance and left wing groups who allege that Gen. de Gaulle is staving off political and economic reforms they desire.

The resistance council's principal demands are for a continued and an intensified purge, democratization of the army, nationalization of basic industries and action against fascistic organizations surviving under various disguises.

ULLSTEIN SEEKS TO REGAIN HIS BERLIN PLANT

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—Hans Ullstein is attempting to regain possession of the great Ullstein Verlag [publishing house] which the Nazis seized in 1933 on the ground its owners were Jews.

The firm had a pre-war value of about 60,000,000 marks [$24,000,000]. The Nazis agreed to give 12,000,000 marks cash for the properties and gossip at the time said Franz von Papen acted as middleman.

The Ullstein plant was reputed to be the largest in Europe. It published the Vossische Zeitung, the Morgenpost, Berliner Zeitung Am Mittag, various trade papers, Germany's largest pictorial weekly, the Illustrierte Zeitung; various inexpensive books, patterns and maps. It operated a large travel bureau.

Chifly Throws in His Hat for Australian Premier

CANBERRA, Australia, July 10 (AP)—J. B. Chifly, treasurer and minister of post-war reconstruction, said today he would stand for selection as leader of the Labor party succeeding the late Prime Minister John Curtin. Political observers believe he will defeat Francis M. Forde, acting premier, and thereby automatically become prime minister.

SWISS GIFT HELPS DUTCH REBUILD WALCHEREN DAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, July 10—The Dutch island of Walcheren, flooded by the Germans, is receiving a Swiss national gift for war victims, Bern newspapers say.

One hundred ten freight cars carrying materials for 52 barracks have left Les Verrieres, Switzerland, for Holland by way of France. The barracks will shelter Dutch workmen rebuilding the Walcheren dam.

Damage to the dam consists mainly of four breaches 1,000 to 3,300 feet in width that must be rebuilt before autumn storms set in. Otherwise the island, which is below sea level, would be inundated by waters from the sea.

The Swiss will also in the next few days send a gift of medicines, pharmaceutical supplies, and tools, including 1,000 hammers and a ton of nails, to damaged Arnhem, Holland. Five hundred cases of condensed milk for deportees returning to Holland from Germany also will be sent.

CUTTER TO MAKE NEW EFFORT TO GET 11 OUT OF GREENLAND TRAP

NARSARSSUAK, Greenland, July 10 (AP)—Col. Eugene Rice, commander of the Greenland base command, said today a coast guard cutter would attempt this month to relieve and evacuate 11 American soldiers trapped in a bleak weather-radio outpost.

Sgt. Chester A. Mileski

The men have been supplied by air since Jan. 8, when a huge snowslide buried their stores, equipment and all except one of their buildings in Skjoldungen, tiny outpost on the east coast of Greenland. Among them are Sgt. Chester A. Mileski, 2217 N. Kildare av., Chicago; Corp. Edwin A. English, Bushnell, Ill., and T/4 Ralph N. Clark, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Two other vessels are scheduled to leave Narsarssuak this month to relocate the barracks, warehouse, and power house at Skjoldungen.

CHARGES RUSSIA GOT U. S. ARMS AFTER V-E DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10—Hundreds of tons of lend-lease arms were still being shipped into Russia from the Persian gulf many days after V-E day, when the soviets were no longer in the war, Rep. Wilson [R., Ind.] told the house today.

Rep. Wilson

Wilson, who recently returned from an overseas inspection tour, declared he found this condition to be a source of major concern to American soldiers abroad.

"None of this equipment would be accepted by the Russians until it was put in A-1 condition," he continued. "If there was a screw gone on a truck or a nut off a tank or some paint scratched off a gun barrel, these things had to be put in 100 per cent perfect condition before they would be accepted by the Russian government. We were meeting such demands."

Hundreds of our soldiers are "sick and tired" of staying in Persia, with its 125 degree temperature, just to handle lend-lease shipments to Russia, after the European war is over," Wilson said.

There is "strong evidence," he added, that much of the lend-lease material laboriously sent to China is "being rat-holed somewhere in China."

Wilson declared these and other bungled instances abroad are an indictment of America's corps of "tin soldier diplomats" overseas.

Wilson also charged that the Russians stripped American soldiers they liberated from German prison camps of watches, wallets, and clothing before releasing them to American jurisdiction.

"These boys," he told the house, "spent months and months in German prison camps where they were allowed to keep their wrist watches, finger rings, fountain pens, wallets, and so forth.

"Upon liberation by the Russians, these boys were searched and practically all these personal possessions were taken away from them. The Russians even took their much needed overcoats and blankets necessary in that climate."

CIO SEAMEN'S UNION PICKETS OFFICE OF WAR SHIPPING HEAD

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Pickets of the CIO National Maritime union, protesting a proposed cut in seamen's bonuses, paraded today in front of the commerce department building housing the office of Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, war shipping administrator.

The bonus cut has been ordered by the maritime war emergency board, an arbitration group created by the ship operators and unions. Land is not a member of the maritime board and it is not a part of the war shipping administration.

75 IN PICKET LINE HERE

Approximately 75 pickets yesterday were on duty in front of the war shipping administration offices at 844 Rush st. The union said the pickets were seamen awaiting shipping orders and members of the union's auxiliary. Joseph Babin, acting port agent for the union here, said the picketing was going on in 45 cities thruout the country.

U. S. PUBLISHES A 2 POUND BOOK ON DRAFT TREND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10—Rep. Andresen [R., Minn.] said today the government has used 14,000 pounds of high grade paper to publish a "worthless" book at a time when it is urging citizens to conserve every scrap of paper.

The congressman showed the house the 666 page book, printed on slick paper, and titled "selective service as the trend of the war turns." Andresen said copies of the book are sent chiefly to draft board members.

"It is time for the government to practice what it preaches," Andresen said. "This book weighs more than two pounds, and 65,000 copies have been printed. It is utterly worthless. The worst part is that it is so expensively gotten up, with pictures, charts, etc. People won't throw it away even tho they won't read it. If they threw the book away they would be salvaged for scrap and made into new paper."

Poor Digestion? YES NO

Headachy? ☐☐

Sour or Upset? ☐☐

Tired-Listless? ☐☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any druggist. Only 25¢.

A REAL NO-MAN; CHOICE EXCUSES CAN'T SWAY HIM

Air Priorities Boss Here Occupies a Hot Spot

For the last three years Maj. James L. McEvoy, 38, has been listening to the pleas of civilians seeking priorities for air travel out of Chicago and other parts of the middle west.

As commanding officer of the air transport command's regional air priorities office at 27 E. Monroe st. he has heard some good excuses, he said yesterday, but he knows how to say no.

He cited the case of a young woman who thought she was entitled to a plane seat to the west coast so she could arrive in California in time to lead her race horses from a box car. The horses had been shipped from Chicago several days previously.

Horses Denied Her Aid

Their owner represented to Maj. McEvoy that only her gentle hand was sufficiently skilled to guide the animals down the ramp on their way to the afternoon's pari mutuels.

No, she didn't get the priority, nor do many persons whose proposed air trips are unrelated to the war effort get one either, Maj. McEvoy said. The only exceptions made in the case of civilians, he explained, are those which have to do with saving life or transporting a parent to the bedside of a son or daughter critically ill at an army or naval hospital in this country.

In the latter instance, a message from the patient alone is not sufficient to warrant issuance of the permit. A telegram from the commanding officer of the hospital must attest necessity for the parent's presence. Such messages usually are sent, Maj. McEvoy related, only when the patient is near death and calling for close relatives.

Ailing Civilians Eligible

Maj. McEvoy's office also is empowered to grant an air priority to any seriously ill civilian whose physician will certify in writing that he or she cannot be kept from imminent death thru local medical skill or facilities.

About a year ago Maj. McEvoy authorized air transportation to New York for a young woman suffering from leukemia. Her Chicago doctor said the trip was necessary to obtain treatment available only in the eastern city.

Maj. McEvoy's office issues approximately 800 air priorities each month. The permits are for critical cargo as well as persons. He said his office, which is one of 20 similar air transport posts scattered thruout the country, has kept railroads and air lines operating and halted the shutdown of war plant assembly lines.

Machine Parts Speeded

It has accomplished such feats, he reported, by speeding the delivery of vital machine parts. It aided in the distribution of penicillin before that miracle drug became generally available.

Civilians should realize, he explained, that few persons not making a vital contribution to prosecution of the war are entitled to air travel priorities. The argument that they must follow the sun for their health is not sufficient.

"We tell them that tho we would like to go with them, we can do nothing for them," he said.

Maj. McEvoy was born in Mendota, La Salle county. Prior to entering the army he was Chicago district traffic manager of Chicago & Southern Air Lines, Inc.

Canteen with Coffee Bar to Open in Fort Sheridan

A Red Cross canteen, with a lounge and a coffee, milk and doughnut bar, will be dedicated at 4 p. m. today in Fort Sheridan. The new center occupies an entire building at the post and was suggested by Brig. Gen. J. T. Pierce, the commandant. Red Cross Gray Ladies will operate the canteen.

Fined in Gambling

Fines were levied by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the State St. court yesterday against two men charged with gambling:

Carmen Carducci, 20, of 1022 S. Winchester av., arrested last Saturday at 806 Arthington st., was fined $50 and $10 costs on a charge of keeping a gaming house. Irving Lafayette, 42, Negro, of 4130 Prairie av., arrested Monday at 4703 Prairie av., was fined $100 and $10 costs, also on a keeper charge.

Judge Dougherty said the courts alone cannot suppress gambling. However, he said, if the people really want liberalized gambling laws then strict enforcement of existing laws may make them articulate enough to demand more liberal statutes.

NO ORGANIZED GAMBLING HERE, MAYOR ASSERTS

Mayor Kelly denied yesterday that organized gambling is running in Chicago. The lid is on and will stay on, he asserted. The mayor's statement followed charges by the Chicago Crime commission that the old syndicate hoodlums were back at their old stands.

"You'll find gambling popping up all the time in any city, but in Chicago today none of it is organized," the mayor said. He added that he was pleased with the police department under Commissioner Allman. Mayor Kelly's statements were made from his summer home at Eagle River, Wis.

State's Atty. Tuohy also denied the existence of syndicate gambling. In his opinion, he said, the old Capone-Nitti-Guzik syndicate was out of business. However, private investigators suggested that individuals of the outfit may still be operating, especially on the south side.

CALL ON CHICAGO AS BLOOD DONOR FOR MIDDLE WEST

Chicago has the responsibility of keeping the blood and plasma lifeline flowing to the Pacific for the entire middle west.

The blood donor center maintained by the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross at 5 N. Wabash av. is the only one of the remaining 11 centers located far inland. The others are in cities in the east and west.

After V-E day the army and navy reduced demands for whole blood and plasma from 90,000 to 45,000 pints a week. Basil O'Connor, national chairman of the Red Cross, announced the closing May 19 of 19 of the 30 blood donor centers thruout the country. Left operating were centers in the 11 cities which had, according to O'Connor's announcement, "repeatedly demonstrated their ability to provide" blood and plasma to supply the Pacific.

Job for Chicagoans

In Chicago, the job of giving the blood falls to Chicagoans. Donors are not encouraged to come from distances exceeding 50 miles. That Chicagoans are living up to their task is best told in Monday's blood donors, who were 87 per cent "repeaters" and more of them had given a gallon than a pint previously.

Statistics for the entire period of the blood bank here show that approximately 55 per cent of the donors are women. Among the 15 top donors of 20 pints each, however, men outnumber the women 12 to 3.

The center is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily and until 4 p. m. Saturdays. It is advisable to telephone Wabash 7850 to make an appointment. This isn't necessary, however, for 25 per cent of the donors are "walk ins."

The general rule is that any adult in normal health may be a donor. Medical members of the staff of 50, which is augmented by 75 volunteers, pass on fitness. Any one suffering from an active cold should postpone his appointment for a week, and a donor should wait six months after a major operation.

Blood Leaves Here Daily

Pregnant donors are not accepted, and neither is a woman who has had a child within the previous nine months.

The Chicago service, of which John R. Winterbotham is chairman, opened Feb. 2, 1942, and 630,034 pints of blood had been given by June 30, 1945. Whole blood is flown out of Chicago daily and landed in Guam, via naval air transport, three days later.

Center workers say civilians would rush to make appointments if they could observe the parade of service men, home on furlough, eager to give their blood. They give, the men say, because they know what it means—life itself to countless men, the joy of living to come home again.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

July 11—The Burr-Hamilton Duel

In the early morning hours of July 11, 1804, the Vice President of the United States, Aaron Burr, crossed the Hudson river from Manhattan to Weehawken, N. J. With a companion, William P. Van Ness, Burr climbed up the bank to a shelf of level land and began clearing away the brush.

Soon another boat approached whose principal passenger, as distinguished as Burr himself, was Alexander Hamilton, Revolutionary war officer and secretary of the treasury under Washington. Hamilton was arriving at Weehawken on this radiant summer morning to keep the final engagement of his life.

Pistols were brought out, 10 paces were measured off, and Burr and Hamilton confronted each other. For the latter, this spot and these maneuvers were full of melancholy associations, for his eldest son had died in a duel at Weehawken three years before.

Hamilton's second, Nathaniel Pendleton, gave the signal to fire. Two shots were fired. Hamilton slumped to the ground. Burr was not hit. Pendleton and a Dr. Hosack succeeded in getting Hamilton down to his boat and across the river to his New York home, where he died the next day.

Because witnesses of the duel disagreed as to its details, it is not known who fired first or whether Hamilton ever actually fired at Burr.

Burr and Hamilton were bitter political enemies. The former, goaded by what had seemed to him Hamilton's determination to sabotage his opportunities for political and other preferment, seized upon some defamatory remarks which Hamilton was said to have made about him and demanded satisfaction. Failing to receive it, he issued a challenge.

The duel ended Burr's brilliant career as effectively as it did Hamilton's. Altho Burr was only 48 [a year older than Hamilton] in 1804, and altho he lived to be 80, the outcry that followed the duel virtually banished him from public life. His reputation was sullied still further when the charge of treason was brought against him for an alleged plan to separate the western states from the union. He was tried and found not guilty, but in the mind of the public some doubt remained.

MUSIC FESTIVAL DANCERS HOLD 1ST REHEARSAL

More than 200 girls met yesterday at 11 a. m. in the Ideal Dancing studios, 3907 Madison st., for their first rehearsal of the Chicago Music Festival dance pageant, which will be a feature of the festival Saturday night, Aug. 18, in Soldiers' Field. Many of the younger girls were accompanied by their mothers.

Miss Mayblossom Macdonald, director of the festival dance, assisted by Mrs. Ermie Schultz of the Schultz Dancing Academy, 6601 Halsted st., instructed the girls in the steps of the dance, which has been named "The Buckingham Fountain."

A rehearsal for south and southwest side dancers will be held at 11 a. m. today in Mrs. Schultz's school. On each Tuesday morning the girls will practice at the Ideal school and on each Wednesday morning with Mrs. Schultz.

A final rehearsal will be held Friday night, Aug. 17, in Soldiers' Field.

The dancers will be accompanied by the Festival Symphony orchestra, directed by Henry Weber.

Classes for older girls who are employed during the day are being arranged by Mrs. Schultz for Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock and by Miss Macdonald for Thursdays at 7 p. m.

FOUR ENJOINED FOR SLAUGHTER OVER OPA QUOTA

Temporary injunctions against four lamb slaughterers of nonfederally inspected plants were issued in federal District court yesterday, restraining them from further slaughtering until they have complied with quota regulations. The suits, filed by the Chicago area office of price administration, were the first under a regulation setting quotas for nonfederally inspected plants. It went into effect April 30.

The orders were entered by Judge William J. Campbell, who set July 20 for hearing before Judge Walter J. LaBuy.

Those accused of exceeding quotas were Peter Colias, Colias Brothers, 748 S. Halsted st., charged with exceeding a monthly quota of 16,330 pounds by 100,000 pounds in May and 79,000 pounds in June; Gus and Angello Psichalinos, Psichalinos Brothers, 644 Blue Island av.; Salvatore and Joseph Musilliami, Nea-Agora Packing company, 746 Blue Island av., and William Nicholo, Arcadia Packing company, 727 Blue Island av.

Cashes Bogus $74 Check in 5 and 10 Cent Store

Drop Charges of Buying Counterfeit Meat Coupons

On the motion of the government, United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday dismissed charges of purchasing counterfeit meat ration coupons against four grocery and meat market operators. The defendants were Leo A. Crimmins, operator of the Englewood Sausage company, 6151 Wentworth av.; Van J. Martewicz, owner of a meat market at 8955 Commercial av.; Stanley A. Mazeaska, operator of the California grocery, 2878 Archer av., and Harry Wasiele, copartner in a grocery and meat market at 5100 Winona st.

KEESHIN HAILS LSTs AS AID IN TRUCK FERRIES

Advocates Co-operative Plan After War

BY GEORGE TAGGE

Envisioned post-war use of navy LSTs [landing ships, tanks] in lake ferry service offers interesting possibilities for commercial truckers, J. L. Keeshin, president of Keeshin Motor Express Company, Inc., said yesterday.

Should these war time "floating garages" become available at bargain prices, there will be a great opportunity to establish truck ferry lines, Keeshin predicted. Keeshin a few years ago wanted to pioneer in fast passenger boat service on the Chicago river, but was stopped by federal red tape.

"Up to now we have been standing by to see what happens," said the operator of 2,000 trucks. "After the war we should develop lake opportunities. Innumerable advantages are waiting: Lower costs at a time when we face higher operating costs, reduction of road hazards that otherwise are likely to increase, and so on."

Keeshin Asks Coöperative Plan

A coöperative plan enlisting the efforts of truckers and boat lines is the way to attack the problem with full force, Keeshin said. It is regrettable that, during the rubber shortage which has compelled some truck companies to shut down, the lake ferry idea cannot be pursued at once, he added.

Truck ferry service is used only slightly now, between Milwaukee and other lake coast cities across to Michigan.

M. M. Cronk, general manager of the Pere Marquette railroad, which has a lake shipping division, said six ships carry passenger automobiles, passengers, and railroad cars. He expressed belief that LSTs would not be practical for ferrying trucks, pointing out that Pere Marquette service has to be maintained thruout the worst seasons with regularity essential. LSTs are only half as long as the ships designed to carry railway cars, he commented.

Heavy Loads Big Difficulty

"A single loaded freight car may weigh 140,000 pounds," Cronk said. "On an LST we might be able to carry less than half as many cars as we do now, and still need crews almost as large."

No railroad ferry service has a Chicago terminal, he said, because at present the city lacks necessary supporting facilities. The Grand Trunk railroad has three ships plying between Milwaukee, Wis., and Muskegon, Mich., carrying railway cars and passengers, but not automobiles.

Several truckers said that fair volume developed on a ferry line between Detroit, Mich., and Cleveland, O., until labor troubles developed.

"I got back just in time. They were about to make a sissy out of him."

REPORT OWI SET TO RUN RADIO IN LUXEMBURG

Will Take Over After SHAEF Dissolves

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 10—The office of war information is negotiating to take over Radio Luxemburg on behalf of the United States government when supreme headquarters winds up, it was reported here tonight. SHAEF has been operating the station, described as the second most powerful in Europe.

Radio Luxemburg was captured intact last September by a special task force of the American 12th army group acting under the direction of the psychological warfare division. Since then it has been under the control of Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, with Col. William S. Paley as deputy chief, and for some months past has relayed British Broadcasting corporation programs and OWI transmissions from New York.

Plan Central Programs

W. H. Webber, deputy director of the OWI in London, said, according to the News Chronicle, that it was planned to use Luxemburg initially as a central programming station for radio transmitters in the American zone. Later it is expected that the programs will be moved to transmitters in Germany itself.

Webber said that Luxemburg will relay the Voice of America programs from the United States and that both the BBC and the French government may be given relay facilities if desired.

Webber declared that there will be no commercial, sponsored broadcasts over Luxemburg. Asked how long the OWI will control the station, he pointed out that the OWI charter is for the war period, including the Pacific war, plus a further period not exceeding six months.

Report Dublin Time Sought

LONDON, July 11 [Reuters]—American, Canadian, and British broadcasting concerns have made "tempting" offers for the use of radio Eireann, the London Daily Mail reported today.

One concern named is the Columbia Broadcasting System of America, which was stated by the Mail a few days ago to be angling for program time on Radio Luxemburg.

Agents from all three organizations have alreday been in Dublin, it added, and if they can devise a scheme for broadcasting programs in the Irish language—Gaelic—they may be granted radio time at large fees.

U. S. CAMERA MAN ON PLOESTI RAID RETURNS HOME

Jerry Joswick

The only air force camera man to return from the raid over the Ploesti [Romania] oil fields, Jerry Joswick, 22, is back in Chicago content, he said yesterday, to carry on his photographic career in his home town. He was discharged with 205 points, compiled from three and one-half years' service with additional credit for the distinguished flying cross with cluster, the air medal with nine clusters, bronze star with two clusters, and 12 campaign stars.

He also has been notified that he is to receive a decoration for participation in the rescue of wounded Americans from the east bank of the Rhine in a feat of glider snatching.

"When they briefed us for the Ploesti raid, they told us it was a job that would require two land armies and that if we got the bombs on the target we would have done a great thing if none of us got back," Joswick said.

"Our group sent 25 bombers. Three returned. I made 700 feet of movie film."

House Group Defeats $1,040 Veterans Bonus

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—A proposal for an outright bonus of $1,040 for any honorably discharged serviceman who had been in uniform 90 days or longer was rejected today by the house veterans committee. Introduced by Chairman Rankin [D., Miss.] as an amendment to the GI bill of rights it called for payment of $20 a week for one year.

MEDAL WINNER DISCHARGED

Fort George G. Meade, Md., July 10 [AP]—T/Sgt. Jake William Lindsey, 24, Lucedale, Miss., the 100th infantryman of World War II to receive the congressional medal of honor, was honorably discharged today from the army at Fort Meade with 133 points to his credit.

7,930 IN ILLINOIS RECEIVE $858,686 FROM VETS' FUND

An estimated 7,930 men and women veterans of World War II in Illinois have received a total of $858,686 in readjustment allowances, the equivalent of unemployment compensation, since the GI bill of rights became effective last September, Robert L. Gordon, state director of labor, said yesterday.

A total of 43,548 weekly checks have been issued since September. More than 125,000 veterans had returned to civilian life by July 1, Gordon said.

Two hundred twenty-seven veterans who are self-employed have received benefits amounting to $28,842. Self-employed veterans may receive the difference between their net income and $100 a month if their income is lower than $100.

JOHNSON'S PLAN ON GARBAGE: PUT IT OUT IN FRONT

A council subcommittee today will be urged in a report by Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, to order curb collections of garbage instead of using alleys for the purpose.

Johnson's recommendation will be in response to a request by the subcommittee, headed by Ald. Grealis [44th], that he submit a comprehensive report on the garbage problem in Chicago.

"Householders feel little restraint in ducking out to the alley and dumping a newspaper full of garbage on the ground," Johnson said yesterday. "Curb collections would put a stop to that. Nobody would risk the scorn of his neighbors by dumping garbage into the street."

Rat Control Aid Seen

Such a program, he said, would tend to keep alleys clean by cutting off their supply of refuse and would aid in rat control. The largest single dietary item available to rats now is garbage, he said.

Johnson's report also will advocate city distribution of garbage containers thru ward offices. The containers should be paid for, however, by their users, the report said. Otherwise the city would have to pay close to 2 million dollars every three years for garbage cans.

Police Detail Proposed

Containers should be sturdy and of 20 to 30 gallon capacity, Johnson said, and the ordinance should not specify metal, as post-war development may produce a plastic or other material that is even better than metal, Johnson said.

Present ordinances should be amended to put teeth into them, the report suggested. They should be enforced by the police department, it was proposed, with one policeman in each ward given responsibility.

The city also should institute a single shift collection system, and should acquire enough equipment to make this possible, the report urged. Collection trucks should be of closed construction; open bodied trucks leave a wake of wind blown papers and dirt, Johnson said.

RECORDING FIRM ENGINEERS IDLE IN WAGE DISPUTE

Cutting of recordings at the Columbia Recording corporation studios in Chicago, New York, and Hollywood was halted yesterday for the third day because of a wage dispute involving its technicians.

Kenneth Raine, counsel for the company, a subsidiary of the Columbia Broadcasting system, said in New York that 19 engineers and record cutters in the three cities failed to report for work after radio broadcast engineers union 1212, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL], declined a 10 to 20 per cent wage increase without other concessions. Two engineers in the Chicago studios were absent from their jobs.

Charles A. Calame, union business agent in New York, said the contract negotiations, begun in February, broke down. He added IBEW radio station engineers had refused to play Columbia recordings over CBS stations as a sympathy gesture. A spokesman for WBBM, CBS outlet here, reported that Columbia recordings were being played on the station.

195 BUSES, 200 STREET CARS BEING BUILT FOR CHICAGO SURFACE LINES

For years we have been wanting them, now they're really started. The Government has said, "O.K.", contracts have been let and production is under way on 395 of the swiftest, smoothest, safest street cars and buses that modern designers have been able to conceive.

This $6,559,665 contract is Surface Lines' start in creating a new standard of comfortable and convenient transportation for Chicago. Fourteen of the buses already have been delivered, more are expected this summer. Everything possible is being done to hurry the rest. Delivery on the street cars has been promised for late 1945 and early 1946.

During recent years, CSL service hasn't always been up to the standard we would like it to have been. It wasn't due to a lack of effort, however. Your neighbors in CSL uniforms have worked extra hours, often have given up days of rest, to keep transportation rolling. But wartime shortages have proved a serious handicap. With new equipment and more men to operate it, we're looking forward to the time when you can depend upon finding a street car or bus where you want it, when you want it.

MEN WANTED RIGHT NOW
Hundreds of conductors and trolley pilots are needed to keep present equipment running. It's an important job, for without transportation, war production is bound to lag. So enlist now in CSL and help get war-workers to the factories and home again. Steady work.

HOLD CITY MUST EARMARK RENTS ON CONGRESS ST.

State Says Cash Belongs to Motor Fund

BY WILLIAM STRAND

Money collected by the city for rental of property which has been condemned for widening Congress street must be used for the benefit of Chicago motorists and no other purpose, Illinois state officials said yesterday. They said they will oppose any attempt to divert this new income, estimated at nearly $250,000 a year, to meet operating expenses of the city government.

Purchase of the land was financed thru the city's share of motor fuel tax funds. The state experts contend that any profits accruing to the city treasury from the operation should be treated the same as the original tax money collected from motorists.

Would Violate Basic Law

To do otherwise would go beyond mere bad fiscal practice, asserted State Rep. Noble W. Lee [R., Chicago], dean of the John Marshall Law school.

"It would violate basic precepts of Illinois law," he said. "The gas tax revenue is for highway purposes and until a few years ago it was so strictly guarded that it was diverted only for the relief emergency.

"It is fundamental in law that the income follows the principal. This was the crux of the famous Gov. Small case, in which he contended he needed to return only the principal of the flood funds, but in which the court held he could not divert the interest.

"Morally Earmarked"

"Furthermore, since the legislature has just granted the city an increase in its pegged levy for the corporate fund, from 37 to 41 millions, any such diversion as this would be a bald imposition. The money from these properties is at least morally earmarked for a special purpose."

The rent collections from the condemned properties, already totaling $172,800, are held in a special fund, members of the city controler's office said, pending negotiations with the state as to how the money is to be used. However, several aldermen have recently said the fund is not actually a gas tax fund, therefore it would make a handy cash addition to help defray city operating expenses.

Firms Paid 5 Per Cent

Acquisition of the property already has lopped approximately $185,000 off the tax rolls. At least eight real estate firms have been hired to manage the properties. The firms are paid 5 per cent of the gross collections on the properties.

So far, it is estimated, these firms have received nearly $20,000 in commissions. The city's income from these sources is expected to be more than $20,000 a month when all the property is taken. This would mean an additional $12,500 or more a year for the real estate firms.

The bulk of the income is from properties east of the river where the city has 46 parcels of real estate between State st. and the river. The properties cost the city $2,874,000. The rest of the property, 235 parcels, which will cost an estimated $2,375,000 when acquired, is west of the river between Des Plaines st. and Ashland av.

BILL TO EXEMPT VETERANS FROM UNIONS SHELVED

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.] hit a snag in his own veterans' committee today in his fight for legislation to waive "closed shop" regulations for war veterans.

Altho the committee approved last Friday the chairman's bill to permit veterans to work anywhere without joining a union or paying union dues. A majority of its members assailed the legislation today. Last week's committee action, they said privately, was taken without full consideration and with more than half of the members absent.

The 11 who signed a "minority report" represent a majority of the 21 member committee, and one of them, Rep. Scrivner [R., Kas.], told reporters several more signers could be obtained.

The split in the committee was expected to force postponement of house consideration of the legislation until at least next fall.

SUPER-HIGHWAY BOARD ILLEGAL, COURT DECREES

Springfield, Ill., July 10 (AP)—A 1943 act creating the Illinois superhighway commission was held unconstitutional today by the Sangamon county Circuit court.

Judge Lawrence E. Stone ruled it "sets up a super government responsible to nobody and whose acts and conduct are reviewable by nobody."

The case probably will be appealed to the state Supreme court, the attorney general's office said. The five member commission appointed by Gov. Green was empowered to issue revenue bonds for construction and operation of toll super-highways.

Judge Stone's decision, which upheld a challenge by State's Atty. John W. Curren of Sangamon county, ordered the commissioners ousted from office. They are John J. Schommer, Chicago, chairman; G. Harder Binz, Chicago; Charles A. Jean, Anna; William M. Marks, Lake Villa, and E. L. Simmons, Decatur.

SABATH BLOCKS EFFORT TO PRINT BLAST AT ICKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10 — A criticism of Interior Secretary Ickes and the war relocation authority for "deceptive and diversionary tactics in disseminating false and misleading information" was barred from the Congressional Record today by the objection of Rep. Sabath [D., Ill.].

Sabath's action caused astonishment because he consistently uses the record to have printed at public expense attacks upon those in opposition to his views.

The Illinois congressman jumped to his feet when Acting Chairman Rankin [D., Miss.] of the house committee on un-American activities sought to insert in the record a copy of the June 14 report of the California legislature's fact finding committee inquiring into subversive activities in that state.

The conclusion of the committee, Rankin observed, was that Secretary Ickes and the WRA have indulged in trickery to obscure the Japanese issue.

WPB Appeals to Farmers for Ash and Hickory Logs

The war production board yesterday asked farmers near Chicago to produce as many ash and hickory logs as possible and make them available to handle manufacturers. The farm source has almost disappeared during the war, WPB said.

CURBS ON FUEL OIL EQUIPMENT REVIVED BY WPB

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—The war production board today reestablished control over the sale and installation of oil burning equipment, attributing the action to tightness of the fuel oil supply.

The order, asked by the petroleum administration for war, prohibits the sale or installation of oil burning equipment for heating except to replace equipment that is worn out, damaged beyond repair, or destroyed.

Another exemption permits installation in cases where approval has been obtained from the PAW or the office of price administration.

Take Another Look

(If you think Japan can't last)

JAPAN has been thought of generally as a short-war nation—lacking the resources for a long one.

But take a look at just one Japanese hide-away—Manchuria. The Japs grabbed it from China in 1931.

It's more than twice as big as Germany. About 60 times as big as Massachusetts. It has one of the richest soils in the world—producing vast quantities of wheat, corn, soy beans, rice, food.

It is rich in coal, magnesite, iron, metals. It is forested with great areas of trees for lumber.

What have the Japs been doing in this lush and ample land? They have been hustling—for 14 years. They have industrialized Manchuria beyond belief.

They have developed its railways, its vast forests, its great mines. They have built huge power plants and factories and mills. They have made Manchuria a mighty arsenal.

From its mills pour foods and shoes and clothing. From its factories roll planes and guns and tanks.

How much? How many? No one can say. But enough to keep Japan at war for years. And this is just one Japanese hide-away—just one bustling corner of an empire that is 5,000 miles long and 3,000 miles wide.

Just one of Japan's arsenals—twice as big as all Germany. Can Japan fight a long war? Well—we leave it to you.

And says General Joseph W. Stilwell—

"The Jap is a shrewd soldier and a tricky enemy. His fighting tricks are countless. He has been learning them for years under the constant, unrelenting system that makes him such a dangerous opponent. The Jap is a tough, determined soldier. Japs will not surrender in masses like the Germans. We must even count on fanatical opposition from the civilian population."

11,109 VETERANS RETURN TO U. S. ABOARD 4 SHIPS

List Names of Hundreds from Chicagoland

35,000 Due Today

New York, July 10 (AP)—The liner Queen Mary and seven other transports are scheduled to arrive tomorrow with more than 35,000 troops. Some 7,000 Canadians will be aboard the Queen Mary along with 8,642 United States troops. Other ships: John Ericsson, 7,493 troops; West Point, 7,607; James Parker, 3,011; Andrew Hamilton, 359; John Stevens, 368; Thomas Page, 363, and Alfred Moore, 412.

New York, July 10 [Special]—Four troopships today brought home 11,109 European war veterans.

They were the Hermitage, which brought 5,852 members of the 4th [Ivy] division that spearheaded the Normandy invasion; the Sea Pike, which brought 2,616; the Hawaiian Shipper, which brought 2,259, and the Tristam Dalton, which brought 382.

Aboard the Hermitage were the division's headquarters company, the 8th infantry regiment, and four artillery battalions—the 29th, 42d, 44th, and 20th.

The Sea Pike troops included the 3d cavalry reconnaissance squadron, mechanized; the 86th chemical mortar battalion, the 633d tank destroyer battalion, the 665th field artillery battalion, and seven men and three officers of the 767th field artillery battalion.

The 838th ordnance depot company, 3463d ordnance medium maintenance company, 77th ordnance battalion headquarters, and the 6840th quartermasters drivers detachment also returned.

WAC TESTIFIES SHE FOUGHT 3 IN RAPE BATTLE

A 23 year old WAC private from Oklahoma testified yesterday in Criminal court at the trial of three Chicago men charged with raping her May 23 that "they slapped me around but I screamed and fought until I was tired out."

She said the attacks occurred after she accepted a ride to a railroad station with the men at 1:30 a. m. When she learned that the next train to her camp would not leave until 7 a. m., she agreed to let the men show her the town, and they attacked her in a garage, she testified. Capt. Lawson J. Clark of Gardiner General hospital said an examination disclosed that the WAC had been raped.

Nick W. Malatesta, 18, of 5421 Harrison st., one of the defendants, testified that the WAC told them she had been out with a cab driver before she met them. He denied that he or the other defendants, Anthony Giampa, 23, of 840 Lytle st., and Peter Ottomanelli, 17, of 1356 Taylor st., attacked her. The case is expected to be given to the jury today by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward.

17% SLIP 'TWIXT CATTLE IN YARDS AND OUT ON FEED

BY GAIL COMPTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Kansas City, Mo., July 10—Here is some arithmetic that may show the city person where his steaks have gone.

Stocker and feeder cattle, in stock yard language, are animals that normally go to midwestern feed lots to have poundage added to them. They are the frame for beef production.

Receipts of such cattle in eight corn belt stock yards from January to May this year total 531,357 head. This is 25 per cent more than last year.

17 Per Cent Missing

Yet the feed lots show only an 8 per cent increase in cattle on feed. Thus 25 per cent more came into the stock yards, but only 8 per cent more than before showed up in the feed lots. This leaves 17 per cent to be accounted for.

The answer was given by local ranchers, commission men, and feeders.

"These missing lightweight animals either have been slaughtered by the packers or they have wound up in the black market," they said. "When slaughtered they represent a big loss in beef poundage to the nation. When they go to the black market they mean not only a loss in poundage, but also an increase in the housewife's meat bill."

New Buyers Appear

Since office of price administration regulations went into effect many new cattle buyers have appeared in the market here. Paying prices that make the animals prohibitive to the farmer, they buy cattle that should go to the feed lots. Where these cattle really go is not known. Many of them wind up behind a barn where they are knocked over the head and sold at black market prices, cattle men said.

The feeder subsidy, evoked in the hope that it would enable farmers to feed cattle at profit, has worked in reverse and denied feeders a chance of getting animals, Lester Ryon, manager of the Producers' Commission association, said.

The subsidy is 50 cents a hundredweight, payable on cattle weighing 800 pounds or more and selling for a certain price. Both the weight and the price have been set so low, however, that the subsidy has resulted in the packer paying it direct to the range man or grass feeder.

Cattle Bypass Feeder

As a result, the corn belt feeder sees the packer outbidding him by 50 cents a hundred for cattle normally destined for the feed lot.

"The OPA has cost the nation millions of dollars on its meat bill because it has made the black market profitable," Paul Thompson, Indiana cattle beeder, said. "Add to this results of the feeder subsidy and you know why meat is hard to get."

"Most cattle men interviewed predicted that unless the feeder subsidy is changed quickly it will result in less instead of more and will wreck what is left of the feeding cattle business.

Deputy Gets Urgent Call from Missus—It's Twins!

Deputy Sheriff Frank J. Kaziausky of Lake county was patroling his district late Monday night when he got an emergency call. He hurried to his home in Fox Lake and took his wife, Lillian, to St. Therese's hospital in Waukegan. A few minutes later, at 12:15 a. m., she gave birth to a 5 pound 12 ounce boy. Six minutes later a 5 pound 7 dunce girl was born. The Kaziauskys named the children Richard Edward and Sandra Lee.

How Close Is Television?

Not to be recommended to advertisers for commercial use next week—that's admitted.

But not so far away that the alert advertiser or agency can comfortably ignore it as something to be considered in the dim, distant future.

The Midwest was criticized in Billboard last month for failure to be awake to the present stage of television development. The article named Henri, Hurst & McDonald as the one Chicago agency actively engaged in experimental program activity.

It's true this agency is doing work along these lines. We hope it's not true that this is the only Chicago agency so engaged.

Television is close enough to think about, talk about and do some planning about . . . if you are interested.

HOW ABOUT PRODUCING THE PEACE?

The senate foreign relations committee has begun hearings on the united nations charter. The charter is concerned with the preservation of the peace, once it is attained, but the first order of business is to get the peace. The charter would look a little better if even one of the other 49 signing nations would give us a little real help against Japan. How can we expect them to help keep the peace if first they won't help us get it?

CIVIL SERVICE IS A RACKET

The only man in Washington who has spoken out clearly and effectively against the monstrous federal burocracy has been fired from the government service for his pains. He is Col. Edward J. McCormack, staff director of the house civil service committee. The firing was done by Rep. Robert Ramspeck of Georgia, chairman and the New Deal majority of the committee.

Col. McCormack was dismissed while congress was at the point of passing a bill, since signed into law by President Truman, granting an average 15.9 per cent base pay raise to 1,200,000 federal payrollers, plus time and one-half overtime. This legislation was entirely different from the moderate pay increase granted at the same time to postal employes, who had not received a raise since 1925 and certainly merited consideration.

McCormack's offense was to challenge Ramspeck, who also happens to be the New Deal whip in the house, and Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming of the civil service commission. Flemming testified no less than 19 times before the house committee considering the pay raise that salary increases within the burocracy during the war emergency did not exceed 4.2 per cent. Col. McCormack rebutted this testimony with a report which Rep. Ramspeck promptly suppressed. Its contents were withheld from both the public and members of the house.

Some inkling as to what McCormack had said finally saw the light of day when Rep. Noah Mason of Illinois read into the Congressional Record a letter written by McCormack to the members of the house civil service committee. In that letter McCormack referred to Flemming's figure of 4.2 per cent as "residual statistical sludge," termed Flemming's 28 page defense of his testimony as "false in fact and effect," and said Flemming and Ramspeck had placed him "under attack because I dared report the facts as my staff has found them."

The letter said that, counting within-grade promotions, grade promotions, and transfers, payrollers employed by the civil service commission itself have received increases in pay which averaged, not 4.2 per cent, but 27 per cent. Only 10 per cent of all federal employes surveyed had received less than one grade promotion, and the remaining 90 per cent received from one to 10 promotions.

"A large percentage of employes in war agencies," McCormack stated, "have received over five grade promotions. Many employes have averaged from 30 to 68 per cent increase in salary during the war period. This increase has been in addition to 20 per cent increase due to overtime pay. . . . The pay legislation is said to involve $736,000,000. As a matter of cold fact, when the agencies and employes exempted or not covered are brought under the legislation by administrative or executive order, the legislation will involve in excess of 1 billion dollars.

"We can be amused momentarily by the remark, 'What's a billion between friends?' But the humor dies when we realize that this billion comes from the pennies, the dimes, quarters, and dollars of the so-called 'little people.' But are they 'little people'? The answer can be found in the sons they have sent off to die; the daughters who nurse the jungle fever-ridden; the battleships, the carriers, the submarines, and the planes that they have built; the masses of steel and men that they have thrown across the seas, the airways, and the beaches. No, the answer is thunderous, those are not little people—no people were ever greater—none ever so much deserved honesty and integrity in government. This is their billion."

For this frankness Col. McCormack, an artillery officer in the first World war, the father of two sons fighting in this one, became a casualty of big government. In better times Rep. Ramspeck's committee had credited his work with a saving of up to three-quarters of a billion dollars for the taxpayers. Now it's different. McCormack is out of a job.

As Rep. Vursell of Illinois observed, Sen. Byrd's committee for the reduction of nonessential federal expenditures is demanding an immediate deflation of burocracy by elimination of 300,000 payrollers, yet a subservient New Deal congress, by unjustified pay raises, in effect increases the present burocracy by the addition of that many $3,000 a year jobs. The pay boost which will go to payrollers in Washington alone will cost $20,000,000 more than all the money raised there by sale of E-bonds in the recent war loan drive. "Insofar as Washington is concerned," McCormack commented, "the 'Mighty 7th' will never get to Okinawa."

Here an honest public servant, on a house committee's orders, tries to tell the truth but discovers that the New Deal whip wants a whitewash instead. Rep. Ramspeck did not become chairman to liquidate the New Deal's burocratic empire, with all its 3½ million votes. The political pickings are among friends. They planned it that way and that's the way they will keep it.

THE TWO TERM AMENDMENT

Republican Leader Martin is urging congress to immediate action on a constitutional amendment restricting tenure in the Presidency to two terms of four years each.

The time is, as he says, propitious for such action. The proposal can now be judged on its merits without reference to personalities.

There are no potential candidates for a third term to be found. President Truman now is 61 years old and will be approaching 65 when he finishes his present term. Assuming that he seeks and wins reelection in 1948, it is hardly conceivable that he would desire thereafter to enter a third term of office when he would be almost 69 years old.

The tenure amendment would, as Mr. Martin says, help restore popular government to America. The fiction of the indispensable man is dead, and it is not likely to be revived in our time.

THE ENSLAVED PEOPLES

The Poles sentenced to prison by the Russians were, at the time of the acts of which they were accused, on what had been their own soil in 1939 when Hitler started the war by attacking their country. They may then have had possession of territory to which their title was clouded. However, the title was not in dispute when the war started. The Polish eastern question was apparently in a state of repose. Danzig and the corridor were making the trouble.

If the confessions of the convicted Poles measurably tell the truth—something always open to doubt in a public Russian state trial—these men, along with many of their fellow countrymen, thought they had two enemies, both on their own soil, both fighting for possession of it and one, after many reverses, at last ejecting the other. First the Russians and the Germans agreed to divide Poland and did. Both made Polish soldiers prisoners of war, both put these soldiers in prison camps, where somehow or other 10,000 Polish officers were murdered, both took slave labor and both took Polish towns, villages, and farms.

Poland thereupon ceased to exist. Again it had been struck and devoured by its powerful neighbors. It is observed that whereas the Germans were at all times and everywhere brutal the Russians were tough only with Poles who did not agree with them, did not submit willingly, or who did not accept the doctrines of the communist state. The Russians soften up a neighbor for the reception of soviet socialism by disposing of persons who are too stubborn, too old, or too intelligent for tutelage. Apparently the charge against the imprisoned Polish leaders is that they sought to defend their country. This, the peace loving nations seem to agree, was proper and patriotic against Germany but wrong and diversive against Russia.

Here we have in epitome the confused morals, furtive principles, and unstable ethical standards of the new peace, the new order, and the new world. Its more honest advocates must throw themselves at the feet of logic, candor, and honor and plead the inexorability of the demands of the circumstances in which they found themselves. To get a charter they had to compromise or nullify nearly all the principles it was to express and embody. Europe imprinted its past sins and not its future atonement on that document. Poland is not the only country to suffer. Russia now prides itself as being the greatest power on two continents if not in the world. With such a stature is it necessary for the soviet union to impose its form of government on its weaker neighbors as a matter of military security?

In November, 1941, when because of Hitler's attack in June, Russia had become a nonaggressive, peace loving nation, seeking and getting the support of the United States, Stalin said in a Red anniversary speech to the supreme soviet: "Our aim is to free the enslaved people of Europe and then allow them to decide their own fate without any outside interference." Today in Europe there are two classes of people who might be called enslaved. One is composed of the inhabitants of the late enemy countries. The other contains the people of the countries Stalin has not allowed "to decide their own fate without any outside interference."

To entertain utopian ideas of the Poland of 1939 would be ridiculous. Its privileged classes were medieval and generally worthless. Its government was an autocracy supporting these classes. It badly needed reform politically, socially, and economically. When it established a government in exile in London that government lacked many elements which would justify the sympathy and support given it. Nevertheless, this was the Poland which was encouraged to defy Hitler and which became the first victim of the disaster which swept over the continent. The so-called democratic heart went out to it until it became involved a second time with Russia.

Russia's first grab of Polish territory was regarded as a cruel stab in the back. Its second is accepted as a wise rectification of frontiers, justified ethnically and ethically. The imposition of a communist government on the remainder of the country is observed as a sound solution of a complicated problem. Russia is conceded the right to have friendly governments all along its European frontier.

Mr. Churchill has proposed that the thousands of Polish soldiers who fought with the allied armies shall be granted British citizenship if they do not care to go home to the Poland the peace loving nations have prepared for them. A commentator can find very little to add to that.

The honorably discharged soldier having fought for freedom does not care to see his home in Poland again because in it he would not be free.

Perhaps we shall achieve success this time in establishing and maintaining peace. We're planning to equip the Dove of Peace with spurs.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Test Your Horse Sense

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Keeping in mind these designations: [1] Wounded; [2] Killed; [3] Missing; [4] Captured—which combination below is covered by the usual casualty figures released by the war department?
   1 and 2 2 and 3 1, 2, and 3 1, 2, 3, and 4
2. Which one of these terms should make one think of bow wow?
   Recover Recall Retrieve Retract
3. Which one of the following is known as the Bay state?
   California New York Massachusetts Virginia
4. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Load Jettison Scuttle Dump
5. Charlie McCarthy is the dual personality of Noel Coward Bob Hope Eddie Cantor Edgar Bergen
6. Some of the things listed in the left hand column below are picked in the spring of the year, while others are autumn products. You deserve one point for each correct distinction. Place a check mark under the appropriate season for each.

	Spring	Autumn
Sponge mushrooms [morel]
Red haws
Paw paws
Jack-in-the-pulpit
Persimmons

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

SHORT WEIGHT

Only seven ounces of poems were received on the first day after our appeal, and it becomes necessary—as we feared—to start training the apprentices. We will begin with a Mr. Burg, who seems to have the right spirit but a somewhat limited talent. Under the title, "Mr. Burg Tries," he offers these lines:

How pleasant to be Mr. Burg,
Whose unit of work is the erg!
The erg of the Burg,
Like the Burg of the erg—
But the only rhyme left is "exergue."

Mr. Burg

* * *

Let us criticize [in all friendliness] this initial effort, beginning with the title, which is descriptive but not stimulating. If the poet had first considered "Bug in a Rug," and then, remembering the peculiarities of New Joisy pronunciation, changed it to "Burg in a Rurg," he not only would have roused the furious attention of his reader but also would have provided himself with one more rhyme. These devices are important.

In choosing the limerick, easiest of verse forms, we feel that Mr. Burg displayed both modesty and prudence. [Too many tyros start with odes.] But, to be frank, we find a notable poverty of resource in his end-words, especially "exergue." At first we thought he had, in desperation, made it up; but it is in the dictionary, and it means "the segment beneath the base line of the subject on a coin or medal," which is of course a good thing to know. But does it contribute to the significance of the poem? We think not.

* * *

Perhaps it would be better if budding bards would take as their basic theme the primitive human impulse which causes some men [the cruder kind] to whistle when a girl goes by, while the more refined are content with a sigh, a serenade, or a sonnet.

Tomorrow we shall explain the technique of Poems About Love.

JENNIE DEW

Perhaps you haven't heard (the name's still new)
Of that magicienne called Jennie Dew?

Unlike Jack Frost, whose feats of crystal beauty
Are only wrought when winter is on duty,

All summer long she practices elate
Her miracles divinely delicate.

Her diamond-shops, the moment night has gone,
Spread joyous jewelry on every lawn

In gems more meaningful than man has mined,
Or from his canniest crucibles refined.

But would you look? Rise quick, and reverent go
With early morning step abroad; for lo!

Barely will dawn depart, ere jealous day
Has plucked each dazzling diamond from her tray.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

Mrs. J. F. asks: "Where can I apply for permission and priority to go to Europe to join my husband who is in the army of occupation?"

Wives of army personnel stationed in Europe are not permitted to go there to join their husbands. All priorities for boat and plane passage to Europe are controled by the war shipping administration. Unless priority for travel is obtained first, the state department will not issue a passport. Passports may not be obtained in anticipation of any proposed trip to Europe because they must be used within 30 days. The military reasons for not permitting wives to join their husbands overseas are lack of shipping space, shortage of food in Europe, and lack of housing facilities.

Mrs. A. J. D. asks: "Is it true that an officer's insurance is dropped, unless personally requested otherwise, when he goes overseas? To whom should he make the request and how soon before going?"

This is a ridiculous story that was started last winter. After an officer or enlisted man makes application for insurance it may not be canceled unless he makes written request on a form provided by the government. An exception to this rule is when a man is absent without leave and is not entitled to any pay. Before army men without insurance go overseas, they are asked to apply for $10,000 policies and if they decline this fact must be entered in their service records.

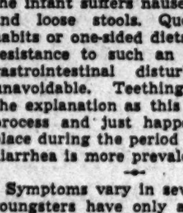
A SUMMER SCOURGE—INFANT DIARRHEA

IT is difficult to believe that over 50 years ago diarrhea held first place among the causes of infant mortality. Altho the disorder probably is still the most common summer ailment of babies, the outcome is not as serious as it was in those days.



This warm weather complaint may be due to a combination of several factors. The very young are more prone to be attacked. As the tot becomes older he is less susceptible. In general, those who are artificially fed and who come from homes with low hygienic standards are likely victims.

There is little doubt that in most instances infection is responsible but just where the germs come from is not entirely clear. Their presence in milk seems logical, particularly that which is unpasteurized and unrefrigerated. But the normal bacteria in this fluid are not necessarily to blame. It may be that heat encourages the growth and multiplication of these microorganisms to the point of poisoning. Another possibility is the spread of microbes by flies or thru contamination from dirty hands or utensils.

The suggestion has been made that excessive heat, fever, or systemic infection may decrease some of the intestinal secretions. If the acid in the stomach is inadequate, for example, certain organisms are able to grow in such large numbers that food is not digested properly and fermentation results. This may produce sufficient irritation to bring on diarrhea.

Other origins—which operate all during the year—include inflammation in the nose, throat, or ears. Where the adult experiences a chill the infant suffers nausea, vomiting, and loose stools. Queer feeding habits or one-sided diets may lower resistance to such an extent that gastrointestinal disturbances are unavoidable. Teething is seldom the explanation as this is a normal process and just happens to take place during the period of life when diarrhea is more prevalent.

Symptoms vary in severity. Some youngsters have only a few movements a day; others exhibit many. Undigested particles may pass or the material may consist entirely of liquids. Vomiting, fever, and a drop in weight are not unusual. The child may be fretful especially when colicky abdominal pains are present. He cries continuously, moves about frantically in bed, and cannot sleep. Later, weakness may be so marked that he appears to be in a stupor. Dehydration follows the great loss of fluids and salts, resulting in acidity. In such a situation we can easily understand why the little tike may fail to pull thru.

Many lives are saved by combating dehydration with fluids. Because of the associated vomiting only small amounts can be tolerated by mouth. When given frequently, however, it is surprising how much can be administered during the day. Salt may be added to the water to replace the loss of this substance. Occasionally the solution must be given beneath the skin.

Thru improved hygiene the malady has been minimized. This includes the encouragement of breast feeding, the pasteurization and refrigeration of milk, and cleanliness in preparing artificial formulas. Because of increased perspiration, the intake of liquids must be increased. During torrid waves it is advisable to cut the feeding by one-third, making up the rest of the volume with water.

INSECT CARRIERS

L. P. writes: What are some of the diseases that are transmitted by insects?

REPLY

Among many are malaria, dengue, filiariasis, and yellow fever, which are spread by mosquitoes; plague and typhus by fleas; cholera and typhoid by flies; and Rocky mountain fever by ticks.

NAIL COMPONENTS

W. R. writes: What are the nails composed of?

REPLY

The chief ingredient is keratin, a protein substance containing sulfur; with small amounts of cholesterol, water, calcium phosphate, carbonates, and arsenic.

BEHIND THE SCENES

W. R. writes: Why do more men than women become bald?

REPLY

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, see the correct answers below, and mark your score:

1. A thousand million is better known as [a] A billion. [b] A drillion. [c] A trillion.
2. What lines follow the words "Lives of great men all remind us we can make our lives sublime"? [a] "For the worth of any man is measured in his steps of time." [b] "And the men we leave behind us follow in our paths of time." [c] "And, departing, leave behind us footprints on the sands of time."

Small Tales of the Big Water

[Lines from a sea-faring man on a destroyer escort in the Pacific:]

"The pin-up girls, those wonderfully brave creations of the camera and the artist's brush who accompany the fighting men right up to the front lines, are nevertheless slowing up the war effort. Each mail brings new ones who immediately join their sisters in reserved and conspicuous spaces on the bulkheads of our ship. We note with alarm that whereas in the early days the captain was able to make his weekly inspection in one and a half to two hours, the same route now takes him nearly three.

"Volley ball, a game we always thought was for middle-aged men with expanding equators, is a great favorite out here. We have seen it played on coral island beaches, down inside LST's at anchor, and on the hangar decks of aircraft carriers with the players ranging from seamen second class to admirals. In one game some wag had painted a Nip's face on the ball.

"The favorite topic of conversation, the mother lode of all rumors, the day dream of every man afloat, is—when will the ship get back to the United States and the leave that goes with such an event? A well-constructed rumor on this subject has been known to go thru the ship and return to the originator in less than 20 minutes. Our chief radio technician, a merry fellow who has given us many chuckles during these many months, started one yesterday. 'I hear we are going back the 1st,' he said. 'The first of the month?' we asked hopefully. 'No,' he smiled. 'The first opportunity.' It was the same CRT who, upon being told by the captain that a radio broadcasting station had already been put into operation by our forces on a very recently captured base, replied: 'Is that so, sir? My, they must have put it up right after they built the officers' club.' And the captain roared with laughter.

"The communications officer was all agog the other day as he decoded a message that began 'WELL DEVELOPED WAVE EXISTS. . . .' The remainder was garbled. He learned later it was a weather report telling the location somewhere of a tidal wave and not of a display of pulchritude that would hardly be missed by any sailor.

"The recent radio announcement, shortwaved to the fleet, that the navy is planning a new uniform for enlisted men after the war patterned after the officers' uniforms brought forth an enthusiastic exclamation from one of our signalmen. 'At last!' he cried. 'Pockets!'

"In Honolulu the only railroad we saw was a narrow gauge. When one first sees the small engines and coaches, they look like they belong in an amusement park back home. The service men have a saying: 'When these cars begin to look normal size, it is time to go back home.' It is surprising how fast they grow.

"With a shore-based friend we stood on a coral island watching a baseball game between a team of naval officers and a team of enlisted men. It began to rain, but the game continued. 'Do they play right thru the rain?' we asked. 'Up to a certain point,' was the reply. The rain became a downpour. 'When do they reach that certain point?' we inquired further as we brushed the water from our eyes. Just then the batter took a swing at the ball. The bat slipped from his wet hands and sailed out over the second baseman's head, narrowly missing the pitcher en route. Without a word the game broke up at once, and the players started on a run for their quarters. 'That's the certain point,' said our friend as he led the way to shelter.

"Another six months out here, and we know what will happen. Some day we will disembark from a train at the Union station, stow ourselves and our gear into a taxi, tear to the driver, and say: 'Coxs'n—the Drake hotel, and make the port gangway.'"

PEACE IF THEY WANT IT

Beloit, Wis., July 3—I am surprised that there is so little outspoken opposition to hasty ratification of the world charter by our senate. If there were no other reasons for the fullest discussion and mature deliberation, the extravagant and inconsistent claims of its proponents would be sufficient.

It has been said time and again that unless the United States ratifies it the entire effort will be wasted without any world organization resulting. I fear that this is true; but, if true, it constitutes the best of justification for extreme caution on our part. Sen. Vandenberg said that in joining we would "sacrifice none of our essential sovereignty." I would be obliged if the senator would define nonessential sovereignty.

The President says that it is the only "road to enduring peace." I think almost every student will agree that there is and always has been another road to enduring peace. All that is necessary is for every nation to attend to its own business, and, in so doing, do only as it would be done by. This road has ever been wide open and, unfortunately, not crowded.

Now a word regarding the general charge that without the United States it will die a-borning. No nation on this earth fears the United States or needs a world charter for protection from us. Therefore, the conclusion is inescapable that the nations need us in the league to protect them from themselves. There seem to be a lot of peculiar Americans who are willing to undertake that job, but I am not one of them. If the nations that are so anxious for a world organization were sincere in their professions, there would be absolutely no reason why it would not succeed without us.

I do not blame them for this stand, because it would be for them the cheapest insurance in the world, but for us the veriest hyphenated insanity.

NUISANCES TO SCIENCE

Chicago, July 3—I wish to express my sincere appreciation and hearty approval of the splendid editorial, "Lunacy on the Loose," in yesterday morning's Tribune. In my humble opinion, it hit the nail on the head and really presented the true issue involved, and the true motive back of the antivivisectionists' activities. Their value to Northwestern in particular, and mankind in general, can only be classified in the nuisance column.

May I have the temerity to suggest, and hope, that The Tribune will see fit to keep up the good work and bear down on this issue frequently.

Chicago, July 6—Here is an excerpt from a letter received from my grandson in the Philippines: "I think we give too much help to the dopes in Europe who started this war and forget the Filipinos, who really need every kind of aid—food, clothes, medical supplies, and soap—and get nothing at all. Half of them would be naked if it were not for trading with army and navy personnel. These people deserve help a lot more than Europeans, because they put up more of a fight. I think they are a sight more faithful and honest with us than any of those in Europe."

CANNING TAKES SUGAR

Chicago, July 6—One government department says, "Can all you can." Our local ration board says the fruit is too expensive for the housewives to buy for canning, and allots us five pounds of sugar per person, or a paltry 10 pounds for a family of two. Therefore, we can't can enough for our consumption even in light syrup. With the 100 points we get each month, we can't buy what we need. Will the OPA please tell us what to do for something to eat next winter? Who gave the ration board authority to tell us that fruit is too expensive for us to buy? E. L. P.

PRAYER that BRINGS RESULTS

IN NORTH AFRICA, in Europe, in the Southwest Pacific, and elsewhere, the world has been witnessing stirring examples of answered prayer.

Food, water, safety, greater effectiveness, and healing of sickness and wounds, have been acutely needed, and have come through prayer. Even skeptics, seeing the results, have been convinced.

What, broadly, is the meaning of these experiences? Is there a kind of prayer that can be counted on — that is definitely available and availing under all conditions?

The answer to this question, Christian Science shows, is an unqualified Yes. The words of the Founder of Christianity, "Ask, and ye shall receive"—words which bore no hint of an exception —are revealed in this teaching as a statement of pure Science.

The first chapter of the Christian Science textbook, SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy explains the spiritually scientific and unfailing prayer, or treatment. Study of this chapter has brought to great numbers of people the healing, protection, or other help that was immediately needed, and given them in addition a permanently useful understanding of prayer.

There are seventeen other similarly valuable chapters in the book.

4,500 WISCONSIN PHONE GIRLS GET RAISE IN WAGES

Milwaukee, Wis., July 10 [Special]—The national telephone commission of the war labor board today announced wage increases, retroactive to June 1, 1944, aggregating $1,500,000 annually to 4,500 Wisconsin operators of the Wisconsin Telephone company.

State Sen. Robert Tehan, counsel for the operators, said the increases range from $2 to $4 a week in the starting rates and $5 to $7 in the maximum rates of all the operators. He said that under the new schedule the starting rate for Milwaukee will be $21 a week, and the maximum rate after 10 years will be $32.

The old contract between the company and the independent union of telephone operators provided for wage scales depending upon the size of the city in which the operator worked. They ranged from $13 a week to a maximum of $17 a week after 8 years in the smaller exchanges, and from $16 a week to $27 a week in Milwaukee, after 16 years.

HAROLD TEEN

SMITTY

DAY by DAY on the FARM & GAIL COMPTON

ABILENE, Tex., July 10—Midwestern farmers and cattle feeders may be interested in a look at the financial operations of a typical beef ranch of this state. The ranch is only of medium size—20,000 acres—and carries 1,000 Hereford cows. The range land was leased for 40 cents an acre.

Here are the costs involved in producing a 400 pound fall calf.

Lease	$ 8,000
Ranch expenses, $500 a month	6,000
Taxes	360
Feed, cottonseed cake, $60 ton	5,400
Death of cows, 2 per cent	1,600
	$21,360

This herd will produce an 80 per cent calf crop. Thus the cost of the 800 calves would amount to $26.70 per head. This, however, is not the whole story.

$1.97 Interest Per Calf

The $26.70 does not include interest on investment or loan. Most ranchers have heavy loans as they need money to meet monthly costs and have a cash income only once a year—when the calf crop is sold. The average loan on an operation such as described above would be approximately $35 per head on the cows or $35,000. The annual interest at 4½ per cent would be $1,575, which is charged against the calf. This adds $1.97 to the cost of producing each calf.

Another item to be figured is depreciation on the cows and bulls. The average useful productivity of a range cow is six calves. Thus the depreciation on the cows must be computed at the annual rate of 16⅔ per cent or $13.33 per head. A cow is valued at $80.

With all these charges the calf now costs about $42 to produce. Weighing 400 pounds the animal will sell for 12½ cents a pound or $50. This gives the rancher a profit of $8 for his calf and shipping and marketing costs must be paid from it.

$8,000 Yearly Profit

A rancher may show such a profit for several years only to be wiped out by one bad year. Drouth is the great fear of the rancher for much of the range land gets only 20 to 30 inches of rainfall a year. When a drouth hits, as it does fairly often, the rancher must buy feed for his animals or move them to areas where there is grass. This is an expensive procedure.

One rancher interviewed has a million dollar investment in land, buildings, and cattle. He is producing around 2,000 calves each year. Yet his net income at the end of operations last year was only $8,000. This despite the fact that he marketed $163,000 worth of animals. He said he should receive at least a 4 per cent return on his million dollars to give him a backlog to take care of the bad years. Several more years of making only $8,000 and he will not be able to stand a reverse, he said.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

GARDENERS who made early May plantings of sweet corn should watch their most advanced stalks for European corn borers. The first brood of these insects has hatched and infestation already is being noticed in both field and sweet corn.

Rotenone dust is the most effective insecticide against corn borers but it is important to start applications as soon as insect or damage is noticed. After the borers get inside the stalks it is impossible to combat them. The plantings made after May 20 are not likely to be damaged by the first brood, but early plantings may require treatment now. Evidences of infestation include small egg clusters on the undersides of the leaves near the main stalk or weakened central veins in the leaves. Later in the season, a broken tassel stem is indicative of borer attack.

On infested plants, rotenone should be dusted into the tassels and into the leaf joints at the central stem. At least three applications should be made at three day intervals.

Cave-in on Sheridan Rd. Leaves Hole 4 Feet Deep

Sheridan rd. pavement caved in yesterday for the third time in recent months. The break occurred in the center of the roadway in front of No. 4537 and left a hole two feet across and four feet deep. Like the previous breaks, it was attributed to shifting sand washed out by rainfall.

Miss Ellms

"The finest cartoonist the war has produced." So said Ernie Pyle of 23-year old Sergeant Bill Mauldin. Although a comparative youngster, Bill has been knocking around this war long enough to know whereof he sketches. His book, "Up Front," demonstrates that wondrous-wise Mauldin humor with both cartoons and text. It would make a grand gift for the soldier in your life. Let Miss Ellms wrap it up for you at the Hyde Park Book Shop. . . . India—strange, occult land of the turban and the Taj Mahal. You'll understand it better after reading "Home to India" by Santha Rama Rau. Personal account of a high-caste Indian girl who returns to her native land after 15 years in the Western World. . . . An exciting locale for a novel! The Rio Grande country is the scene of Hart Stilwell's "Border City"—story about a police reporter who can't stay out of trouble. . . . Take a tip and take a trip to the Hyde Park Book Shop soon. Or maybe one of the other HANDY BOOK & GIFT SHOPS would be more convenient. . . .

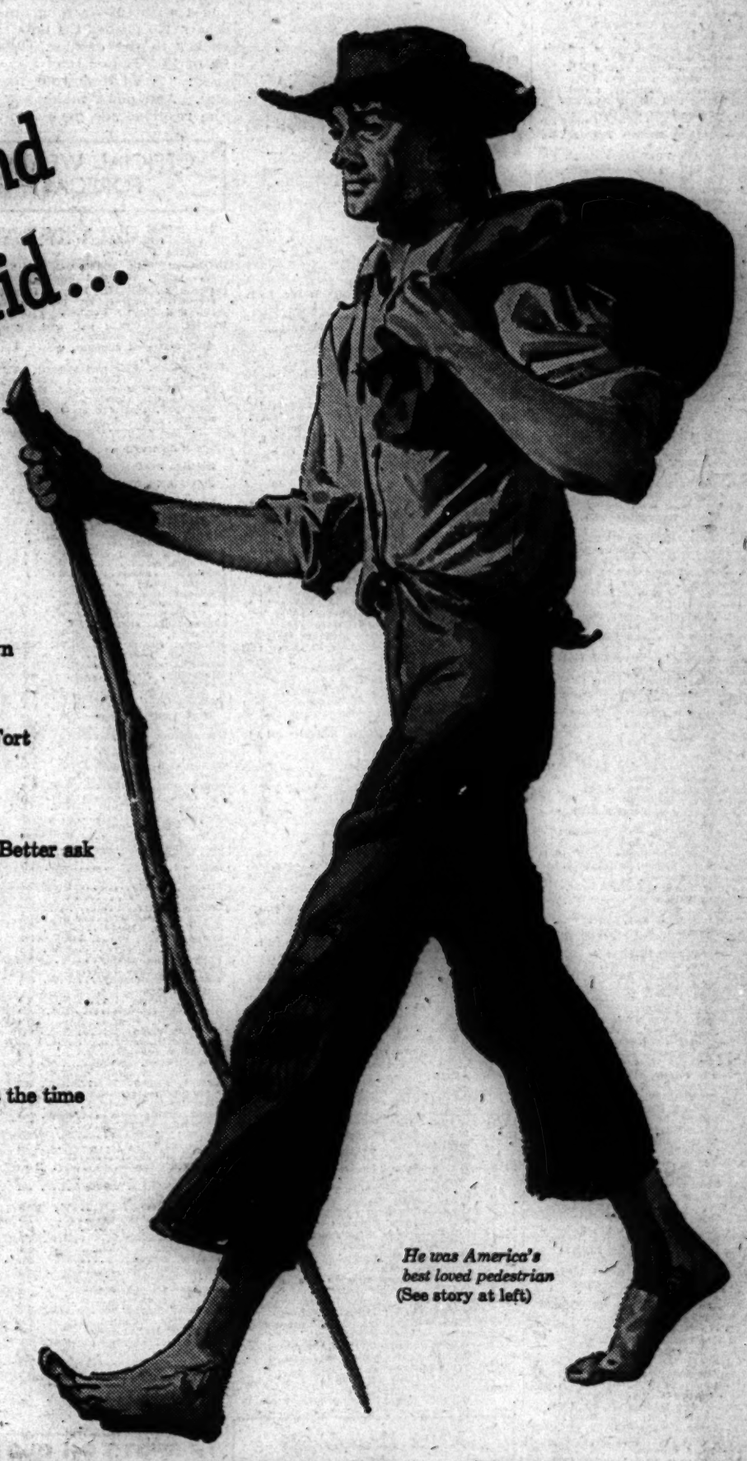
It was a strange and wonderful job he did...



And long before it was done . . . Jonathan Chapman had walked 10,000 miles. Barefooted most of the time, he traveled the Midwest from 1806 to 1847 . . . planting apple trees. Known as Johnny Appleseed, he was loved by everybody. And history records he once covered 60 miles in 5 hours on foot to warn Fort Mansfield, Ohio, of an Indian raid.

How could Johnny Appleseed do it? We don't know. Better ask one of the thousands and thousands of motorists whose cars have worn out. They're learning more than they want to know about walking.

You may become an authority on walking, too, unless you get professional help to check wear on your car. Right now's the time for your Standard Oil Dealer's Better Car Care Service.

W-G-N PROGRAM TO TELL STORY OF PENICILLIN

Discoverer of Curative Will Speak

BY LARRY WOLTERS

The story of penicillin, the miraculous healer, will be told in dramatic form by the Human Adventure in a presentation titled "Elixir of Life" over WGN-WGNB, and the Mutual network from 9 to 9:30 tonight. Dr. Alexander Fleming, professor of bacteriology at St. Mary's hospital in London, who discovered penicillin, will be a guest speaker. He will speak from Yale university.

The drama will tell the story from Dr. Fleming's discovery of the "Elixir of Life" back in 1929 and trace the last two years' development of new production techniques that have resulted in making the curative available for civilians.

A series of dramatic programs based on actual cases brought before the Cook county grand jury will be introduced over WBBM at 10 p. m. next Monday. State's Atty. Tuohy will speak. The evidence will be presented to a "grand jury" of listeners. If the volunteer jury delivers an indictment a drama of the trial will be presented subsequently.

THE TRIBUNE this week began sponsorship of the Farmer's Market Reporter, featuring Hal Totten, with pickups from the Board of Trade, the stock yards, and from the studio. The program is presented at 12:15 p. m. weekdays.

HOODLUMS BEAT POLICEMAN AND TAKE HIS GUN

Policeman Leo Brown of Pekin Inn station was disarmed and severely beaten late last night by a group of Negro hoodlums in 31st st. near Calumet av. The group had been fighting and Brown dispersed them. He arrested one and took him to a police box to call for a patrol wagon. When he turned his back four Negroes came up behind, knocked him down, and took his gun away. The prisoner also joined the attack. The men fled with Brown's gun. He was taken to Michael Reese hospital and treated for cuts and bruises on the head and face.

Loop Theater Is Robbed with Revolver and Note

The box office of the Monroe theater, 57 W. Monroe st., was held up last night by a young man, who appeared with a revolver in one hand and a scribbled warning note in the other. He pushed the note thru the wicket to the cashier, Olga Ulliks, 19, of 1915 Blue Island av., and she read: "Hand over your money—or else. And don't make any noise." She reported she gave him $275.

POLISH BRIDE OF U. S. SOLDIER GIVES HER PRAISE TO AMERICA

A blue eyed Polish bride of 18 pronounced the United States, and particularly Chicago, where she had visited for two days, all wonderful last night as she left for her new home in Seattle, Wash. She was Mrs. Irene McGillivray, born in Selim, Poland, from which she fled with her mother and sister as the Russian army took over. Her father, she said, was imprisoned in Russia and died.

Mrs. McGillivray

She went to live in Tehran, Iran, where she met Chief Warrant Officer Colin McGillivray, 30, of the United States army. The two were married Feb. 13 and she left Tehran June 7.

She hopes to continue her studies here, particularly in languages. She said her husband is from Denver, Colo. Her travels in this country have been facilitated by the Travelers' Aid society.

PVT. JOE McGEE, NAZIS' SLAPPER, GETS 13TH TERM

Fort Devens, Mass., July 10 (AP)—The 13th court martial conviction of Nazi-slapping Pvt. Joseph V. McGee, 25, of Worcester, today brought him a six months sentence at hard labor and monthly deductions of $35 from his pay during the period of incarceration.

Pvt. J. V. McGee

It also stripped him of trappings of a hero after he admitted he was not entitled to several combat awards he wore on his chest.

McGee served part of a two year term at Fort Benjamin Harrison for slapping German prisoners of war overseas before he was released several weeks ago thru intervention of a United States representative.

He was convicted today of being away without leave, drunkenness in uniform in a public place, and false swearing to an affidavit.

Maj. Leon A. McCarthy, post adjutant, testified McGee admitted he had a record of 12 court martial convictions before being found guilty today. The charges included fighting, disrespect to a superior officer, and using a military halftrack without permission.

McGee's lawyer, Capt. Frank Bowler, pleaded for leniency on the ground he had only seven years' schooling and the mentality of an 11 year old boy.

ARREST MOTHER FOR QUIZ ABOUT HER CHILDREN

Mrs. Mary Tims, 26, of 2952 Quinn st., mother of five small children, was arrested last night by Policemen Charles Schmidt and William Hensen of the Maxwell st. station for investigation in connection with three of the youngsters. Her husband, Fred, is a soldier in New Guinea. The two oldest children, Fred Jr., 8, and Rosemary, 6, were placed in an orphanage by the Juvenile court. Yesterday, police said, a man took the three other children to Mrs. Tims' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward, 2000 S. May st. Police were notified. Schmidt and Hensen found Mrs. Tims in a Madison st. tavern. They said she had not seen the children in two days.

Sergeant Asks Discharge to Care for His Baby

Master Sgt. Floyd Pittard of Aurora, a veteran of 26 months in the Southwest Pacific, disclosed yesterday that he will seek a release from the army in order that he may care for his son, Floyd Jr., 26 months old, whose mother died June 19. Because of her death, Pittard received an emergency furlough from duty in the Philippines and now is caring for the baby in the home of his mother, Mrs. Floyd Pittard, of 806 Charles st., Aurora. His mother is ill and unable to care for the child.

'The Wicked Mrs. Steel'

By Roy Vickers

(Copyright, 1945, by Roy Vickers)

SYNOPSIS: Gillian Beynon comes to Fenstable as companion to Mrs. Steel, widow of Andrew Steel. By the terms of the will she must leave his vast wealth to one of his relatives, otherwise the estate passes in trust to the township of Fenstable. Ralph Hanshew, business manager for the Steel interests, upon whom Mrs. Steel has designs, advises Gillian not to accept the position. When Ruth, the housekeeper, finds Mrs. Steel has killed another canary—knowing it is because Gillian has crossed her path—she urges Gillian not to stay. The hatred of her late husband's relatives for each other is intensified when Mrs. Steel announces a heart condition may cause her sudden death. She delights in her power over them and in making them grovel. She shows each one a will made in his favor—even Gillian, suggesting should she marry Ralph the money would be wisely managed. On Gillian's arrival, Ralph was about to fall in love with Mrs. Steel. Cunningly she makes plans to break up their romance. Gillian does not mention the will when Ralph proposes. His plan is to let his contract expire and pull away from the whole sordid atmosphere. When Mrs. Steel tells him of the will in Gillian's favor, Ralph quarrels with Gillian. Ruth, who had promised to watch over Margaret, finds she is getting too hard to manage. Valerie brings her fiance to visit her Aunt Margaret, who forces her to choose between him and the Steel fortune, then secretly watches Valerie add extra tablets to her sleeping draught, which she pretends to drink. Gillian promises Ralph she will destroy the will and leave the Steel home at once, but Gillian falls asleep before destroying it, and next morning Mrs. Steel is found dead. Mr. Steel had trusted Ruth to watch over Mrs. Steel and see that she died in her own bed. Valerie is greatly agitated. Gillian tells Ralph she didn't destroy the will. Ralph fears the money will cause trouble between them. The family arrives for the reading of the will and learns the final will was in Gillian's favor.

MISSING TABLETS

A hoarse shout came from Lyle Weston. "Which of the wills is legal?" "They are all legal documents. But each, of course, invalidated its predecessor. The last will made was that in favor of Miss Beynon—who therefore succeeds to the property."

Party for Bud to Be Farewell to Midshipmen

BY JUDITH CASS

ONE of the last parties here to be enjoyed by midshipmen from the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university, who have been popular escorts for Chicago's belles ever since the school was opened in August, 1940, will be a sports brunch which the Nathaniel Leverones will give a week from Sunday for their debutante daughter, Meredith. A few of the young men are being invited to join the debutantes and their beaux for a day of fun in the country. That week-end will be the last "free" one for the midshipmen, as the following Saturday will be taken up by the midshipmen's ball in the Stevens hotel and other festivities preceding graduation July 30, the last before the school is disbanded.

About 60 young persons will gather on the 22d in the Lake Forest home which the Leverones are renting this summer from the John H. Hamlines, for tennis and softball, along with swimming in the pool of a near-by club. Miss Leverone's debut has been set for Dec. 21, when her parents will give a tea in their Lake Shore dr. apartment, followed by dinner and dancing in the Pump room. The bud was graduated this spring from the Mary A. Burnham school and will go east to school in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Glen Sample of Lake Forest have invited 70 or 80 young persons to a dinner-dance Saturday night in the Onwentsia club for their daughter, Sally. Miss Sample attended Miss Madeira's school in Washington, D. C., and has completed a year at Sarah Lawrence college.

Added to the debut list is the name of Miss Lina Kimball, daughter of the David Wheeler Kimballs of Winnetka. She will be presented to society at a Christmas holiday tea along with one of her Pine Manor classmates, Miss Bleecker Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Muscoe Burnett Jr. of Winnetka.

Wayne Carnival

The prospects of earning money to establish a community house in Wayne is spurring the efforts of the committee in charge of the fifth annual Wayne carnival next Sunday. Montgomery M. Orr is chairman of the carnival, which will be held all day in the old show ring at the Dunham Woods Riding club.

Planned particularly to interest children are pony rides, a miniature train, and a clown magician. Other favorite concessions, such as a plate smashing booth, will be set up. The refreshments available will include ice cream, hamburgers, and beer.

The carnival will be managed by the newly formed Wayne Community association which plans to give financial support to such activities as the Parent-Teacher association and the Boy and Girl Scouts. Now that the kindergarten, formerly supported by carnival funds, has been taken over by the Wayne school board, it is expected that most of the carnival proceeds can be earmarked for a community house which will provide needed recreational facilities for all ages.

Others serving on the carnival committee include Mr. and Mrs. Corwith Hamill, Henry Van Acker, Mrs. E. Durbin Collins, the Walter Petersons, Herbert Nye, Mrs. Kenneth Randolph, the Harold Ripleys, and the Robert Weavers.

On the Calendar

Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy will entertain at supper in the Mayfair room of the Blackstone hotel tonight for Miss Selma Kaye, soloist in tonight's Grant Park Symphony concert. Among Mrs. Kennedy's guests will be Nicolai Malko, conductor of the Grant park concerts, and Mrs. Malko, and a number of

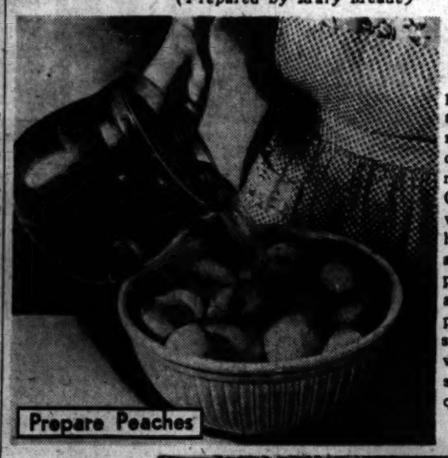
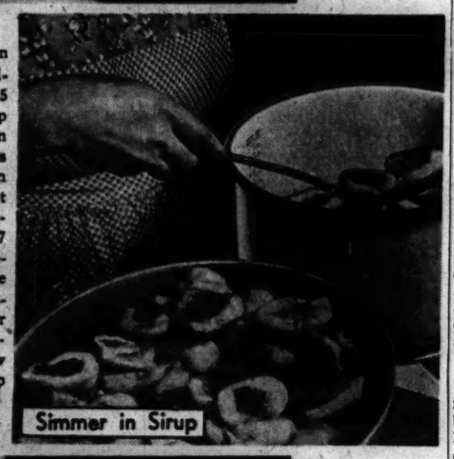
Canning Peaches: Here's How

(Prepared by Mary Meade)



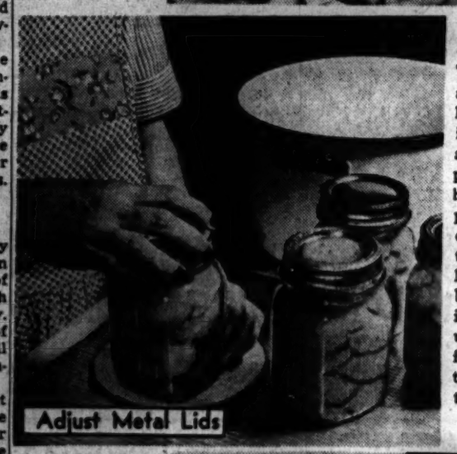
Prepare Peaches

1 Pour boiling water over peaches and let stand for one minute. Chill in cold water for ½ minute and peel. Can peaches whole or cut in halves or slices as desired. To prevent discoloration while preparing, drop into slightly salted water (1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart water).



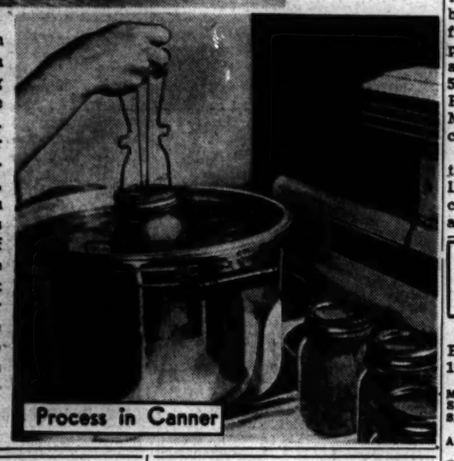
Simmer in Sirup

2 Make a thin sirup by boiling together for 5 minutes 1 cup sugar, 1 cup corn sirup, and 3 cups water. Drop in peaches a few at a time and simmer for 6 to 7 minutes. Precooking before processing insures a better pack and sterilization. Allow about ½ cup sirup per pint.



Adjust Metal Lids

3. Pack peaches into hot jars and cover with hot sirup, allowing ½ inch space at top. Arrange pit side down and halves overlapping. Wipe rims of jars, put on two piece metal lids, and tighten bands as each jar is filled. When using other lids, follow manufacturers' directions.



Process in Canner

4. Place jars on rack in a kettle of boiling water. Have water 1 or 2 ins. over tops. Cover kettle and process 20 minutes, timing when water boils around jars. If using a pressure canner, do not fasten valves or clamps and leave petcock open so that pressure is not built up.

Food Costs Up 50 Pct. for Low Income Group

Despite all federal efforts to hold down the cost of living, there has been a rise of 50 per cent since 1942 in the outlay for food for the lowest income group, figures of the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics disclosed yesterday.

The diet of city families in the lowest income groups has improved, but food costs have been an increasingly heavy drain on family resources, John B. Parrish, regional director of the bureau, said. In 1942 the family or individual with an income of less than $1,000 a year spent $500 a year on food. By the fall of 1944 that expenditure had risen to $700, Parrish said. The estimate was made after a survey of consumers' costs and buying habits made by the bureau in Chicago and other representative cities throut the country.

While there are fewer city families with incomes below $1,000 than in any previous time, "it is obvious that with $700 of their income going for food these families must have run up large debts, cut seriously into any savings they had, or reduced their purchases of other living essentials to a very small point," Parrish said.

The group earning less than $1,000 a year normally was comprised of newly employed single persons, young couples, and retired persons. During the war, however, it also includes a sizeable group of soldiers' and sailors' wives living on allotments, but accustomed to incomes that permitted a much higher standard of living, Parrish said.

In the group earning $1,000 to $3,000 a year, large families also face an especially serious problem because of food costs, Parrish said. In this group the outlay for food increased about 16 per cent from 1942 thru the fall of 1944.

For the higher income groups, expenditures for food at home increased 6 per cent at the $3,000 to $4,000 level and 8 per cent for $4,000 and more. The difference appears to have been made up in part by more frequent restaurant meals.

Once Held by Japs, 4 Navy Nurses Vow They'll Stay on Job

Four navy nurses who spent three years as prisoners of the Japs vowed yesterday that they will stay in the nursing corps until the last Jap prison camp is in American hands.

They are Lieutenants Mary Chapman Hays, 4108 N. Central Park av., and Goldia O'Haver Merrill, Hayfield, Minn., both of whom have been married since their liberation from Los Banos camp on the Philippines last February, and Lieutenants Helen C. Gorzelanski, 534 S. 50th st., Omaha, Neb., and Susie J. Pitcher, 3513 Wright av., Des Moines, Ia., who were at the same camp.

Large Ravinia Crowd Turns Out to Hear Debuts of Maynor and Leinsdorf

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Erich Leinsdorf, conductor; Dorothy Maynor, soprano. Presented at Ravinia Tuesday evening, July 10, 1945. The program:
Incidental Music to "Egmont"..Beethoven
Agatha's Prayer from "Der Freischutz".....Weber
Symphony No. 3, F major.....Brahms
Three Songs—"Morgen," "Standchen," "Cacilie".....Strauss

A chilly night did not deter one of Ravinia's large audiences from welcoming Dorothy Maynor and Erich Leinsdorf to Ravinia last night and just in case they wondered about the more dubious demonstrations, some of the noise was made by passing trains, and what sounded like thunder seemed to be gunfire from the military north. Not that either of the guests looked disturbed—they didn't even turn a hair when there was an orchestral blurt after everybody else had finished Agatha's Prayer from Weber's "Der Freischutz."

Miss Maynor sang it beautifully, with a command and clarity that still remained within her special scope of singing like a woman, not a prima donna. She looked like some chubby queen of the night in her darkling spangles, and Mr. Leinsdorf led her from Beethoven to Weber to Richard Strauss, a lovely journey for a lovely singer.

The Beethoven was unusual on the concert stage today, being the incidental music to Goethe's "Egmont," rarely heard nowadays except in the overture. It was as natural that Mr. Leinsdorf should choose this score that scorns dictatorship as that his friend and teacher, Bruno Walter, should choose the far more magnificent expression of the same noble defiance of tyranny, "Fidelio."

The "Egmont" excerpts are music for a drama rather than the drama itself, and their concert effect is incomplete, tho they make interesting occasional listening, particularly when you have a Maynor to sing the two songs of Clarchen, "Die Trommel Geruhret" with its spirited drum call, and "Freudvoll und Leidvoll," more joyful than sorrowful in the girl's thoughts of her noble lover. Mr. Leinsdorf conducted clearly, but rather stiffly, and the performance was adequate but unexciting.

Despite some occasional outbursts of eloquence, the Brahms 3d had rather the effect of being reluctantly squeezed thru a tube of the conductor's arbitrary choice. In fact, it was not until he accompanied Miss Maynor in the Strauss songs that Mr. Leinsdorf achieved the brilliance that has marked his visits with the Metropolitan Opera. Here he had full and easy command of the orchestra, and he knew how to support and display the singer.

The best of Miss Maynor's Strauss, and it spilled from her dimpling face like laughter, was the radiant "Standchen," one of the most exuberant serenades in the world of song. "Cacilie," too, was beautifully done with a special glory of tone, but I regret to report that the exquisite "Morgen" was run over by a train, tho even without that calamity John Weicher's full bodied violin was rather drowning out Miss Maynor's almost inaudible soprano. Perhaps the chilly night was taking its toll, for she was growing husky and the encored "Zueignung" lacked the full brilliance without which it refuses to give up its splendor.

Bank Musical Groups Will Give Hines Program

An outdoor concert will be given tonight for the veterans at the Edward Hines hospital by the First National Bank of Chicago orchestra and the choral clubs of the bank and the Chicago ordnance district. Carman Learn is conductor of the 40 piece orchestra. Eighty voices are in the two choral clubs.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Growing

The winning coin in business has two faces. One is ability; the other personality. The older worker perhaps has to be a bit more heedful about keeping the personality side bright. Unfortunately, the years and those added candles on the birthday cake bring small defects—tho they need not.

If you have passed the 30 mark, the 40 mark, the 50 mark, watch yourself and don't grow:

Garrulous. It's one of the surefire signs of age.

Repetitious. Once is enough, for even a good story.

Irritable. If you flush and become excited over slight occurrences you make your fellow employes uncomfortable.

Resentful of youth. You possessed it once, remember? And remember all the youthful heartache?

Unadaptable, morose, and defeated. Life offers something at each age to light up your eyes and tilt your face toward the sky if only you'll let it.

But don't stop growing! All vital things change from day to day. Keep growing—and you won't need to worry about growing old.

Street Manners

Thru my courtyard window
To hear—yet not to see—
The street tattoo below us
Somehow displeases me.

A four-way view I will—

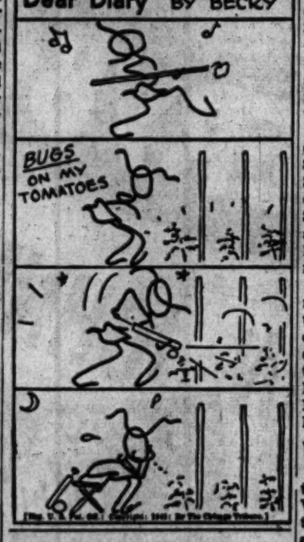
The Ties of Home

So many of us take for granted the privilege of living with our families and seeing its members every day, that the following comment from one of our teen-age white collar girls, fresh from high school and her home on the farm, might remind us to appreciate our good fortune: "Gosh, it's wonderful to have an extra holiday like the Fourth of July, because to me it means being able to go home to the farm to see my folks twice in one week. Friday night will come so much sooner now!" LU

Dear Diary BY BECKY



Cabeese Again

The girls in our office still flirt [innocently?] with the railroaders, only not with the men in the cabeese. The general opinion is that no one wants to flirt with them when one can flirt with engineers just as well. Besides, the engineers are so much better looking, especially on the Milwaukee, according to one of my colleagues.

Take Adequate Baby Supplies Along on Trips

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
(Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

Recently we gave in our column some preliminary hints for traveling with your baby. If you are at present considering such a project, you probably remember some of the suggestions, so we won't go over those again except to say:

Any mother's main thoughts when traveling with a baby have to do chiefly with keeping him clean and with his food. Let's take up the first one, and out of that let us discuss the most urgent problem—diapers. This is surely an unromantic aspect of baby care, however you may look at it, but it is an ever-present one, and particularly so when on a journey. Fortunately the manufacturers have come to your aid in this respect.

There are on the market disposable diapers, that is, they are made of paper and can be flushed down a toilet. The supplies, or similar ones, I am going to mention can be found in most good baby stores or baby sections of department stores.

Buy as many of these disposables as you would ordinarily need of cloth diaper changes at home. For a cross-continental trip you might require four or five dozen. Don't run short. I can't imagine a worse catastrophe than to be out of diapers.

That '93 Fair —Why It Was Just Yesterday

Shades of little Egypt, it couldn't have been that wonderful. But it was, say a handful of elderly men and women who ought to know. They were there.

To hear them tell it, even the grass was greener in 1893, the lake bluer, and the glittering, fabulous White City of the Columbian exposition was something out of this world. Yesterday in their memories it was spread out before them again in the leafy recesses of Jackson park at the annual get-together of the Association of '93ers.

Grant J. Kolb of Chevy Chase, Md., who visited the fair when he was a young dude, was back in the same iron bowler and winged collar that he wore in '93. He even carried with him the coffee mug given by a coffee company during the fair.

Mrs. George Therien of 6513 Morgan st., with her waist still slender, swished around in the same black silk skirt and filmy blouse that had caught the eye of many a guard on the Midway. Her hat, a nest of feathers and flowers, was a Victorian masterpiece.

Darting about like a little bird with a secret was Mrs. May M. Gibson, widow of the official photographer of the exposition and president of the Association of '93ers. All in the gathering had wistful, nostalgic smiles. "Do you remember?" was the refrain.

"A Century of Progress wasn't a patch on the Columbian exposition, no siree," Charles Hamm of 6251 Blackstone av., a machinist at the 1893 fair, contended. "Why, that ferris wheel alone was a wonderful thing."

"It was all so marvelous that you can't even begin to describe it," Mrs. Hattie Robertson of 6500 Dorchester av., put in. "I remember the Streets of Cairo. There were camels and donkeys and date stalls, just like the real thing. And that moving sidewalk! That was something to talk about. Why, it went right into the lake for a half mile."

Robert Seth Lindstrom of 1828 E. 72d st., now a well known architect, who had had a wine concession at the fair, looked with proud eyes at the Museum of Science and Industry. "You know that's one of the most beautiful buildings in the world," he explained. "It was the Fine Arts building at the fair. It has been compared by architects to the Parthenon in Athens. Even as a boy I loved it."

So it went. Each old timer brought something reminiscent of that great era—tickets and badges, fancy jewelry made from fish scales, and hand woven silk handkerchiefs. Charles Newton French of 5724 Lake st., an attorney, distributed a poem, "Dream City," inspired, he said, one long ago evening at the fair.

"Weren't we the lucky people to have seen it?" Mrs. Gibson sighed happily.

Thru the Looking Glass

While we're perfectly aware of the absolute necessity for some women to conceal the fact that time, trouble, or an inherited tendency toward lack of pigment has grayed their hair, we know that the lot of the woman who must use dyes isn't a very happy one. Once she dyes she's on a treadmill. Keeping up the deception thru the years will be wearisome, worrisome, and expensive, but some women have to do it, for personal or professional reasons. To them we say: Get the best professional assistance you can find, and give your hair better care between applications than you've ever given it before.

To the others we stoutly insist that it's easy to have gray hair and to make it an asset instead of a liability. It can be a special distinction, especially if you keep the face and the figure youthful, if you dress the hair crisply, and if you learn to dress to show it off.

If you're going to be gray, keep your hair gray or white, with no trace of the dingy yellow that makes it look drab. Shampoo often and use bluing rinses. Keep the ends lively, so the hair won't look wispy. Permanents on the ends will do this if nature fails you.

Wear soft make-up accents. Above all, wear a powder tint not one iota lighter than the natural skin tone. Keep your brows and lashes dark. Here, too, you can resort to artifice if nature fails you. There's always mascara.

And don't be one bit afraid to wear vivid costume colors. When your hair is white you can wear the strong colors most effectively. Black is always good, of course, but don't make the mistake of thinking that you can't wear shocking pink, let's say, or brilliant blues or even roman stripes. It very well may be that with the advent of the silvery hair you can wear these for the first time—and wear them with spectacular success. In summer, there are few things better for the distinguished white haired woman than white, with wise touches of screaming bright color as costume accents.

Filet Chair Set

BY ELLEN BRUCE

Crochet filet chair sets, done in a combination of butterfly and rose design, afford attractive additions to any furniture piece. The shape is unusual, not difficult to create, and most effective when created of white mercerized crochet cotton.

For instructions in crocheting the filet chair set in rose and butterfly design, No. 901, send 15 CENTS in coin [wrap coin securely] to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

New Sleeping Gowns Assure Cool Comfort

BY REA SEEGER

Midsummer night dreams of supercomfort are the short shirt-nightgowns and rather startling two piecers of shorts and tiny jacket or top. Some come in floral cotton prints with such pastel tinted background colors as yellow, pink, or blue; others are of solid shades in washable cottons. All are made simply, cut with short sleeves, and the shorts are sliced off at the knees. They are modestly priced, look flattering and feminine, and assure cool comfort.

Summer nightgowns of cotton also look crisp and dainty because they come in floral prints and delicate pastel tints, and have frills and ruffles around the necklines and very short, puffed sleeves. A few all white cottons are still around, and while you have to hunt for them, they're well worth the effort. Fagoting, frills of embroidery, and lace provide the contrast trim. Most of them have very full gathered skirts fastened to a band belt. Sheers that really are filmy are popular because of the cool, thin transparency and the fresh dainty tints of the material.

Summer thin jersey is another find. It comes in snowy white and bon bon shades. This is the material that requires little, if any, ironing and is a perfect choice for traveling and for warm weather sleeping comfort. Jersey models are extremely simple of line and detail, and very little accent trim is used. The coolest models are those trimmed with bands of fine white net, or with fagoted bands of satin ribbon of two narrow bands.

Paris Jewelers Show Youthful Costume Items

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 10—Parisian jewelers display natty, sparkling new summer clips, chains, belts, and bracelets, which are extremely youthful and designed for wear at school doings to enhance budding elegance.

Van Cleef and Arpels presents a resplendent gold chain to go with square cut necklines. One end of the chain is fixed at the base of the opening while the other is attached just below the shoulders on the opposite side, allowing four large loops to swing gaily. There are double bracelets to match. They are smartest worn well up on the forearm.

Modernistic hair clips in wrought iron and jade have been designed by Mellerio dits Meller. Many young Parisians like to slip bright scarfs thru these clips to keep their hair in place. Some wear them under the chin with the scarf slung peasant fashion. Others prefer the clips on the top of the head with the squares of pure silk wound up into a swanky turban.

Mauboussin has fashioned multihued crowns of geometric flowers which he likes placed at the nape. The hair should be slick and shiny to the jewel; then fluffy and long beneath it. There are also matching earrings, which may be transformed into twin clips, depending upon the formal.

Fashion Flashes: Marcello Alix Tizeau shows a sapphire blue sweater dress with the shirtwaist top closely knitted to the hips and the sheer wool skirt flared out in contrast. . . . Jacques Heim fits a nine inch wide belt of stiffened Normandy lace around the hips of a beryl green satin back crepe afternoon frock with gathered elbow length sleeves and waist low Vee neckline. . . . Ruben's "Catherine de Medicis" inspires Robert Piguet's latest formal of Venetian red taffeta with a multijeweled, richly embroidered neckline outlining the decolletage.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 10—Harry Bucquet, who directed "Without Love," is bringing two boys back from the east coast to be tested for "The Green Years." Eager mothers who've been writing me about their progenies can now relax, 'cause little Byran Ellison from "Life with Father" is one of the prospects and the other is a lad from San Francisco. The gimmick in this one lies in the fact Bucquet chose Tom Drake for the grownup. Now the boy who manages to look most like Tom, and can give a performance also, is a cinch to get it. . . . Spencer Tracy hasn't kissed Metro good-by. They gave him time off to do a New York play, and you can bet they've got the screen rights to it, if it's good.

Off with the Old

When Joe Bonomo shed his ape skin [he was so convincing playing a baboon in the old days that an ingenue who ran into him on the studio set went into a fit of hysterics], he made a blooming fortune publishing magazines about physical culture. Hear he's dug up some pretty husky photogenic models for his forthcoming serial titled "The K Prince of New York." This evidently is to be played in mufti—from ape to wolf. . . . Francis Lederer and Elsa Maxwell have been added to "The Diary of A Chambermaid." Francis plays a heavy and Elsa won't talk. That's a new first for Our Nell. . . . Harry Cohn isn't talking either about that chance he had—and muffed—to sign up Gregory Peck, John Lund, and Joan Caulfield. He turned all three of 'em down, but they've muddled thru somehow.

Francis Lederer

Joan Caulfield

Jim Gets a Quick Change

When Jim Davis got out of the coast guard, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer wasted no time. It named him for the part of Sergeant Hill in "What Next, Corporal Hargrove?" The company's gone to Camp Pendleton on location. . . . When there's nothing to do 'til tomorrow, I take up the night shift where I'm burning the midnight oil writing my book "Malice in Follywood." What am I saying—oil? that's cookin' with gas! . . . Mrs. Townsend Netcher [she was pretty Norma Hall] is having an old fashioned divorce right in this town. Climate's good here—why not? . . . Doctors told Marjorie Rambeau she'll mend without even a limp, altho she's still on crutches as a result of that frightful automobile accident. . . . That Frank Morgan blessed event, which didn't materialize, has been the source of so much comment that Hollywood's calling it "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek." . . . Altho Alan Ladd broke out in an anticipatory rash waiting to catch measles from his baby, Alana, he got fooled. No soap—which in this case means no measles.

Add a Room for Ben

When I asked Mrs. Ben Hecht what Ben is up to, she said he's just finished a new story which he wrote so he could build a studio onto the house for a workroom. Mrs. Ben took some time out to sing high praise for Constance Collier's new short story. Seems this girl can write as well as act. Also saw some cute snapshots of the Hecht baby taking her exercises. Must admit she's one of the sharpest little moppets I've seen in some time. . . . Permanent doesn't always mean a hair wave in Hollywood. We've got some long-run attractions out here that can hold up with boxoffice records anywhere. But for the benefit of outsiders who like to make nasty remarks about our changing town, we're celebrating the 19th year of the Pilgrimage play. "The Drunkard," an old fashioned melodrama, is starting its 14th year; "Turnabout," Elsa Lanchester's little theater, has just finished its fourth successful year, and "Blackouts" is starting its fourth. This is an angle of Hollywood they miss when they look down the nose.

What's in a Name?

Sometimes there's plenty in a name. The John Loder baby [the one born to his first wife—not Hedy Lamarr] was named Danielle for Danielle Darrieux. And La Darrieux's skirts are not yet completely cleared of pro-Vichy sentiments by the French government. . . . If you've wondered how Gene Markey wangled his way out of a sidetrack job in the navy and into active service, here is the inside story. It was told me by Penny Singleton's baby's godmother, Isobel Lowe, who is here to join her husband, Comdr. Paul F. Foster, due in a few days. Isobel, who played in Broadway's "Good Gracious Annabelle," says her husband ran into Gene in the Panama Canal Zone. Foster, she says, arrived looking like a bundle of wet wash, was due for inspection and had no change of clothing. Gene, who always looks like a fashion plate, said, "I believe, sir, my clothes would fit you." He kept Foster supplied with fresh uniforms during his stay there. So when Comdr. Foster asked, "Now, what can I do for you?" Gene jumped at the chance like a trout going for a royal coachman. "You can get me out of this place and into active service," he said. Foster did.

Goren on Bridge

—By Charles H. Goren—

[Copyright: 1945: By Charles H. Goren]

Neither side vulnerable. East deals:

NORTH
♠ 10 9 7 5 2
♥ 7 6 5
♦ 5 3

WEST
♠ 8 6 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 hearts	Pass	2 no tramp
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts

Opening lead: Jack of diamonds.

When a crafty opponent lets you win a trick to which you are apparently not entitled, it is wise to scrutinize carefully his act of charity. The East in today's hand was too gullible to realize that South in making his donation was really an Indian giver.

The opening bid of two hearts is somewhat shaded, but I believe it to be the proper procedure. South needs next to nothing from partner to produce a game. As little as the queen of clubs might be enough or a club opening by the opposition.

West led the jack of diamonds which was overtaken by East and the suit continued, South ruffing. Had the trumps been divided, there would have been nothing to the hand, since the seven of hearts would become an entry to cash the long spades. When the queen dropped on the first lead of trumps, that chance disappeared. Another high trump was led and East was permitted to retain the 10 of hearts. Declarer cashed the ace and king of spades and calmly continued with a third round of the suit. This trick East pounced upon vigorously, as tho he had stolen something from the innocent Mr. South. "You know there are 13 trumps in every deal," he volunteered for the opposition's benefit. "Yes," replied the canny declarer, "and one sucker in each game."

When East won with the 10 of hearts, he was obliged to return a club. South ducked because he knew that East did not have the ace. [He had already shown up with the top diamonds and if he also had the ace of clubs he would not have passed originally.] The ace of clubs was forced out and now the seven of hearts was an entry to dummy to cash a good spade trick and discard a losing club.

East should have realized that South was not being generous in permitting him to make the 10 of hearts when it could easily have been extracted. It must be to declarer's benefit. Had he refused to fall for the bait and not taken the trick South could not possibly have made the hand, because he would have been obliged to lose three club tricks if he led the suit himself.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM

CUB FANS HEAR PENNANT BEE'S MERRY BUZZING

Braves and Holmes Here Tomorrow

BY EDWARD BURNS

Grimm bossed Cub teams always have been strong finishers, and for that reason Chicago fans are hearing buzzings in the ears, said to come from a pennant bee—with more than half the schedule remaining.

The Chicagoans will enter the Wrigley field arena tomorrow afternoon for a double header with the Boston Braves with 84 games remaining on their schedule, and a lot of things can happen in 84 games as baseball is being played this season. But the Cubs enter a long home stand not the least tired from eastern processes which enable them to fetch back an unended winning streak of 10 straight, including a 24-2, 5-3, 7-4, and 3-2 series over the guests of tomorrow, who were wonderful hosts in Boston July 3, 4, and 5.

Braves Bounce Back

Just before the Braves beat the Cubs, you remember, they whanged the Cardinals three straight, and immediately after they had been tortured by the Cubs, the Bostonians bounced back to take four out of five from the Pirates. Ah, the Pirates, they are the fellows who knocked the Cubs out of first place on April 29. They also are the gents who went in first place by whipping the Cubs three straight on June 12 and 14. Now they're way down in fifth place, six and one-half games back of the Cubs.

The Braves offer a fine attraction in their own right, despite the way the Cubs pushed them around on their home lot. Main interest, of course, has veered from Pitcher Morton Cooper [who appeared against the Cubs in brief and inconsequential relief stints] to Tommy Holmes, batting sensation of the majors, for whom most everybody seems to be a booster.

In tomorrow's first game Tommy will have a chance to lift his batting streak to 38 consecutive games in which he has hit safely since Claude Passeau stopped him here on June 3.

Passeau, Wyse to Pitch

Passeau and Hank Wyse each will go after his 11th victory of the season tomorrow and either has a chance to halt Tommy's slashing.

In Boston on July 3, Tommy flied out the first line up then knocked three singles, but that was in that 24-2 affair. July 5, Holmes singled against Wyse in the first inning, then failed to get the ball out of the infield his next three trips to the plate.

Cleveland's All-America Signs Fekete

Columbus, O., July 10 [Special]—Gene Fekete, Ohio State full back, who succeeded Michigan's Tom Harmon as the football ground gaining champion in the Western conference, said tonight that he will make his professional debut with Cleveland in the All-America conference in 1946.

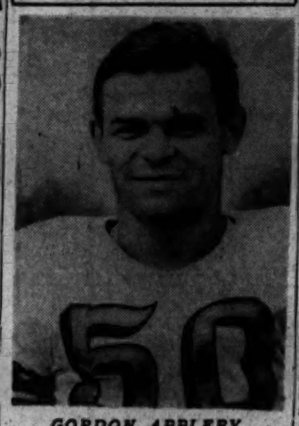
Gene Fekete

Fekete, who gained 910 yards for the Buckeyes in 1942, as a sophomore, received a medical discharge last Saturday from the army after two years in the service. He was a member of last year's college All-Star squad which played the Chicago Bears. He said that he will work for his degree at Ohio State between football seasons.

Fekete, a six footer who weighs 200 pounds, capitalized on his power, agility, and starting speed as a college star. He plunges straightaway or after spinning to conceal the point of attack because of the possibility of passing. The former Ohio State athlete is visiting on the university campus.

The Cleveland All-America team previously had signed such outstanding backs as Otto Graham of Northwestern, Creighton Miller of Notre Dame, and Eddie Prokop of Georgia Tech. Also under contract are Alex Kapter, Northwestern guard, and Herb Coleman, Notre Dame center. Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach, will be in charge of the Cleveland professional eleven.

Joins All-Stars



GORDON APPLEBY

Ohio State's '44 Captain to Face Packers

Call for Musicians

MUSICIANS who wish to join the College All-Star band, which will appear in Soldiers' field the night of the All-Star game, Aug. 30, are asked to communicate with Ray Dvorak, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

BY WILFRID SMITH

Gordon Appleby, who was captain of the 1944 Ohio State university football team, the Buckeyes' only undefeated and untied eleven in 24 years, has accepted an invitation to join the All-Stars for the game with the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field Aug. 30. Appleby played center on the Ohio State team which won the Western conference title and altho composed of civilians, many of them freshmen, was rated by many as highly as the unbeaten United States Military academy squad.

Appleby has been graduated with the degree of bachelor of science in industrial arts. He received three varsity football awards at Ohio State but did not participate in any other branch of intercollegiate athletics.

Playing in the All-Star game will not be a new experience for Appleby, who was a member of the squad last year which was beaten by the Chicago Bears, 24 to 21, but this will be his first appearance in Soldiers' field. The 12th annual game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities has been returned to its original site after two contests were held in Northwestern university's Dyche stadium.

Inspired Buckeye Teammates

The caliber of Appleby's performance in last year's All-Star game, which was not decided until the fourth period field goal by Pete Gudauskas, Bears' guard, is ample recommendation, but Appleby added to his stature as a player last fall. Not only was he one of the key men in the Ohio State line on attack and defense, but his leadership contributed to the morale of the squad.

Gordy was one of a small group of experienced players—Les Horvath, Jack Dugger, and Bill Willis were the others—which served as a nucleus for instructions to inexperienced players by Coach Carroll Widdoes, himself in his first season as head coach.

Plays Three Varsity Seasons

One of the few football players to complete a normal span of competition in war time, Appleby is 4-F in the draft because of his vision. He was a freshman in the fall of 1941 when the Western conference still required one year's residence before intercollegiate competition.

Appleby was 22 years old last month. He weighs 190 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall.

The All-Star squad will report for practice at Northwestern university Aug. 12 and at the rate acceptances are arriving it is probable that the group will exceed 50 players.

Orders for tickets for the game are being accepted by mail. All $6.60 tickets have been sold. Excellent seats remain in other sections, however. Checks should be made payable to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and mailed to All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower.

All-Star Roster

THE list of college football players who have accepted invitations to join the All-Stars for the game Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field with the Green Bay Packers follows:

TACKLES—Glen Burgeis, Tulsa; Clyde Flowers, Texas Christian.

GUARD—Pat Filley, Notre Dame.

HALF BACK—Boris Dimancheff, Purdue.

FULL BACK—Sgt. Ernie Bonelli, Pittsburgh.

SENATORS WHIP DODGERS, 4-3, IN BENEFIT GAME

Phils Rally to Beat A's, 7 to 6

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—The national capital tonight forgot dignity long enough to howl itself hoarse at "dem bums" from Brooklyn as Washington's Senators won an inter-league war relief game, 4 to 3.

Call of the North Woods

I'm tired of the rustle and hustle,
I'm sick of the racket and din,
I want to cut loose from the bustle
And go out where the rivers begin.
I long to get up in the open
I want to make camp on a lake shore
In a tent or old lumber shack.

I'm sick of the falseness and bluff,
I want to get up where the country
Is virgin and wooded and rough.
I long to awake in the morning
And pull on an old flannel shirt
And corduroy pants that are mended
And moccasins covered with dirt.

I care not a cuss where the place is,
Nor how far away it may be,
So long as it's up in the open
Where I can unleash and be free.
Where the odor of cedar and hemlock
Will greet me whene'er I awake,
And the moon casts its shadow at nightfall

Pattern for Today

When Mary hung her washing out to dry
Her linens were as white as spotless snow
And waved like holy banners to the sky.
Her home was kept with tender, loving care,
The hearth swept clean; the cooking vessels scoured—
Here, too, she sewed and mended every tear,
With sword-pierced heart at thought of Calvary,
But till that time still many months away,
And by her sweet example Mary set
A pattern for today no woman should forget.

*David Straus and Walmac farm entry.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Eleven handicap stars, seven of which will be getting their last important tune-up for the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap a week from Saturday are scheduled to start today in the $15,000 Great Western handicap at Washington Park.

Into the 26th running of this mile and a quarter race which goes back to 1884 for its load of traditions, David Straus' Daily Trouble will carry the prestige acquired in winning one division of the Equipoise Mile on July 4. The Cincinnati owned route runner will be coupled with the Walmac Farm's Old Kentuck in the betting.

The other Stars and Stripes candidates besides Daily Trouble and Old Kentuck are Mrs. Clyde Troutt's Take Wing, S. D. Sidell's St. Jock, H. E. Jacoby's Good Bid, Happy Hour Farm's Devalue, and Mrs. Emil Denemark's Fire Dust.

St. Jock Gains Backing

St. Jock, which finished second to Howard Wells' Equifox in the first division of the Equipoise, is bound to draw some backing even tho he has been running mostly in shorter races.

Old Kentuck won impressively in an allowance event at the same distance as the Great Western on the opening day of the current meeting after finishing second in the Clark handicap at Churchill Downs this spring.

Take Wing, which won the Stars and Stripes in 1942, and this year accounted for the closing feature at the Lincoln Fields meeting at Hawthorne, the $5,000 Lincoln handicap, finished second to Daily Trouble in the Equipoise.

Thumbs Up Forces Test

Mill Bond stable's Ended was the victor in the 1944 running of the Great Western, beating John Marsch's Occupation and J. H. Rouse's Three Dots with a driving finish.

Thumbs Up, Devil Diver, Equifox, Stymie, and Rounders head the list of 31 nominations for the Stars and Stripes and keen intersectional rivalry will prevail.

Thumbs Up, owned by Louis B. Mayer, will be asked to match his speed with top flight handicap performers of the east and middle west. Devil Diver, Stymie, and Rounders have been knocking off rich eastern prizes while Thumbs Up scored in the rich Santa Anita handicap and the San Pasquel during the recent Santa Anita meeting.

Yesterday's program, topped by the $5,000 Alcazar purse, drew another large week day crowd of 17,000 which for the seventh time during the meeting wagered over a million dollars. The mutual handle was $1,146,114.

JUNIOR TENNIS CROWN IS WON BY SEIFFERT

Don Seiffert, Fullerton Tennis club, defeated Dick Gnaedinger, River Forest, 6-2, 7-5, in the finals of junior boys' division, Chicago Tennis association center, at the River Forest Tennis club yesterday. Both finalists qualify for the national meet in Kalamazoo, starting July 30.

In the boys' division Kes Deimling Jr., River Forest, beat Harry Laser, Garfield park, 6-7, 6-0. Deimling was top seeded.

175 TO COMPETE IN STAMPEDE AT SUNSET RIDGE

Johnny Lehman, one of the leading amateur golfers of the middle west, will be among 175 contestants in today's annual stampede and stag at Sunset Ridge club. Another contestant will be Chuck McGuire of Oak Park, one time football star at the University of Chicago.

Play, at 27 holes, will start at 8:30 a. m. and continue thruout the day. In all, 75 prizes will be distributed.

Thrills Dot Van Every's Air War Log

BY EDWARD PRELL

Capt. Hal Van Every, Minnesota '40, Green Bay Packers '41, saw Germany from the air, on foot, and by box car. He thinks he'd rather play the Bears every afternoon than go thru his series of sky thrillers again.

The captain, on a 60 day leave which will just enable him to climax it by watching his old team battle the College All-Stars the night of Aug. 30, would like to visit Berlin some day in a leisurely way. He didn't have much time to look around the three times he piloted his B-17 toward the nazi capital.

"Something happened each time on our visits to Berlin," said Capt. Van Every, who has regained most of the 50 pounds he lost during almost a year in prison camps.

Limps Home After Bagging 6 Planes

The first time one of the engines went out of commission, the bomb bay doors wedged open, cutting 10 m. p. h. off the ship's speed. Fighters swarmed around him, but the bomber limped home 45 minutes late. It was credited with shooting down six fighters.

On the second mission to Berlin the B-17 developed engine trouble before the target was reached.

"But that third one," exclaimed Van Every. "That one really was a mess! On the bomb run the bomb bays wouldn't open electrically, so the upper turret gunner went back to roll 'em down by hand, quite a job. We were up 27,000 feet where you really need oxygen. They say three minutes without it is fatal. Well, the gunner's mask failed and he fell on his face. Then my copilot went to his rescue, taking off his oxygen mask. He figured he could get the job done in a minute or two, but the first thing I knew he, too, was out. All the time flak was flying.

Over Berlin with 3 Lives in Peril

"By this time we were over Berlin. Next the navigator came to the rescue and he also became affected. So there I was, over Berlin, with three fellows who would be goners in seconds unless something was done about it. If I came down too swiftly it might be fatal to the three. I managed to boost the gunner's leg off the automatic pilot and then grabbed the emergency oxygen knob, turning it on. They gradually revived.

Nazi fighters hit two engines on Van Every's B-17 May 12, 1944, when he was on the way to Leipzig. The ship caught fire and the crew of 10 jumped.

"I just missed a house as I came down," said Hal, "and crashed into a fence made of round poles. I

EAGLE AT 17TH BRINGS BYRON 138 DEADLOCK

Shute Slips to 73-140 at Dayton

BY CHARLES BARTLETT
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Dayton, O., July 10—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., toiling with a misery in his back, and John Revolta, the ham fisted Evanston, Ill., trouble shooter, today tied for the qualifying medal in the 27th National Professional Golfers' association tournament over the wind whipped hills of the Moraine Country club. Both finished the 36 holes o. medal play with scores of 138, six under par, on a course in which the playing problem was transformed overnight by the elements.

Nearest to the leaders, who will share the medalist's prize of $250 in war bonds and six months' possession of the Alex Smith trophy, was the local favorite, Sgt. Ernie [Dutch] Harrison of Dayton's Wright field, with a 139. The Sarge was a stroke ahead of a brace of 140 scorers—Denny Shute of Akron, O., and Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Sanford, Me. Herman Barron, Western Open champion from White Plains, N. Y., followed with 141, with a 143 threesome consisting of the brothers Turnesa, Sgt. Jim and Mike, and Chicago's Ky Laffoon. These completed the roster of eight men who broke par of 144 for the medal play examination. Sam Byrd of Detroit was the only golfer to match it.

Barron Has Chance, Fails

The finish of the qualifying round was in the best traditions of its predecessors. There was Revolta, in early with the 70 that gave him his 138, with Sgt. Harrison, one of his partners, coming up with a 71. Barron and Nelson, playing in the same threesome, were out late. Barron for a while made off as tho he were going to win by himself. Herman was out in 33 this afternoon, and needed nine pars to take the medal alone, but came to swift grief, going three over par on the first four holes of the incoming nine.

Followed then the finish you expect of the golfing machine that is Byron Nelson, the tall Texan who has been a finalist in this most difficult tournament four of the last five times it was held, winning in 1940. Byron has had an ailing left shoulder since June 30, when he strained a rib in winning the driving contest at Chicago's Victory National tournament. It was still aching when he started out today, and hadn't showed any signs of easing tonight.

Nelson Gets Eagle at 17th

The Nelson urge to win everything in sight overcame the pain of the injury, and he got around the front nine in 35. He picked up a birdie at the 537 yard 13th. This left him five holes in which to pick up the two strokes by which he could tie Revolta's 138. He collected them with three shots for an eagle at the 455 yard 17th—a drive, a 4 wood, and a 30 foot putt. His 45 foot putt for sole possession of the medal on the 18th halted inches from the cup's center.

This marked the third time Nelson has won or shared in the medal. He first scored at Pittsburgh in 1937, then repeated in Spokane last summer. Revolta never had captured the medal, altho he recalled his P. G. A. debut in the 1933 tourney in Milwaukee. Johnny, who won this event in 1935, didn't know there was a prize involved, and finished a shot back of that year's comedalists, Jimmy Hines and Mortie Dutra, by taking a bogey on the last hole.

Hamilton Scores 146

Hamilton, the Hoosier who now is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., will defend the title he won from Nelson in last year's 1 up final. Bob was exempt from the qualifying trials as the incumbent champion, but elected to play anyway, and came out with a 146, highly creditable for a gent who has been able to play only a half dozen rounds since April 23.

Vying with Hamilton in tomorrow's first round of sixteen 36-hole duels will be the 31 low scorers for the two days of medal play which ended this evening. This ensemble was not determined without a typical P. G. A. playoff, ten 148 shooters tied for the last place being forced to an extra hole before Jimmy Hines of Chicago, National tournament chairman, and Dick Shoemaker of Crafton, Pa., were eliminated. Among the survivors of the dusk battle were Ed Dudley of Atlantic

Cleveland's All-America Signs Fekete

Columbus, O., July 10 [Special]—Gene Fekete, Ohio State full back, who succeeded Michigan's Tom Harmon as the football ground gaining champion in the Western conference, said tonight that he will make his professional debut with Cleveland in the All-America conference in 1946.

Gene Fekete

Fekete, who gained 910 yards for the Buckeyes in 1942, as a sophomore, received a medical discharge last Saturday from the army after two years in the service. He was a member of last year's college All-Star squad which played the Chicago Bears. He said that he will work for his degree at Ohio State between football seasons.

Fekete, a six footer who weighs 200 pounds, capitalized on his power, agility, and starting speed as a college star. He plunges straightaway or after spinning to conceal the point of attack because of the possibility of passing. The former Ohio State athlete is visiting on the university campus.

The Cleveland All-America team previously had signed such outstanding backs as Otto Graham of Northwestern, Creighton Miller of Notre Dame, and Eddie Prokop of Georgia Tech. Also under contract are Alex Kapter, Northwestern guard, and Herb Coleman, Notre Dame center. Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach, will be in charge of the Cleveland professional eleven.

FAVORITES WIN IN 1ST ROUND OF WOMEN'S GOLF

Misses Nilles and Cline Pace Leaders

Decatur, Ill., July 10 [Special]—Favorites had little trouble today brushing aside first round opposition in the 12th annual Illinois Women's Golf association tournament at the Decatur Country club.

The medalist and three former champions were among the first day survivors but some stirring battles are expected tomorrow in the quarter-final round.

Headlining the schedule are two important matches in the upper bracket. Medalist Virginia Nilles, Park Ridge, meeting Defending Champion Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, and two former title holders, Dorothy Foster, Springfield, and Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, clashing in another.

Miss Niles today defeated Mrs. L. A. Gott, Decatur, 4 and 2; Miss Cline ran into the hardest opposition of the day in eliminating Jane Nelson, Hinsdale, 3 and 2; Miss Foster ousted Natalie Bering, Decatur, 6 and 5, and Miss Lindsay eliminated Mrs. F. W. Zimmerman, Chicago, 7 and 5.

In the lower bracket, Mrs. Harold Sims, Evanston, who was second low qualifier, remained in the running by defeating her clubmate, Lillian Townsend, 5 and 4.

Virginia Nilles, Park Ridge, beat Mrs. L. A. Gott, Decatur, 4 and 2.

Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, beat Jane Nelson, Hinsdale, 3 and 2.

Dorothy Foster, Springfield, beat Natalie Bering, Decatur, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Harold Sims, Evanston, beat Lillian Townsend, Evanston, 5 and 4.

Margaret Muench, Glenview, beat Mrs. William Smothers, La Grange, 6 and 6.

Tribune Swim Dash Star Is Travel Queen

Shirley Schweger, who won the class A 100 yard free rtyle Chicagoland swimming championship in 1940, probably can qualify as the long distance traveler of the 16th annual races sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Now a resident of Nashville, Tenn., Miss Schweger, who is visiting in Wilmette, has submitted her entry for the class D tests on July 22 in Whealan pool.

The other meet on this date will be held at California park. On July 21 Chicagoland swimmers will compete in 100 yard trials in Sherman park and Cermak pool. Approximately 120 boys and girls will qualify from these races for the championships July 29 in California park.

Other entries from yesterday's mail, picked at random, are Michael Shea of the Lewis School of Aeronautics, Lockport, Ill., and Charles Holzner, Adams playground. Both are listed for the class C [15 and 16 years of age] races. Five days remain in which entries will be accepted for the 1945 qualifying races.

All amateur swimmers are eligible with the exception that champions can not defend their titles. They may compete, however, in the next higher age class.

Team entries may be made in a group if age and address of each contestant are furnished. It also is important to name the section. Teams may be divided to increase the chances for qualifying positions in the finals. All letters must be postmarked before midnight Sunday.

SCANLON DIES; WAS HYDE PARK, PURDUE COACH

Arthur L. Scanlon

Arthur L. [Butch] Scanlon, former University of Chicago football star and head coach at Hyde Park High school and Purdue university, died of a heart attack in his home at 1154 E. 62d st. yesterday.

Scanlon won football letters under Coach A. A. Stagg on the Midway in 1912 and 1913, and was head coach of the Purdue eleven from 1918 to 1920. He coached at Hyde Park High before and after his service with the Boilermakers.

Surviving are a daughter, Reene Scanlon, and a son, Robert J. Funeral services will be held in the chapel at 1409 E. 67th st. at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

TIME OUT FOR HAL VAN EVERY

broke it and for 50 feet fence posts went down like ten-pins. A little German farmer with a pistol was there to greet me and he was joined by other excited citizens. A few minutes later at the railroad station I met up with my nine buddies."

Spends 8 Days in Solitary Confinement

Van Every was taken to Frankfort-on-Main and when his answers didn't satisfy his interviewers he spent eight days in solitary confinement. A few days later he was sent to Stalag Luft 3, near Breslau. He was there until January, 1945, when the Russians approached.

At twilight a forced march westward was ordered. The prisoners walked all night until 1 p. m. the next day, when a four hour rest was ordered.

"It wasn't any rest, tho," said Hal. "We were on our feet until 5 o'clock, then started out again. We marched all night and finally reached our destination at 9 the next morning. It was tough on some of the fellows but with my football legs I could have walked right on out of Germany. Next we spend three days and three nights in box cars, 50 to a car, giving us about as much comfort as sardines in a can. 'This put us in Nurnberg."

Played in 1940 with All-Sars

When the Americans started moving eastward, Van Every and his group were marched to Mossburg, toward Munich.

On April 29, the 14th armored division and other 3d army units liberated the Moosburg prisoners.

Five Chicagoans made the grade. In addition to Revolta and Laffoon, the Illinois section will be represented by Jack Grout of Butterfield, Byron Harcke of Twin Orchard, and John Gibson of Westmoreland. Gibson came up with the only other sub-70 round of the entire day, aside from Nelson's 68. Johnny needed 79 yesterday, but bounced back with a grand 69, including that golfing rarity, deuces on all of the par three holes.

Revolta Loses Putting Magic

Revolta, who had 10 one putt greens yesterday, didn't fare so well today. He knocked in a 25 footer at the fourth, and one from 15 feet on the sixth for his outgoing birdies. He chipped the ball in from 50 feet on No. 10 but missed a two foot try at the next. He holed a 25 foot downhill putt for a birdie at the 537 yard 13th, but three putted the short 15th, and missed a five foot chance on No. 17.

Nelson drew only one birdie, off of a 15 foot putt at the third, but missed holeable birdie putts on the fourth, fifth, seventh, and eighth. He couldn't sink a five foot chance for a birdie at the 11th, but holed one from eight feet at No. 13. A 12 foot attempt halted on the lip of the 14th. Came the aforesaid eagle on the 17th, and the attempt for the three on the home green.

Hunters Face Shortage of Shells in Fall

BY BOB BECKER

The latest dope for civilian hunters who want to bag some game next fall is anything but cheerful. One local ammunition and gun authority in Chicago who is close to manufacturers says that as far as he can see on the basis of deliveries and promised shipments of civilian ammunition there will be about one box of shotgun shells per hunter if every fellow who hunted last year applies for ammunition this fall.

Our informant belives that about 130,000,000 shells will be available instead of 300,000,000 whch is the figure which the boys have been shooting at. [Our muzzle loader looks prettier by the minute! We're now shopping for a couple of kegs of sweet-smelling black powder.]

Predicted in This Column

As this column predicted last fall, the ammunition that was supposed to have been made late last autumn wasn't produced or released until 1945, which was too late to help shooters even in the southern zones. That quota from the last quarter is going to be worked into the 1945 distribution.

We have it on reliable authority that the ammunition makers aren't any too keen about producing shotgun shells anyway, because their costs are way up yet the government has frozen the sales price of shells. So why sell merchandise that doesn't give you a profit?

More Bad News

Another piece of bad news comes from Jim Raker, well known guide and mallard expert of Liverpool, Ill. Jim writes us that the continued high water in the Illinois river bottoms will prevent the growth of big crops of duck foods. The rampaging Illinois has kept thousands of acres of marshland flood so late in the season that many of the water plants which the ducks like and need can't come thru this year. This situation [Raker predicts] means definite shortage of duck foods all along the river. Private clubs which have the money to plant millet are trying to get that crop in as the water goes down and thus hope to get some duck foods ready for the migration.

Sox Depart on Eastern Jaunt Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The White Sox continued to enjoy rest yesterday and they'll have a little more of the same today, at least until this afternoon when they are scheduled to get aboard a train bound for Washington where they open their second 1945 eastern tour tomorrow night. Whether James Dykes' boys will travel via hand car, freight, day coach, or first class they don't know, but, at least, they expect to get where they are going.

The Sox will have just about three weeks to learn for themselves just what is what in the rail transportation world. The schedule calls for them making six cities before returning home.

$70,000 CROWD SEES FERRISS, RED SOX WIN, 8-1

Boston, Mass., July 10 (AP)—All that remained of baseball's canceled All-Star game—the feature act, a pitching-batting duel between Boston's Dave [Boo] Ferriss and Tommy Holmes—thrilled a 22,809 crowd in Fenway Park today as the Red Sox defeated the Braves, 8 to 1, in their war fund intra-city exhibition.

The All-Star game, canceled at the request of the ODT, had been scheduled for Fenway park.

Ferriss, the majors' top pitcher, yielded but two hits for no runs while pitching the first three innings against the Braves. He made Holmes, baseball's top hitter, fly out to center but Tommy, who has hit safely in his last 37 National league engagements, managed to collect his daily safety off Randy Heflin in the sixth inning.

Receipts were estimated at $70,000. They were swollen by sale of 44 box seats at $1,000 each.

TESTIFIES BEER SALESMAN IS COURT BROKER

Huge Deals Revealed in Judge Johnson's Case

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—A house judiciary subcommittee investigating former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson of Lewisburg, Pa., was told today a $50 a week Scranton beer salesman was "a broker in court cases handled by Judge Johnson."

Committee Counsel M. H. Goldschein said his statement was based on testimony before a Scranton federal grand jury by John Memolo, Scranton attorney recently convicted in income tax frauds.

"Memolo," said Goldschein, "has described Greenes [Jacob Greenes, described as the beer salesman] as having been a broker in court cases handled by Judge Johnson and who had the power to obtain appointments and influence the court in many matters."

[Judge Johnson was appointed to the bench in 1925 as a Republican during the administration of President Coolidge.]

Hearing on Receivership

An all-day hearing into Judge Johnson's handling of the receivership of the Williamsport Wire Rope company between 1932 and 1938 brought out these additional assertions by Goldschein, all based, he said, on grand jury testimony:

That Memolo collected "over $200,000" of $240,000 Goldschein said was paid out of court by the Bethlehem Steel corporation to receivership officials appointed by Johnson; that the judge's son, Donald M. Johnson, received $15,000 on one occasion from Memolo via Greenes; that Judge Johnson obtained the deed to a $6,000 summer cottage at Cherry Run, Pa., after having paid only $250. Goldschein said the judge testified before the grand jury that the deed was mailed to him and that "he never inquired into or established who might be responsible for this anonymous generosity."

Split Is Dicussed

"It is not possible," Goldschein continued, "to establish with certainty how much Memolo split with Donald Johnson out of the Williamsport fees.

"Greenes states [before the Scranton grand jury] that he delivered about $15,000 to Donald and that at one time Memolo told him he had paid the 'Johnsons' $23,000. These figures tie in well if the payment of $6,000 for Cherry Run was not handled by Greenes, as he contends."

Memolo, Goldschein reported, was named as associate counsel for receivers of the Williamsport company by Judge Johnson in May, 1935. Subsequently, Goldschein stated, Memolo engaged in numerous conferences with the judge, with the judge's son, Donald, and with officials and attorneys for the Bethlehem Steel company, which bought the Williamsport company in 1938 at a foreclosure sale ordered by Johnson over the objection of stock and bond holders.

Judge on Pension

Johnson, 72, on the federal bench 20 years, resigned last week. He draws a full salary pension of $10,000 a year.

Under investigation for more than a year by the judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Kefauver [D., Tenn.], Johnson also has been the subject of a separate department of justice investigation.

One witness called today was John M. Fisher of New York, formerly associated with the bondholders protective committee set up during the receivership period. Fisher is now treasurer of Standard Brands.

Fisher said that in 1937 he had expressed "alarm" at the cash being accumulated by the receivers, declaring it soon would be sufficient to pay off the company's debts.

SEARCH TAVERNS FOR WOMAN AND '26' GIRL'S BABY

Police search for Mrs. Mary McDonald, who Friday night accepted custody of William Arnold, 17 month old son of Mrs. Velma Arnold of 1246 N. Bell av., a "26" game girl, and then disappeared, last night was concentrated on N. Clark st. drinking places.

Police were detailed to the drinking places by Acting Capt. Patrick O'Shea of the North av. police after he received a report that a woman answering Mrs. McDonald's description paid a man a quarter to watch a baby late Friday night while she danced. Police said Mrs. McDonald's real name is Marian Wilson.

Mrs. Arnold's mother, Mrs. Frances Mefford of Springfield, said she surrendered the child to Mrs. McDonald when the woman gave her a note written by Mrs. Arnold, directing her to do so. Mrs. Mefford was unable to produce the note for police examination, but said she recalled its text.

She said she was with Mrs. Arnold when Mrs. Arnold met Mrs. McDonald on a street car Friday afternoon, Mrs. McDonald's offer to take care of William came after she and Mrs. Arnold discovered they knew mutual friends.

SINGER ACCUSED OF PETTING ACT TO AID LOOTINGS

Judge William V. Daly in Felony court yesterday continued to Aug. 1 the trial of a girl night club singer and four men accused of looting interstate trucking warehouses of $1,000 worth of butter, ham, and bacon to supply black market meat dealers. They were arrested by Sgt. Timothy O'Connell of the cartage detail, who told the court that he expected to make more arrests.

Miss Lucille Lazon, 21, of 927 Wilson av.; Hyman Platt, 25, of 920 Wilson av., and Walter Gardiner, 31, Negro, of 6117 South Park av., are charged with grand larceny, and George [Peanuts] Weinberg, 31, of 4110 Roosevelt rd., and Thomas McDowell, 42, Negro, of 1411 Newberry av., are charged with receiving stolen property.

Assistant State's Atty. Blair Varnes said Miss Lazon admitted that she and Platt pretended to pet in a car to avert suspicions while the machine was parked near warehouses.

WREATH PLACED ON F. D. R. GRAVE BY EISENHOWER

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower today placed a wreath on the grave of the late President Roosevelt.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, the supreme allied commander stood in silent prayer for several seconds before the unmarked grave in the garden of the Roosevelt estate.

Eisenhower's visit was unannounced and only a handful of the Roosevelt family and some friends witnessed the ceremony, in addition to army officials and press and newsreel representatives.

The sky was overcast as he strode to the grave and placed a large wreath of flowers. He stepped back a pace, removed his garrison cap, drew to attention, and saluted.

Housing Ban Fight Plan Agreed on by Negro Group

Members of the legal committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People closed a two day meeting yesterday in the offices of the American Council on Race Relations, 32 W. Randolph st., after agreeing on legal tactics they believe likely to succeed in court fights against restrictive housing covenants. William H. Hastie of Washington, D. C., chairman of the committee, said such covenants were contrary to the Constitution.

POTATO, SPINACH, ONION, CHERRY PRICES LOWERED

Larger supplies of red skinned white potatoes, yellow and red dry onions, sweet cherries, and spinach were reflected in a price drop in these items on the weekly fresh fruit and vegetable ceiling prices announced yesterday by James F. Riley, acting director of the Chicago area office of price administration.

The new prices, effective tomorrow, are red skinned white potatoes, down 5 cents to 31 cents for five pounds; yellow and red dry onions, 1½ to 3 inches, down to 4 cents to 29 cents for three pounds; sweet cherries, down 2 cents to 40 cents a pound, and spinach, down 2 cents to 11½ cents a pound.

Other decreases are yellow transparent apples, down 1 cent to 13 cents a pound; peaches, down ½ cent to 16 cents a pound; watermelons, down ½ cent to 5½ cents a pound; dry onions 3 inches and more, down 2 cents to 32 cents for three pounds; green peas, down ½ cent to 20 cents a pound, and pears, down 1½ cents to 16½ cents a pound.

Prices will be increased on hothouse tomatoes 6 cents to 47 cents a pound; repacked tomatoes, 3 cents to 31 cents a pound; iceberg lettuce, more than 14 ounces, 2 cents to 16 cents a head, and lemons, 1 cent to 15 cents a pound. Dutchess apples were added to the list for the first time this season at 14 cents a pound.

FOOD CHAIN WINS IN NLRB RULING ON UNION'S PLEA

The national war labor board has upheld the regional WLB directive of Nov. 27, 1944, which ruled for the National Tea company food store chain in a dispute with the Grocery and Food Products Warehouse Employees, local 738 [AFL]. Edgar L. Warren, chairman of the regional WLB, announced yesterday.

The union had appealed the regional board's denial of its requests for extension of a bonus system to additional job classifications, a 60 cent hourly minimum wage for female employees, an indivdual wage adjustment provision, and inclusion of holidays not worked in computing bonuses. The decision affects 600 employees.

The national WLB also upheld a ruling of the regional board involving the Northern Trust company and 440 employes. The regional ruling, made Feb. 2, modified a company petition for approval of wage rates for five labor grades. The company had appealed the ruling, seeking higher minimum rates for certain grades than those approved by the regional board.

CIO UNION WINS SANTA FE VOTE ON BARGAINING

The Association of Maintenance of Way and Miscellaneous Employes, Inc. [CIO] yesterday annouced that it had won a national mediation board bargaining election for maintenance of way employes employed by the Sante Fe railroad by a vote of 6,100 to 5,020.

The CIO group was opposed by the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Men [AFL]. Employes eligible to vote numbered 13,923, the CIO union said.

R. K. Corkhill of Topeka, Kas., president of the CIO group, said in a statement released here that the election "really puts the CIO into the railroad field." A similar election is reported pending in August among Pennsylvania railroad workers.

U. S. AIDS SEEK TO HIDE BRITISH LOAN SPECTER

Work for Passage of Bretton Plans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 10—British minded government officials have tried to halt discussion of large American loans to Britain so that the Bretton Woods international monetary agreements may have clear sailing in the senate, it was learned today.

Harry D. White

Harry D. White, assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, is leader of the movement to minimize the possibility of Great Britain's demanding American financial aid to stabilize her post-war economy, a senate source said.

Would Ease Passage

White's reasoning, it was said, was that if the specter of large American loans to Britain were removed during senate debate of the Bretton Woods plan, senators would be more willing to vote the United States into the international monetary fund and international bank at a cost to this country of nearly 6 billion dollars.

It was learned that White appeared before the senate banking committee when it was studying the Bretton Woods proposals and testified the British were not planning to ask this country for loans and debt cancellation and that British financial experts were not worried over their country's blocked sterling balances.

The result of White's testimony was shown in the majority report of the banking committee which recommended senate passage of the house-approved bill for American participation in the Bretton Woods institutions.

Settlement Not Urgent

"There is no urgent need for Britain to settle now the large sterling balances which have been built up as a result of British war expenditures. The British are confident they can deal with this problem over a period of time. They are entitled to every consideration in finding a workable solution. They do not look with favor on liquidating this obligation with the proceeds of a dollar loan."

Sen. Taft [R., O.], a member of the banking committee, said in an interview today White's reported position probably followed conferences with British officials. Taft voted against the Bretton Woods bill in the committee and will issue a minority report this week.

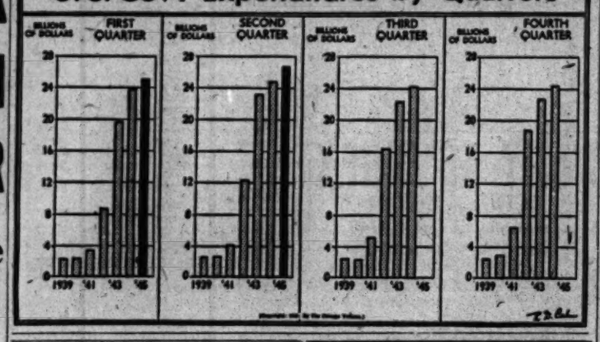
"This move to minimize British financial troubles may save us a lot of money," Taft said. "If the Bretton Woods proposals are adopted and congress then is asked to approve financial aid to England, it will be a tough job to convince congress that such help is needed, in the face of this report."

Post-War Loan Predicted

Despite the reported efforts of White to play down Britain's need of loans, the London Daily Mail predicted 10 days ago the United States would make England a 6 billion dollar loan after the war, cancel World War I. debts, and write off a substantial part of its lend-lease account with Britain.

Shown the Daily Mail account today, Chairman Wagner [D., N. Y.] of the senate banking committee said "There's not a word of truth in it." He added that the international monetary fund would enable Britain to stabilize her currency and that the international bank would be available for further help.

U. S. Gov't Expenditures by Quarters



Decide to Sell 90 Millions of Transit Bonds

The Chicago transit authority in an amicable meeting yesterday adopted an ordinance for the sale of 90 million dollars of revenue bonds to finance the purchase of surface and elevated lines. The action was a preliminary to a suit which will test the legality of the act creating the transit authority.

State's Atty. Tuohy within a few days is expected to start quo warranto proceedings, designed to demonstrate by what authority the seven man board is attempting to unify the transit systems under public ownership.

Schroeder to Be Attorney

Werner W. Schroeder, who is Republican national committeeman, will be the authority's attorney in the court proceedings. He and the bond counsel firm of Chapman and Cutler accepted retainers yesterday.

Atty. Henry E. Cutler, who was present, submitted a letter to the meeting asserting that there was no doubt that the authority could get court approval and a financial market for its bonds. He assumed that Judge Michael L. Igoe, who has control of bankruptcy proceedings of the street car and elevated lines in United States District court, would approve the public ownership plan put thru the legislature, the city council, and a local referendum with the backing of Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green.

The ordinance, the first adopted by the authority, and an accompanying trust agreement called for revenue bonds to bear 3½ per cent or less interest.

75 Millions for Surface Lines

Of the total, 75 millions would be used to purchase the assets of the street railway companies, $12,162,500 to purchase the elevated lines, and $2,837,500 for working funds.

A resolution unconditionally accepting the traction ordinance was adopted and immediately filed with the city clerk. The board members, four appointed by the mayor and three by the governor, agreed unanimously on all questions and accepted explanations volunteered by Chairman Philip Harrington and former Ald. James R. Quinn.

OMAHA UTILITY PROBE PLANNED BY BOREN GROUP

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—A house interstate commerce subcommittee decided today to investigate sale of Nebraska Power company to Omaha Electric Committee, Inc. Chairman Boren [D., Okla.] announced previously the group had said only that it would study operations of corporations under the holding company act of 1935, altho Boren had criticized the Nebraska transaction.

"It appears to me that there is an apparent over-anxiety out there [in Nebraska] and it leads me to believe that there must be some reason for it other than a justified fear that a congressional committee might leap to conclusions," Boren said. "Because of this we decided that we are going to find out all the facts."

Montgomery Ward June Sales Set High for Month

Sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. rose 6.2 per cent in June to $50,002,538, a new all-time high for the month, the company reported yesterday. June, 1944 sales were $47,105,124. Sales in the five months ended June 30 were $262,121,907, against $236,411,192 in 1944, an increase of 11.3 per cent.

RFC OFFERS SURPLUS AIR TRANSPORTS ON INSTALMENT BASIS

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Surplus transport planes can be bought from the government on the instalment plan, the Reconstruction Finance corporation announced today. The new method will apply to all transport planes having a gross weight of 5,000 pounds or more.

Purchasers will be required to make a cash payment of 15 per cent, plus the cost of insurance, about 7½ per cent. The balance must be paid in 36 monthly instalments, with interest at 4 per cent on the unpaid balance.

Stocks Climb on Investment Buying Again

New York, July 10 (AP)—Investment cash again buoyed the stock market today altho many recently rising leaders were stalled by light selling. Selected rails, steels, utilities, and pivotal industrials advanced from the start.

Dealings, fairly active in the morning, tapered later and gains running to a point or more were reduced in many cases before the close. Transfers of 940,000 shares compared with the 800,000 three months low yesterday.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 0.3 to 66.9, its third successive comeback. Of 885 issues traded, 513 advanced, 176 declined, and 196 were unchanged.

American Telephone closed 2 points lower after touching another eight year peak. At highs for the move were American Water Works and United Fruit. Sears-Roebuck rose ¼ prior to announcement after the close that shareholders would vote on a 4 for 1 stock split.

Godchaux Sugar "B" rose 3 points on the Curb.

BOND ADVANCE REDUCED

New York, July 10 (AP)—The bond market advanced early but surrendered a substantial portion of its gains. Rails were the first to respond to a relatively broad demand and showed the least staying power. Industrial specialties were well taken. Foreign issues, eased. Investment rated corporates and United States government loans were quiet but steady.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices advanced again on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in a turnover of 29,000 shares. Volume leaders included Armour & Co., up ⅛; Commonwealth Edison and Middle West Utilities, unchanged, and Domestic Industries and Chicago corporation, each up ⅛.

Milk and Gas Supply Cut as 51,000 Strike

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Strikes in the fuel, dairy, and arms industries yesterday shot the number of workers idle in labor disputes above 51,000.

The situation by cities or states:

Charleston, W. Va.—Approximately 1,000 CIO oil and gas workers walked out of United Fuel Gas company properties in a dispute over wage increase demands, tying up operations in West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York. The war labor board ordered immediate termination of the strike. The utility president said only domestic users were receiving gas.

Four Coal Mines Closed

Pennsylvania—All four Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation coal mines were closed and 3,316 United Mine Workers were idle in disputes involving the rehiring of a war veteran and shift rotation.

Bellaire, O.—Four hundred seventy-five United Mine Workers quit work at the Webb mine of Cambria Mining company because, the company said, of a $1 a day fine automatically levied against them for refusing to work for three days.

Detroit—Thirty per cent of Detroit consumers, except hospitals and schools, were without milk deliveries because of a strike of 1,000 CIO United Dairy Workers at Detroit Creamery and Ebling Creamery companies. The regional war labor board ordered an end to the strike. A back to work meeting was called by the union for today.

CIO Involved in Four

Recurrence of an earlier strike made 2,900 idle at Graham-Paige Motors corporation. Chrysler corporation's Dodge truck plant was closed and 2,800 employes idle as a result of a strike of 11 paint sprayers. At the Metals Products company 500 were laid off because of a strike in protest against disciplinary action against five employes. At Graham Tool company 250 remained on strike against war labor board delay in a wage case. All four walkouts involved CIO auto workers. Seven hundred AFL workmen continued on strike at 12 lumber yards.

Akron, O.—Officers of 16,500 striking CIO United Rubber Workers announced they would submit to their members by Friday the question of returning to work at Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

New Jersey—One New Brunswick, N. J., draft board began putting some Mack Manufacturing company employes in 1-A, but said it was "merely coincidental" that they were among the 2,500 on strike there since June 25.

CURTISS-WRIGHT 1944 SHIPMENTS SET RECORD HIGH

Shipments of aircraft, engines, and propellers by Curtiss-Wright corporation in 1944 reached the record high of $1,716,935,176 and were more than 10 per cent of the dollar output of the country's entire aircraft industry, Guy W. Vaughan, president, said yesterday. The figure was an increase of 32.5 per cent over 1943 shipments.

Consolidated net income in 1944 was $14,331,062 after taxes of 88 million dollars and reserves of $8,520,000 for post-war contingencies were deducted. Net profit was equal to $1.61 a share. Net income in 1943 after all charges was $12,883,347, or $1.42 per share.

BUYERS OF FISH QUIT MARKET IN BOYCOTT MOVE

Protest Practices Termed Unfair

More than 40 buyers walked out of one of the fish market's largest wholesale houses yesterday in a boycott. This was the first step in a concerted action by Chicago's independent fish retailers to reduce prices paid by consumers and end practices the retailers term unfair.

The boycott action was decided on Monday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Chicago Retail Fish Dealers association, said Max Block, president. Block charged wholesaler prices have been "too high," and that tie-in sales are a common practice.

Only One Wholesaler Affected

The boycott so far affects only one wholesaler, the Lakeside Fish and Oyster company, 657 W. Fulton st. The association has 126 members controling 133 stores, and other nonmember retailers will "go along with us," said Block.

"We will extend the boycott to every wholesaler in the market if necessary to bring down prices and stamp out the discrimination practiced against some of our members," he warned.

Lakeside Fish and Oyster supplies the retailers with about 10 per cent of the fish they handle, a Lakeside spokesman said.

"I do not know why the retailers decided to start their boycott with us," he said. "We have tried to go along with the retailers and treat them fairly."

Other Practices Charged

Max Granat, business agent for the retailers, said in addition to the practice of tie-in sales, several wholesalers often refuse to allow retailers to see the merchandise they are buying. If the retailer complains, he is blacklisted by that house and sold no more fish.

Granat said the boycott action was decided on instead of a general "protest strike" which would have closed 133 stores. Lakeside was chosen because the retailers have "particular grievances against that house," he said.

Congress Hotel Opening Delayed Until August

The Congress hotel will not reopen before Aug. 1, said Robert S. Levy, yesterday. He is principal stockholder of Congress Hotel and Annex, Inc., which bought the property last year from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for 1¼ million dollars. The hotel had been expected to reopen about mid July.

New Law Expected to Cause Auto Liability Insurance Rush

A rush by motorists to buy public liability insurance, covering either personal injury or property damages, is expected to follow the signing by Gov. Green of the financial responsibility bill adopted at the last session of the Illinois legislature. The new act, altho not a compulsory insurance measure, is only a step removed because it uses the driver's license as a club to force motorists to make themselves financially responsible for accidents.

Gov. Green is expected to sign the measure on his return to Springfield soon and it is scheduled to become effective Jan. 1.

Accident Report Required

The bill provides that the operator of an automobile who becomes involved in an accident in which the damage to property of any one person, including himself, is in excess of $50 must report the accident in writing to the department of public works and buildings, Springfield. The department within 30 days of the receipt of the report is to determine whether the motorist involved in the accident is able to meet the state's requirements on financial responsibility.

The bill provides that proper financial responsibility may be shown thru a public liability policy issued by an insurance company having the right to do business in Illinois or by satisfactory proof of an accident public liability bond, a state approved deposit or other satisfactory evidence.

Failure to report an accident involving more than $50 or failure to have satisfactory evidence of financial responsibility subjects the motorist to the loss of his driver's license during the period that he is not in compliance with the law.

Insurance Not Compulsory

The bill differs from a compulsory law in that it does not require motorists to have insurance. It is only when they become involved in accidents that they become subject to the penalty for not having satisfactory financial responsibility. Only one state, Massachusetts, has a compulsory insurance law and insurance men say that law has not worked out well.

With every one forced to have insurance under a compulsory law juries generally find all motorists brought into court on accident charges guilty and they tend to award excessive damages, it was said. The purpose of the new Illinois measure and similar laws is to make certain that victims of accidents will be repaid.

Submit Sears 4 for 1 Stock Split to Vote

A proposal for the second four-for-one Sears, Roebuck & Co. capital stock split in 19 years was made yesterday by directors, who called a stockholders' meeting Oct. 1 to vote on the split. Like action was taken in March, 1926.

Stockholders of record at the close of business the day the proposal is approved will be entitled to receive the additional shares. The 6 million authorized shares would be increased to 24 million and the 5,865,571 outstanding, excluding 48 shares held by trustee for sale under employes' stock purchase plans, to 23,462,284.

Usual Dividend Declared

Directors also declared the usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the capital stock, payable Sept. 10 to stockholders of record Aug. 10. Extras of $1.25 also have been paid in recent years.

The company retired its preferred stock in November, 1924. The $100 par value common stock was changed to no par capital stock in March, 1926, and the authorized amount increased to 4,200,000 shares from 1,050,000 to provide for the four for one stock split.

Authorized capital stock was further increased to 5 million shares in August, 1928, then to 5,200,000 in April, 1936, and to 6 million shares in November, 1936.

Employe Fund Holds Most

Sears stock is distributed among about 60,000 holders, the largest of which is its savings and profit sharing pension fund. The 54,100 employe members own 835,800 shares, about 14¼ per cent of the total outstanding, including shares held for sale under employes' purchase plans.

Sales this year have been running at record levels, with passing of the billion dollar mark indicated. The total in the fiscal year ended last Jan. 31 was $988,770,171, against $852,596,706 the preceding year. Net income was $34,176,111, or $5.83 a share, compared with $33,866,087, or $5.77 a share.

Sears stock, which last year sold at a high of 106⅝ and a low of 84 on the New York Stock exchange, yesterday closed at 121.

PAYMENTS OF INCOME TO INDIVIDUALS ARE 4 PCT. HIGHER IN MAY

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—Income payments to individuals in May were 12 billion 856 million dollars, or 4 per cent above a year earlier, the commerce department said today. May payments were at an anndal rate of 163 billion 100 millions after allowance for seasonal factors, compared with the 1944 record total of 156 billion 800 millions.

RYE REBOUNDS 2¼ TO 4⅝ CENTS; OTHER GRAIN UP

Corn Crop Estimate Is Market Factor

Prices of rye futures on the Chicago Board of Trade which had declined steadily in the last week as a result of charges in congress of manipulation of the market, rebounded yesterday to close 2¼ to 4⅝ cents a bushel higher with July in the lead at $1.48⅝. Other grains also finished generally higher.

Despite increased hedging pressure wheat futures closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher. Corn was unchanged to ⅝ higher, oats up ⅞, and barley ¼ to 1⅞ higher.

Prices Strong in Winnipeg

The Chicago advance in rye was attributed to strength in Winnipeg and to short covering. Winnipeg rye advanced about 3 cents on buying caused by a government estimate of the condition of the grain at 78 per cent of the long time average against 92 per cent last year. Limited to liquidation of contracts, trading in July rye in Chicago was light.

An agriculture department crop forecast issued after the close substantiated expectations of smaller corn crop estimate which was a factor in the market advance.

Traders believed that a small corn crop estimate would result in shrinking country offerings of corn and force feed manufacturers, feeders, and other large users to substitute wheat, oats, and barley.

Corn at Ceiling, Supply Low

Cash corn has been selling at ceiling prices for a month or more, and supplies available to industries have declined to a low level. Stocks in Chicago elevators totaled only 1,493,000 bushels, less than one week's

Chicago—world trade sky port of the future

The place of Chicago in world trade is clearly foreshadowed today... a place greater than the city ever before enjoyed in peace time. Giant planes inevitably will transport air freight to all parts of the world, since Chicago's location makes such a development as certain as the future of air transport itself.

This is one of many reasons why Chicago business is turning ever more attentively to trade "beyond the horizon." Because the business of our bank has always been to help business, we feel that our Foreign Department can be of material assistance to those already engaged in international trade, and to those who plan to enter this field.

In every matter that pertains to international trade, including information with regard to foreign markets, economic conditions and exchange regulations, our Foreign Department is ready to serve Chicago business.

AGGRESSIVE GIs HAVE GOOD FIELD IN GAS STATIONS

Cash Outlay Reasonable; Assistance Offered

(This is the fourth of a series describing veterans' opportunities for employment or for establishing their own business.)

A small business suitable for enterprising veterans and believed to have promising prospects from both the short and long range outlook is the gasoline filling station.

Spokesman for the major oil companies say such an enterprise appeals to veterans because many of them have had war time experience with mechanical or motorized equipment, and because the average initial capital outlay is not large.

Sales Market Fertile

Until new automobiles become available generally, petroleum industry sources forecast for the energetic station operator a fertile market for tires, batteries, and accessories, as well as for gasoline, motor oils, and lubricants. When the ordinary nonpriority buyer is able to purchase a new automobile, replacement parts sales are expected to drop, but this will be more than offset by the increased number of automobiles that will require servicing, trade experts say.

Because of the population growth of the suburbs, these areas are considered more promising for successful business operation than the city of Chicago. The northwest area is mentioned specifically as providing excellent prospects.

If a veteran leases a station from one of the major oil companies, the initial investment for inventory and working capital should be about $2,000, industry sources say. The minimum is $1,000 and the maximum is $3,500. No employer-employe relationship exists under such an arrangement, it was explained.

Dealer Help Available

A spokesman for the Standard Oil company of Indiana said that firm will have available desirable outlets with all modern facilities that may be leased to qualified veterans. The company also will provide help in getting started. This includes a loan plan to assist the dealer in stocking the station adequately; arrangements for the liquidation of the loan on a gallonage basis from current income, and a modern training program that will qualify the station operator to provide efficient and courteous service.

"We already have installed a large number of returned veterans as dealers in our outlets and we are constantly on the alert trying to find desirable veterans for other assignments as service station dealers," the company said.

Stations Decreased by War

The average number of licensed filling stations in operation in Chicago before the attack on Pearl Harbor was estimated at about 2,350, compared with about 1,950 at the present time. The number in Illinois decreased from 10,396 to 7,740.

One oil company representative said the need is not so much for additional stations on an over-all basis, as for the establishment of outlets on a selective basis in areas where there has been or will be a shift in population. This means some locations should be abandoned permanently and some established, one process virtually offsetting the other.

CATTLE PRICES TURN WEAK ON RISE IN SUPPLY

Cattle receipts in the Chicago stock yards yesterday totaled 7,500 head, above the average of recent Tuesdays. Steer prices were weak to 25 cents lower per 100 pounds. Weakness was most pronounced in yearling cattle. Lower priced stock showed the smallest price changes.

Broad demand ruled for the small supply of hogs at ceiling prices. Receipts of 14,000, including shipments direct to packers, were slightly more than a week earlier, but below the average of the last five Tuesdays.

The sheep and lamb supply of 5,000, directs included, was above the abnormally low volume of recent Tuesdays but prices were steady.

Raymond P. Dennett

Raymond P. Dennett has been appointed controler of the Kraft cheese company. He succeeds the late Homer E. Crosby. Dennett joined the company in 1925 as an assistant divisional auditor and gradually took over supervision of accounting for all the company's bulk cheese plants. In 1930 he became a member of the controler's staff, and four years later was promoted to assistant controler.

Management of Sharpe & Co., 134 N. La Salle st., a first mortgage loan firm founded in 1910 by B. M. Sharpe, has been taken over by Byron C. Sharpe, son of the founder. The elder Sharpe died in 1943. The son plans to continue the firm's present policies and expand its scope of business.

A group of about 30 Chicago civic leaders and officials of the Illinois state housing board will discuss slum clearance problems at a dinner Friday in the Chicago club, said Temple McFayden, chairman of the board.

Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., South Bend, has appointed as vice presidents Harry L. Spencer, manufacturing; A. R. Constantine, engineering; W. F. Oliver, engineering, and W. J. Reuscher, finances.

John N. Moylan, assistant treasurer of the American Steel and Wire company, United States Steel corporation subsidiary, has retired after 45 years of service. He will be succeeded by Walter V. Farr, credit manager.

United Air Lines has appointed Arthur W. Jerrems superintendent of merchandising. He will supervise development of sales aids, employe sales promotion presentations, and will assist in the preparation of sales promotion literature.

ORDER INQUIRY INTO CHARGES OF PRESS WIRELESS

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP)—The federal communications commission today directed that an investigation begin immediately into rates and charges of Press Wireless, Inc.

The company was ordered to show cause why the FCC should not find existing rates in connection with communication services "unjust and unreasonable" and why an immediate interim reduction should not be made pending conclusion of the investigation.

Rates for international telegraph messages from the United States, except press, were substantially reduced May 1 by various United States telegraph carriers other than Press Wireless, FCC said, adding: "Press Wireless has given no indication of any intention to make a general reduction in its rates for press service."

LARGE TOTAL OF NEW FINANCING AWARDED OR PLACED ON SALE

More than 52 million dollars of bonds, equipment trust certificates, and stocks were awarded, sold, or offered yesterday. Youngstown Sheet and Tube company completed arrangements to sell privately 30 million dollars of 2¾ per cent first mortgage bonds, due in 1970, to a small group of purchasers.

An issue of $10,290,000 of 1⅞ per cent equipment trust certificates of the Pennsylvania Railroad company was offered by Halsey, Stuart & Co. at prices to yield 0.90 to 2.10 per cent, depending upon maturity. The securities were awarded to the Chicago underwriter on a bid of 100.12766.

Goldman, Sachs & Co., Paul H. Davis & Co., and Stern Brothers & Co. offered 30,400 shares of 4¼ per cent $50 par cumulative preferred and 23,692 shares of $5 par common stock of Coleman Company, Inc., formerly Coleman Lamp and Stove company. Only 20,000 shares of the preferred are new financing. Proceeds will be used for post-war expansion.

Mountain States Power company awarded to a syndicate headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co. a new issue of 7½ million dollars of 3 per cent bonds on a bid of 101.26. Reoffering will be made later at 101.95.

A. G. Becker & Co. will offer today 15,000 shares of $100 par 4½ per cent cumulative preferred and 54,694 shares of $10 par common stock of the Gerber Products company. The preferred is priced at $103 a share, the common at $18.

A banking group headed by Wertheim & Co. will offer today 75,000 shares of $100 par 3¾ per cent cumulative preferred stock of Bristol-Myers company, drug products manufacturer. The shares are priced at $104.50 and accrued dividends from July 15.

Buying of December futures by commercial interests more than offset hedging sales in wheat. Wet weather again delayed harvesting of winter wheat in Oklahoma, and much of receipts at southwestern markets showed excessive moisture.

FEED CROPS DECREASE

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP)—Government hopes of a large expansion of live stock production in 1946 were dampened today by a department of agriculture report that total 1945 production of all feed grains—corn, oats, and grain sorghums—is indicated to be the smallest since 1941.

On the basis of conditions on July 1, the corn crop was forecast at 2,685,328,000 bushels or 543 million less than last year's record crop, but 252 million more than the 10 year [1934-'43] average of 2,433,060,000. Unfavorable weather that delayed planting cut production prospects.

The prospective short crop of feed grains may be offset in part by a near record harvest of hay. Likewise, farmers are able to conserve feed grain supplies because pasture and range conditions are good.

The wheat crop may break all records. It was estimated at 1,128,690,000 bushels, compared with 1,078,647,000 harvested last year and the 10-year average of 789,080,000.

In an analysis of over-all prospects on July 1, the department said crop production for the entire country will be below the record crops of 1942 and 1944, but well above average, and that live stock production also will be smaller.

MONROE CHEMICAL

Please give me a report on Monroe Chemical company.—T. W.

Package dyes comprise about 75 per cent of the company's sales in normal times, and other items include liquid bluing, hair color, hair tonic, and shampoo. The products are distributed thru department, drug, and general stores. The company, incorporated in Maryland in 1929 as successor to a business established in 1876, has plants in Quincy, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn.

Earnings declined after 1936, and it was not until 1943 that operating income, before income taxes and depreciation, regained the pre-1937 level. Because of increased taxes, net income has continued below that of 1936 and earlier years. Earnings a share on the common stock were as follows: 1944, 38 cents; 1943, 35 cents; 1942, 22 cents; 1941, 31 cents; 1940, 21 cents; 1939, 23 cents. In 1936 the profit was equal to 94 cents. Outstanding are 126,000 common shares.

In the last six years, earnings as applied to the $3.50 cumulative preference stock, of which 17,278 no par shares were outstanding in 1944, ranged from $4.98 to $6.32 a share. The stock is redeemable at $55 a share. The regular preference dividend at the $3.50 rate has been paid each year since 1929. Since 1937 only two payments have been made on the common—25 cents each in 1945 and 1943. Current assets at the close of 1944 totaled $726,390, and current liabilities $313,087, with no long term debt.
